MISS LORAIN COTTING showing bread peel to History Class at Jackson Homestead while soup cooks over fire.

Homestead History Class To Start January 8

The second series of eight classes for children from 9 to 12 years of age will be given by Miss Loraine Cotting at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, Newton, starting Tuesday, January 8. There is no charge of any kind and anyone may sign up for either the 2 o'clock or the 3 o'clock class by telephoning DEcatur 2-3920.

Enthusiasm has been so great during the three years that the classes have been given that the following account of what for the October issue of the "New England Social Studies Bulletin" is of interest.

Local Seal Sale Behind Last Year By $4,500

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association reports that its 1956 Christmas Seal Sale is far behind the 1955 campaign. The Association points specifically to the separate appeal to Newton residents by the Boston Tuberculosis Association (which this year severed its affiliations with the national, state, and all Massachusetts local tuberculosis associations and which has produced its own seal) as the cause for the drop in the local sale of the traditional Christmas Seals which bear the registered symbol of the National Tuberculosis Association and all of its recognized affiliates.

As of Friday, Dec. 23, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association reports that its Christmas Seal Sale total is $4,500 short of the final total for 1955 and the anticipated total for 1956. This is the first time in the Association's history that the campaign returns have been behind the returns of the preceding year.

Although it is not known exactly how many Newton residents received an appeal from the Boston organization, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has had letters and phone calls from numerous steady contributors explaining that they were confused by the duplicate appeal and unwittingly returned contributions to the Boston association. Other contributions were lost by the local association, because the Boston appeal was mailed out exactly one week prior to the announced, official opening date of the traditional Christmas Seal Sale, and public confusion was inevitable.

Many local residents have been under the assumption that the Boston organization was a central headquarters for all local associations. Others believed that it was still a part of the National Tuberculosis Association and the Massachusetts Tuberculosis and Health League, and that contributions mailed to Boston would also support the local association.

History Taught Where It Happened

The Jackson Homestead, an historical museum located in Newton, Massachusetts, has forged ahead during the past three years in the field of applied social studies. Early in the fall of 1953-54, the Trustees of the Homestead and the Director, Mrs. Hazel L. Sears, decided that weekly classes in American history should be taught in a place that is itself closely connected with the history of Newton and American in general. Mrs. Sherwood E. Carver, a former teacher and a librarian in Newton, was hired to take the germ idea and set it to work.

The first series of classes was held in the spring of 1954. One class was held from two to three and another from three to four on Tuesday afternoons. These classes ran for eight weeks. There were approximately 100 students.

Heart Fund Drive Tea To Be Held Next Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Samuel Nesson, 1063 Commonwealth avenue, and Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, 39 Mason road, both of Newton, will share hostess duties at a tea to be held Friday afternoon, Jan. 11, at the Nesson residence in behalf of the Heart Fund Drive.

Mrs. Nesson is general chairman of the Newton Heart Fund campaign while Mrs. McGinn is serving as chairman of the Newton Fund campaign while Mrs. McGinn is serving as chairman of the Newton Advance Gifts Committee for the cardiac crusade.

Guests at the tea will include members of the Advance Gifts Committee. They are: Mrs. B. Alden Thresher; Mrs. Egon Kattwinkel; Mrs. John H. Nicols, Jr.; Mrs. George Levy; Mrs. Julian Anthony; Mrs. Theodore Berenson; Mrs. Leo Wexler; Mrs. Charles M. Cutler; Mrs. John C. Campbell; Mrs. William G. Johnson; Mrs. Charles E. Ryan; Mrs. Paul Goddard; Mrs. Albert Amariel; Mrs. Josephine DiCarb, and Mrs. Robert L. Clinton.

The drive to be held in February will be climaxed by Heart Sunday, Feb. 24, when a door to door collection will be held. Primary objective of the month-long campaign is to make possible a three-pronged attack against diseases of the heart through research, education, and community programs.

Diseases of the heart are responsible for more deaths than all other causes combined.

Framingham, Natick and Randolph to Be Aided

Newton taxpayers are going to contribute $224,000 to make Framingham and Natick better places in which to live. They are also being asked to make a donation of $211,000 to do the same for the town of Randolph.

That's a total of $435,000 for Framingham, Natick and Randolph and not a penny of the sum will be earmarked for any Newton betterment.

It's all made possible by a system of financing termed by Boston Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland "an outrageous roasting." Hyland is a member of the special commission created by the Legislature to study the sewerage system of the Metropolitan District and related matters.

The other members of the commission agree unanimously with Hyland in a partial report to the Legislature, a copy of which was released yesterday. They call for a change in the method of financing the admission of new cities and towns to the Metropolitan sewer system.

"It is difficult to imagine a more unfair system of financing municipal improvements for cities and towns outside the present water and sewer system of the Metropolitan area," declared Hyland.

"Newton certainly is hit hard. But consider the outrageous roasting Boston is asked to take. In order that Framingham and Natick might join the Metropolitan system and replace their own inadequate facilities with the modern Metropolitan system — my city will be forced to pay $1,669,000."

Present members of the Metropolitan District sewer system which will have to pay proportionate shares of the costs with Newton and Boston are Braintree, Brookline, Canton, Dedham, Milton, Newton, Norwood, Quincy, Stoughton, Walpole, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley and Weymouth.

"Consider how this financing system works out," said Hyland yesterday. "When a major brewery was considering locating in the Greater Boston area, it decided against Natick as a locale. The town's sewerage system was not adequate."

"There is every reason to believe that the brewery would be located in Boston. However, under the present method of financing the entry of new cities and towns in the Metropolitan sewer system, Natick became a member."

"Boston lost the brewery. Natick not only got it but Boston taxpayers will be obliged to pay for Natick's sewer system along with that of Framingham's to the tune of $1,669,000."

"Now, if Randolph is admitted to the Metropolitan sewer system under the present method of assessing costs, Boston taxpayers will have to pay $1,158,000 more for that. The cost to Randolph taxpayers will be $335,000."

The special commission of which Hyland is a member, unanimously recommends that a new financial arrangement be devised to make more equitable the division of the financial burden when new towns join the system.

The city or town applying for membership, it is recommended, should make contributions which in the aggregate over a period of years will offset the expense to which the district is put to extend the mains of the district to the boundary of the city or town applying for entrance.

Senator Philip G. Bowker of Brookline is chairman of the special commission. Other members besides Hyland are State Senator John J. Beades, Representative John P. Buckley, Representative Everett L. Kerr, MDC Commissioner Charles W. Greenough, Mayor Lawrence W. Lloyd of Melrose and Elwyn E. Mariner.

The commission's estimates of the apportionment of costs for new members of the Metropolitan system is based on several factors. The costs are estimated as the aggregate for a 30-year period and include interest charges.

Son of Mr. & Mrs. Leo Waters 1st Newton Baby Born in '57

The first baby born of Newton parents at the Newton Wellesley Hospital in the New Year was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo P. Waters of 1093 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, who arrived at 1:04 a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 2. The attending physician was Dr. C. Thompson.

By his arrival as the first Newton baby born at the local hospital, little Mr. Waters has evened the count with the young ladies who proceeded him in other years and the count for the six years of the annual contest now stands, three girls, three boys.

Little Mr. Waters, no first name having been chosen up to the time we go to press, has won for himself and his parents, the many beautiful prizes donated by local merchants and which appeared in last week's issue of this paper.

Because of the shortness of time between young Mr. Waters' birth and the time for going to press, it was impossible to print his picture in this week's issue but we hope to have it in next week's edition.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Leo Waters on the birth of their son and also little Mr. Waters for being "Little Mr. Newton 1957."

Business Names Show 48 Percent Increase Here

Paul W. Russo, District Manager of Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., at Boston, announces that his office is mailing 83,388 requests for financial statements to business concerns in his area. This represents an increase of approximately 2,600 compared to last year.

This mailing will include 1378 such requests of Newton business firms which are listed in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book. This indicates a growth of 447 business names, a gain of about 48 percent since 1948 when there were 931 names listed.

As a whole, Middlesex County in 1956 had 18,615 business concerns listed in the Reference Book as compared to only 14,843 in 1946.

Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., lists those businesses which are primarily involved in the flow of commodity goods as well as some types of service organizations. Its reports are used as a basis for credit transactions and include information as to legal entity, antecedents of principals, description of function.

Herter Takes the "Long Walk" As His Successor Moves In

Public rituals which are unique to Massachusetts were performed on Beacon Hill today in adherence to ancient traditions, as the Governorship changed hands.

At high noon, as the echoes of booming cannon rolled over the slopes of Boston Common, the massive doors of the State House swung open, and a tall, solemn-appearing man emerged from the Bulfinch front of the famous structure.

With slow, dignified strides, he began the walk down the long stretch of stone steps to Beacon street—alone. Traffic was at a halt. The cheers of the crowd at the foot of the steps climbed to a crescendo as he reached the sidewalk. There were bursts of applause and cries of "Good luck, Chris! Good luck!"

Thus, in a custom almost as old as the 161-year-old Bulfinch Front itself did outgoing Governor Christian A. Herter leave office.

It has been a tradition which—for some men has been a poignant, even cruel experience—for others only the crossing of a threshold to honors as great or even greater than the Governorship itself.

Seal Sale-

Because of this same misunderstanding, many other local residents split their usual contributions between the two associations.

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association hopes that there is still time to overcome the damage that has been done to the local drive. Several thousand people have yet to answer their Christmas Seal letter. Even though the time to use the seals has passed, the work they support continues all year-round, and it is never too late to send contributions to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association. Volunteers are working to send out reminders to those persons not yet heard from, and it is hoped that the Association may still realize its goal of $20,000. Under the setup of the Voluntary tuberculosis associations affiliated with the National Tuberculosis Association, local affiliates such as the Newton association are completely autonomous. The local organization conducts its own sale and retains for its own use directly in the community that money which it receives from its own campaign. As an affiliate of the national and state organizations, the local has a year's contract which provides for its support of state-wide and national programs which the local could not possibly maintain independently or individually. Thus, the Newton association contributes a total of 15 percent of its seal sale returns to the support of the state and national programs. These include such things as medical research, medical education, in-service training for nurses and teachers, and so forth. Through this participation in national and state prevention and control activities, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is assuring its own community of very important broad benefits as well as providing it with a direct, year-round program right in the city.

In its letter to Newton residents, the Boston Tuberculosis Association pointed out several reasons for its decision to sever its affiliation with the national and state organizations. The story behind the separation of the Boston association is intricate. It involved differences of opinion over program standards and activities as well as financial differences. It is hoped that Newton residents and business men will continue to support the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association which maintains the only voluntary tuberculosis control programs in this City, and which derives its entire support from its own annual appeal within Newton.

History Class-

mately twenty children in each group. The series considered to be extremely successful by the Newton Superintendent of Schools and the Trustees of the Homestead. More children were eager to attend the classes than could possibly be handled and those children that were a part of the groups wanted to return at the close. The same success has been experienced in every series held since.

The general pattern of the series runs as follows: The first week is spent reviewing the Pilgrims' arrival in America, their findings here, the arrival of the first Jacksons in Boston and their move to Newton to become the first settlers there. This lesson is conducted in the laundry room of the present Jackson Homestead. There the children see many articles taken from the first Jackson homestead built in 1670.

The second meeting takes place in the kitchen where a fire blazes in the huge fireplace and soup bubbles in the large pots hung over the burning logs. Here the children learn about the food, the cooking utensils, and the kitchens of the old colonial homes. While they eat their soup, Mrs. Carver tells them a true story about two large kettles and how they were used in former days as protection against the Indians.

The third lesson deals with the wearing apparel of the colonists. Several costumes are displayed and then modeled by the youngsters. They see the spinning wheels that the women used to spin their flax and wool, and they see a cobbler's bench and cobbler's tools.

The fourth lesson is a very enjoyable one for the children. This time they meet in the lovely parlor of the Jackson Homestead. Here they learn about the schools of the colonists. They see the games with which the children played, and they participate in an old-fashioned spelling bee.

The fifth lesson teaches them about the colonial wars—the French and Indian and the Revolutionary War. The boys are especially interested in seeing the old guns used during the wars. During this lesson they hear exciting tales of Timothy Jackson who was a prisoner of war during the Revolution.

The next lesson is perhaps the children's favorite. This week they learn about William Jackson, who was a candle-maker. What better way to learn about a candle-maker is there than to make candles?—this they do.

The seventh week is spent learning about the Civil War. The children learn about William Jackson's exploits as an abolitionist and they act out an impromptu drama depicting his part in the underground railway. During this lesson they discover the actual well that was used for the purpose of hiding the slaves.

The last week's lesson is a review. When each one leaves, he takes with him a postcard of the Jackson Homestead, and, within his mind and heart, he also takes a picture of former days that he could never have received in a classroom.

Another announcement of great importance is the change in visiting days. The Homestead is now open from Monday through Friday and will be closed on Saturdays. Children's day has been changed from Tuesday to Thursday so as not to interfere with the classes. From now on, children are welcome to come on Thursdays without any adults.

Open House on Sunday, January 13, from 3 to 5 o'clock, will feature our new Exhibit of Antique Fire-fighting Equipment and Models which Lieut. Lawrence N. Clark, President of the National Fire Museum, Inc., has arranged. This collection will be on view through March and promises to be a most popular one.

Finally Believed His Eyes and Ears!

He has heard and read a great many wonderful things about this new 1957 Cadillac since it made its first appearance a few brief weeks ago——about its magnificent new luxury, for instance . . . its brilliant new power and responsiveness . . . its marvelous new handling ease . . . and its extraordinary new smoothness of ride.

And so, quite frankly, he began to wonder if it weren't all too good to be true. Could any motor car be as wonderful as this latest "car of cars" was reputed to be?

Well, he has decided to put his eyes and his ears to the test today. And the verdict is unmistakable!

It's a joy just to lean back into those deep, soft cushions and look out over that graceful hood into the beckoning highway.

And what a revelation the car is to drive! A curve in the road ahead? He simply follows it with the arc of his hands and the car responds with perfect obedience.

A hill in the offing? He just nudges the accelerator and the car sweeps up and over as effortlessly as if it were traveling the level road.

A stop light coming up? He presses his toe—ever so gently—on the broad braking pedal and comes to the smoothest, surest stop imaginable.

Yes, it's true what they say about Cadillac. This is far and away the finest motor car ever to travel the world's highways.

How about you? Have you heard the wonderful things they're saying about this newest "car of cars"?

Well, the proof is in the driving—and the facts about Cadillac have never been more convincing.

- - Political Overtones - -

For many it has been the "last long mile" which led to nowhere but political oblivion. For some—a comparative few—it marked the passing of a political milestone to a future which remained bright.

Every Governor who has made that lone walk has left an indelible memory no years could efface. No other State has a tradition which quite compares with it. Certainly, Charles Bulfinch didn't have it in mind when he designed the stone stairs to go with the majestic entrance he planned for the State House in the 1790s.

In the past quarter of a century only three men—Herter, Leverett Saltonstall and Joseph B. Ely—have come down the State House stairs unbeaten and unbowed. In that same span of time five men have made the long walk bearing deep political wounds.

Three of them—Paul A. Dever, Maurice J. Tobin and Robert F. Bradford—were defeated for reelection. They took every step with the knowledge that behind them in the State House, preparing to take the oath of office, were the men responsible for ousting them. All of them smiled. Yet, even as the pungent odor of the multi-gun salute to their successors hung over the Common, they knew they were leaving reluctantly and with regret.

A fourth, Charles F. Hurley, was denied renomination by his own party. He was rejected in the 1938 primary when he stood for a second term. The fifth, James M. Curley, had sought to jump from the Governor's chair to a seat in the U. S. Senate and was defeated.

For all but Curley the walk was one of solemnity. The tradition-shattering Curley had taken the former Gertrude Dennis as his bride only a short time before. As he descended those steps, he lifted a tall silk hat. The smile he wore seemed more that of a victor than the vanquished.

At the foot of the stairs, in defiance of all custom, a big band blared his favorite song—"The Isle of Capri."

But Curley was not the only one who broke with tradition in his walk down the State House as an outgoing Governor.

Calvin Coolidge had snapped a sharp "No" to the query as to whether he wished a limousine to await him when he reached Beacon street.

At the end of the flight of stairs each day of his Governorship he had taken a brisk walk along Beacon street. He was accompanied on those walks by John F. Stokes, then a State police detective.

It was Stokes, instead of a limousine, who waited for outgoing Governor Coolidge—just as he had been doing through Coolidge's term.

"Every day we'd walk down Beacon street unless something came up to disrupt his schedule," Stokes often related later. "We'd walk for blocks. He'd never say a word. Neither 'hello' nor 'goodbye.' On his last day he came down those stairs as he always did—pre-occupied with some problem or other.

"We turned down Beacon street, as we always have done. We had gone a couple of blocks when he spoke to me for the first time. As he cleared his throat, I expected he'd say something solemn—something of tremendous moment.

"He said—and that twang was never more nasal—'John, I hear you've had your house painted.'

"I said, 'yes, I did, Governor.'

"'Good thing to keep property up,' he observed.

"That was all. That was our conversation on the day Calvin Coolidge came down down the State House stairs as an outgoing Governor. That was two years' worth of conversation," Stokes recalled.

Christian A. Herter, who took the walk today, probably will be ranked by history as one of those who stepped to greater things when he crossed the Beacon street sidewalk.

His next destination will be Washington where, on Feb. 1 he'll take over one of the world's most important portfolios—that of Under Secretary of State.

If Thomas Dewey had been elected President in 1948, John Foster Dulles would have been named Secretary of State, and Herter, who supported Dewey, would have become Under Secretary.

For Herter the post comes eight years later than he may have anticipated. For the outgoing Governor, however, it will mean he'll be returning to the field for which he is superbly fitted.

Whatever the future may hold for Herter, whatever honors he may achieve in the field of high diplomacy, there is no question but that he has been one of the best Governors Massachusetts ever had.

Under his leadership during the past four years, the State has made a tremendous economic recovery. The trend which saw business and industry leaving Massachusetts was halted and reversed during Herter's service in the Governorship.

Many new plants and factories located in the Bay State in the last four years which might have gone elsewhere but for Herter. In his administration the Commonwealth reached an all-time peak in peacetime prosperity.

Herter left the State House today with the respect, the admiration and the well wishes of the people he has served for the past four years. They may not have agreed with every decision he made or with everything he did, but no one, whatever their party affiliations, will dispute the fact, that Christian Herter served Massachusetts with great honor and that he consistently did what he considered to be right.

He should be a tremendous asset to President Eisenhower.

8:30 Mary Hartigan Restaurant

Now Under Dual Ownership

Another milestone in the history of Dedham's famed Mary Hartigan Restaurant was reached this week with the announcement that the establishment has passed into the dual ownership of Mary Hartigan and Lionel W. Allaire, former manager.

Mr. Allaire will be the restaurant's vice-president and general manager while Miss Hartigan will be the president and treasurer of the firm. The two combine decades of experience in restaurant operation and intend to continue the policies which have brought so many successful years of customer service in this area.

Mary Hartigan launched the business in Dedham in 1933 when she built the then modest "Dutchland" arm.

Mr. Allaire joined the business in 1934 as assistant manager. Together they soon developed the pattern which was to send the store along the road to success.

The now-familiar name "Mary Hartigan's" soon replaced the original title and a dining room was added to accommodate the requests of patrons. In six months, another dining room was built as business continued to grow. The kitchen was enlarged to twice the original size, and still additional dining space forced more renovations in 1952. A service bar was opened in 1953.

A new bar and homey cocktail lounge were provided this year to enhance the charm and serviceability of Mary Hartigan's noted restaurant. The new dining spot, the "Turquoise Room," is the rendezvous for discriminating diners from Dedham and other surrounding communities.

'Husband's Night'

To Be Held Next Monday

The Newton Evening Chapter of Women's American ORT will hold their annual "Husband's Night" Thursday, Jan. 10, at 8:15. The main feature of the evening will be a fascinating exhibit and talk by Mr. James O'Brien, a United States Customs Inspector at the Port of Boston. Mr. O'Brien will relate some of the "stranger than fiction" actual cases, involving narcotics, gold, and diamonds, that a customs inspector must solve. He will also disclose what is presently being done to strengthen our customs force and how the department works.

Mrs. Philip Stone and Mrs. Justin Frankel, hospitality co-chairman, will be in charge of dessert and coffee. All members and their husbands and friends are invited to attend.

...The Village That Lost Christmas...

It was Christmas Eve, and all over the Garden City, the beautiful lights of the holiday gleamed down through the frosty windows. The streets were gaily decorated with holly, and wreaths and ribbons, and Santa's face beamed joyously down on the faces of the passers-by below. It was truly Christmas, and from village to village of the Newtons, the spirit of Christmas lived once again.

Ah, but not in all of the villages, was this so. There was one, sad, desolate part of the beautiful city, that had no room for Christmas. It had been lost.

Through the misty, rainy Christmas Eve, came a small group of Carolers. For years, the group from this village had been desperately trying to keep Christmas alive in this village. For years now, they had gone from house to house, up through the Hunnewell Circle, down Charlesbank Road, up James Street, singing the carols the angels sang, bringing to the people the tidings of great joy.

And at every door they were welcomed, as understanding hearts tried their small bit to keep Christmas from being lost.

Then, these carolers, faces lighted with the inner glow of giving of themselves, wound their cold, weary way up to the heart of the village. And their hope died. There was no room for them here. For there was no Christmas in Newton Corner anymore.

Darkness enveloped the village, except for a few commercial lights seen trying desperately to shout out that Christmas was here! It was here in the hearts of the residents! They wanted Christmas in Newton Corner — like it used to be, years ago!

But the Carolers sadly shook their heads, and turned, and left.

Was it so very many years ago that Newton Corner storekeepers would pitch in and buy the tree for the center of the village? When motorists, and residents alike would gaze upon their part of Newton, and feel with pride, that they, too, were helping in their way, to bring Christmas to the hearts of all men.

No, it hasn't been so very many years ago. But what has happened in the short span of time? Has Christmas been lost? Is it to be found only in the churches, and in the homes? Is it something that we have decided to forget, to hide? Are we ashamed of Christmas, and what it means, to all men?

Alas, I am afraid, dear citizen, that the truth must be faced: Newton Corner does not believe in Christmas anymore!!

Do I hear a cry of protest? Of dismay? Well, then, let me ask you two questions: First, if you had been Rip Van Winkle, and woke up on the twenty-fifth of December, in the Year of Our Lord Nineteen hundred and Fifty-six, in the village of Newton Corner, would YOU have known that it was Christmas Day?

Secondly, did YOU drive up through the Newtons, through colorful Newton Center, and Newtonville, and the other Newtons, and then drive back to Newton Corner, and see for yourself?

Or, has it become so much a part of you, not having Christmas, that you didn't even notice? If that is the case, dear Citizen, then as a Christmas-lover, I feel very sorry for you, because, you, too, have lost Christmas.

Well, perhaps next year, or the next years, Newton Corner will have its chance to really TOLL the bells and show its love of Christmas, because when that TOLL ROAD goes through, we will never have another chance to prove that Newton Corner does believe in Christmas.

Don't bother to weep, to wail, or even to pray, dear citizens, to save Newton Corner from the Toll Road — what have YOU done, at Christmas time, to show YOU cared??

How sad, — the village that lost Christmas!

 159 Charlesbank Road
 Newton Corner, 58, Mass.

Among the guests present were Mayor Howard Whitmore, Mr. Jerry Angino, president of the Board, Robert Cahill, executive director of the Newton Community Chest, Mr. Ralph Sanguinetti, Dr. Philip Enholm, Dr. J. L. Onley.

At the conclusion of the program the youngsters passed by the beautifully decorated Christmas tree and received gifts from Santa Claus.

In giving this Christmas party the Newton Boys' Club extends its appreciation to all who have contributed in making this event possible.

One of the features of this Christmas which has aroused a great deal of interest among the members of the Boys' Club is the new set of electric trains donated by Board member Ralph Sanguinetti. The trains are in constant use by the boys. A train club has been organized and is led by Louis Russo and Mario DiBona.

Letters

FOR REFLECTION
 159 Charlesbank Rd.
 Newton Corner, Mass.
 December 25, 1956
 Editor, Newton Graphic:

I have been born, and raised in Newton Corner. For twenty odd years I have lived here, gone to school here, and worked here. For this reason, I feel qualified to write as I have about this lack of Christmas showing in this section of Newton.

Not only Christmas has been lost, but so, too has Memorial Day, Veterans' Day, and any of the Holidays that once were celebrated so stanchly here in Newton Corner. Being yet young, it was not too many years ago, that I recall the flags outside each store, and the flag which flew from the Bank, whenever a patriotic day rolled around. It saddens me to see this change, and so, I can not feel sorry for the prospects of a Toll Road ripping through Newton Corner.

Perhaps, however, this article may cause some to reflect, and perhaps, at least Newton Corner's last years as it is, may show a different spirit.

Mary Patricia Cunningham
 "See article 'The Village That Lost Christmas' appearing elsewhere on this page."

Experienced amateur players of orchestral instruments are needed to complete the roster of the Newton Symphony Orchestra whose next rehearsal will be at the Claffin School Tuesday, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m. This group of dedicated amateurs has been playing symphonic literature, ranging from Bach to Bartok, under the sponsorship of the Newton Public Schools, Adult Education Program. Organized last year with Mr. Donald March as Conductor, the Orchestra now rehearses under the baton of Mr. George Doren, director of the Newton High School Band and trumpet-player in the Boston Civic Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Doren, a graduate of the Yale School of Music, not only serves as a skilled conductor, but brings along his wife, mother of three small Dorens, to enrich the violin section.

A cross-section of Newton citizenry is represented by the "regulars" at orchestra rehearsals. Senior member is cellist George Owen, age 86, retired Professor of Naval Architecture at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Also in the 'cello section are Mr. David Sandman, an electrical engineer and head of the Sandman Electric Company, and Dr. Bertha Offenbach-Felner, a Newton ophthalmologist whose three musical children play organ, 'cello and French horn respectively. First violinist Benjamin Sandler is a lawyer engaged in government work. Mrs. Marguerite Rafuse, wife of a scientist at M.I.T.'s Lincoln Laboratory, is another musical mother, with a young son and daughter. The orchestra's trombone-player, Mr. Blakeslee D. Wright, is a radio-tube engineer for the Raytheon Manufacturing Company. He is combining his musical and engineering interests by building his own "hi-fi" set.

Two veterans of musical life in greater Boston are Mr. W. W. Parsley, expert flute-player as well as a local real-estate dealer, and Mr. William Clarke Custer, who plays viola in the Newton ensemble, but is always willing to alternate on the bass-viol. Mr. Custer is a structural engineer with a consulting practice. Miss Andrea Jacobson, another flutist is a teacher at the Perkins Institute for the Blind, while Mrs. Elliot Gilfix, professionally a piano-teacher, relaxes by playing the 'cello in the Newton Orchestra. Mrs. Albert Greenwald, attractive young mother of two, is the orchestra pianist. Two members of the group attempt practicing at home in spite of four children each. They are Mr. John Morgenstau, flutist and radio-chemist with the New England Nuclear Company, and Mrs. Lawrence Morse, clarinetist and wife of a Newton pediatrician.

Most members of the orchestra admit frankly that they are more interested in playing for their own enjoyment than in giving concerts. Yet this attitude of "art for art's sake" did not keep the group from providing the orchestral accompaniment last Spring for the Brahms Requiem when it was performed in Newton and Wellesley by combined choruses from the two communities. The string section also performed an evening of Baroque music at a PTA-sponsored concert at the Spalding School.

Future meetings of the Newton Symphony Orchestra will continue on alternate Tuesday evenings throughout the school year. Other interested musicians may register at the next rehearsal at the Claffin School or call Mr. Doren, the Conductor, for further information through the Newton School Department, Division of Instruction, LA 7-9800.

Junior Chamber In War On All Traffic Accidents

The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce has declared all-out war on traffic accidents, but the declaration will be a futile gesture unless every citizen "Backs the Attack."

The kick-off for a nationwide safety campaign was started on a local level here in Newton by a Proclamation by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

In his Proclamation he calls upon citizens to support city efforts to take part in organized safety efforts and to curb the speeding traffic toll.

Four points stressed as the main influences of the high traffic toll are (1) speed too fast for conditions, (2) drinking and driving, (3) extended darkness, and (4) pedestrian errors.

The Chief of the Newton Police department, Chief Purcell, announced that the police department was stepping up its enforcement activities in an all-out offensive. Charles Eeley, Safety Officer, added his co-operation.

Jim Piersall speaking as a parent rather than a sportsman urged safety on our side streets as well as our highways. Big Brother Bob Emery, stressed protection of our children during school holidays and particularly after snowstorms when our sidewalks are impassable.

The Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of Mack E. Herron, project chairman will drive a car equipped with loud-speaker, safety signs, and police escort through the Newtons urging that motorists and pedestrians alike awaken to the need of extra caution during the winter months. The National Safety Council suggests "twice the caution and half the speed."

A recording with statements from Mayor Whitmore, Chief

Purcell, Red Socks own Jim Piersall and Big Brother, Bob Emery, will be played from the campaign car. Assisting Mr. Herron are Albert Horton, Robert Vaughan, Tom Fazio, and Pat Melillo. Furthermore, this recording will be played on several of the leading radio stations.

Unless the public be well-informed and support the Junior Chamber of Commerce (and the Nation as well) all this is in vain.

Back the Attack. Be a safe driver, and if you walk observe all rules. Remember, being the life of the party may be the death of you. If you drink, don't drive. If you drive, drink coffee.

Mother's Rest Club

The Mother's Rest Club of Newton will hold its next meeting Wednesday, Jan. 9 at the home of Mrs. H. W. Davis, 25 Morse road, Newtonville. Those serving the luncheon will be Mrs. Norman Tracy, Mrs. Daniel Weedon, Mrs. Stanley Lovell, Mrs. Sidney Von Loesbecke and Mrs. James Munro.

Says Homemaking Better Than A Career Life

A West Newton mother of four young children, Mrs. Julia B. Ashenurst, declares today that the mother who stays at home achieves far more fulfillment than the career wife.

"I think there is too much talk about the fulfillment of women," she says. "Too often a woman feels that she's got to get this fulfillment from the outside, and that it's not something she can make within herself and within her home. ## Measures Must Be Tested Now

J. Ellis Bowen, Sealer of Weights and Measures of the City of Newton has announced a statutory notice to the public to have all commercially used weighing and measuring devices tested at his office at City Hall.

Mr. Bowen's notice is addressed to all persons having or using weighing or measuring devices commercially in Newton and is as follows: "All individuals, partnerships, associations or trusts and corporations, using weighing or measuring devices for the purposes of buying or selling goods, wares or merchandise, for public weighing or for hire or reward, doing business or having places of business located in this City of Newton are hereby notified to bring them in to the Department of Weights and Measures to be tested, adjusted, sealed or condemned by the Sealer."

The testing, adjusting, sealing and condemning of weighing and measuring devices will be performed on the following specified dates and time: Jan. 7 through Jan. 25 inclusive, except Saturdays and Sundays, 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.

Mr. Bowen today said, "While the laws of the Commonwealth are mandatory in their requirement that all commercially used weighing and measuring devices be tested and sealed, and provide that commercial use of an unsealed device is a criminal offense for which stiff penalties exist, it is but common sense for any user of a weighing or measuring device to seek assurance as to its accuracy. Such a device, if inaccurate, is about as practical as an adding machine that always gives the wrong answer."

Every such device in commercial use is a money machine, and if inaccurate, is either wrongly taking money away from the customer or giving away profits of the business-man. A scale that is inaccurate by one ounce is costing someone a pound every 16 weighings, or 6.25 pounds for every 100 weighings (1/16 x 100). If the commodity is worth $1, a pound at 100 weighings a day for 300 days of a year the cost of this one ounce error is $1,875.00 ($6.25 x 300).

Tremendous Year Ahead With Caution

Predicting that 1957 will be another "tremendous" year with full employment and high personal incomes, but with certain "caution" signs on the horizon, David W. Sampson, vice president of the McGill Commodity Service spoke at the luncheon meeting of Newton Rotary Club held Monday at Brae Burn Country Club at 12:15 p.m.

Reflecting the great business of 1956, the Federal Reserve index of that year was the highest on record, possibly an average of 143 for the year, Mr. Sampson stated.

"Behind this 1956 high level of business was full employment, shortage of skilled labor, high average earning power, and high total income," Mr. Sampson said. "For 1957 we do see the following unfavorable signs: (1) shortage of money; (2) growth of inventories; (3) touchy credit; (4) stiff competition; and (5) increase in business failures."

Of local concern is the decline in home building "starts" and its consequent lessening of

Furcolo's Inaugural Address Set Stage for New Tax Bills

No Massachusetts Governor in modern times had as short a gubernatorial "honeymoon" period as did Foster Furcolo. Ordinarily, an incoming Governor enjoys a period at the start of his administration when he can do no wrong.

Whatever a new Governor says and does during his first few weeks in office usually is greeted with applause and acclaim. Even his critics generally hold their fire, allowing him time in which to get settled and adjusted.

His accomplishments are emphasized, his mistakes minimized. His first days—often his first weeks—are a time of unalloyed happiness. Members of his own party are bright and cheerful, naturally. Members of the opposition sometimes approach a degree of cordiality, or at least their coolness doesn't touch frigidly.

Indeed, the first days of office for most Governors appear filled with sweetness and light.

Rudolph F. King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, is greatly concerned over the large number of reports which are coming to him concerning motor vehicles parked on our ways since the first of the year which still bear only Massachusetts registration plates which expired December 31, 1956.

This is in direct conflict with the laws of this Commonwealth. The Registrar has requested state and community police to take action in all of these instances.

Orange and Black Hockey Team Tries Hard But Loses Thriller, 3-2

Fresh from an upset victory over Melrose, the Newton hockey team found the shoe on the other foot, as they dropped a 3-2 thriller to Stoneham.

Newton did just about everything possible and still lost a ball game, as they blasted away for 19 shots on the Stoneham goal and controlled play a good deal of the time. Ted Peabody was the visitor's hero slamming home two quick goals to give Stoneham the lead, and after Newton fought back to tie the score in the final period, flipped a beautiful pass to Bobby Noyes for the winning marker at 8:24 of the final set.

O'Loughlin and Leonard were the lamp lighters for Newton in the losing effort, and much credit is due to the Newton defensemen. Only four saves were required of Newton netminder, Snooks Kelley, but Stoneham made their shots count.

The loss dumped Newton into a fourth place tie with Cambridge Latin in the GBI League. This was a tough one for Newton to lose after they had played so brilliantly in upsetting Melrose a week ago, on Ronny O'Loughlin's late period goal.

Coach Hall seems to have settled on two lines to carry the offense, and they look this way: Crosby, Cioppa, and O'Loughlin on one line — and Leonard, Thompson, and Boardman on the other. Earl Cornish and veteran Pete Fitzgerald are on the Tiger's defensive core and have been outstanding all season.

VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Out on the set for the "77th Bengal Lancers" TV show, an argument arose over the weight of the equipment Phil Carey was wearing. He stripped, and the total weight was 47 pounds. Then Patricia Morrison retired to her dressing room and came up with the announcement that her costume weighed 11 ounces.

Our service technicians have to carry a certain amount of testing gear, spare tubes and parts when they're on the job. But this equipment is not measured in pounds and ounces. It's measured in quality—and results.

Maintaining quality in TV service equipment means keeping up-to-date with the latest and finest developments in this field. Better testing equipment means quicker, more efficient service — saves you time and money. And a number of pennies out of each dollar you pay for having your set serviced is re-invested in more new equipment.

Results? It takes more than just the right equipment to get the right results. It takes "gray matter," too. . . . trained to know where to place an antenna for best reception, how to adjust it and secure it . . . trained to recognize the trouble that's indicated by the set's symptoms.

Out technicians have the best equipment plus the training and experience needed to use it properly. It's a combination that brings results when you call on us for your service needs.

Something New In The Drama World

Sponsored by the newly organized United Church Youth of the twenty-four member churches of the Newton Council of Churches, the nationally acclaimed Drama Trio will include Newton in its nationwide tour with a performance of "Adam and Eve Meet the Atom" at the First Church in Newton (Congregational in Newton Centre) Tuesday, Jan. 29, at 8:00 p.m. during Youth Week it was jointly announced today by James Mitchell of Union Church in Waban and president of the youth group and Rev. Thomas A. Reed, minister of the Church of the Open Word in Newtonville and Director of the United Church Youth group.

Hailed as something new in the drama world, the Drama Trio, composed of Gerrie Lawson, Chellis Hurdle and John Stannard, perform without scenery or properties, relying on the high artistry of pantomime and the power of the spoken word well spoken.

The Drama Trio, drama students of the University of Redlands, is under the direction of Bertha French Johnson, wife of Professor Albert Johnson, the author. As a teaching and directing team, the Johnsons have trained such noted stage and television stars as James Daly and Karl Weber, and such outstanding directors as Robert Hartung and Dean Whitmore of NBC television. They have produced more than three hundred classic and contemporary plays, are well known pioneers in the field of religious drama and head a distinctive program of drama at the University of Redlands in California.

Described by critics as "a challenge to conscience," "a great play," and "an experience never to be forgotten," "Adam and Eve Meet the Atom" is a modern treatment of the Genesis account of man's quest for knowledge and the sobering responsibility of the individual in the atomic age. The Drama Trio has won distinction for its many television and radio appearances and performances in leading cities from coast to coast being acclaimed in such cities as San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver, Boston, New York; and Washington, D. C., and Atlantic City where it won standing ovations.

James Mitchell, president of the sponsoring United Church Youth group has announced that tickets for "Adam and Eve Meet the Atom" may be purchased from any member of the youth group.

- Political Overtones -

Even the controversial James M. Curley back in the mid-1930's enjoyed a so-called "honeymoon period" until he began removing about every top State department head whose term hadn't expired or who refused to resign.

Governor Furcolo's gubernatorial "honeymoon" period lasted about an hour. He didn't have any more time than was necessary to find out how the drawers of his desk work or to study the State seal of his office rug before the storm broke.

The tradition which says a new Governor should be allowed a reasonable period in which to settle into his job was tossed out the window, as Furcolo's critics opened fire on him. But Furcolo himself set the pattern. He was the first to break from precedent and tradition.

A Governor, who expects to proceed unmolested as he assumes the unfamiliar duties of running a great State, doesn't open fire with both barrels upon his predecessor.

An incoming Governor might direct a side shot or two in his inaugural address at the man he is succeeding, if the latter is a member of the opposition party, but not in our time has any Governor devoted his entire speech to a bill of complaints on the "mess" he inherited.

For Republican spokesmen and other observers to have remained silent in the face of the address Furcolo delivered would have been tantamount to admitting that Christian A. Herter did not do a good job as Governor.

This writer, for one, considers that Herter was an excellent Governor, one of the best the State ever has had, and that he did an outstanding job.

If Furcolo inherited a "financial mess"—and possibly it's correct to say that he did—then every Governor before him for the last two decades has inherited one.

One statement made by Furcolo in his inaugural is open to direct challenge. That was his claim that Herter left him a deficit. Democratic members of the House ways and means committee, who certainly are not prejudiced in Herter's favor, declare that Herter did not leave any deficit for the present fiscal year.

They assert that adequate provisions have been made to finance the operation of the State government during the present fiscal year which runs through next June 30 and that there should be a surplus of a few million dollars left over.

As far as the State debt is concerned, it appears that a large portion of the debt is highway bonds which are financed by the gasoline tax.

Whether Furcolo employed sound and shrewd political strategy in making the kind of inaugural speech he did, is a matter of judgment and opinion. If his purpose was to condition the people for the shock of new taxes that are to come, he at least partially succeeded in that objective.

Because of additional expenses Furcolo faces in the next fiscal year, he will have to obtain increased revenue from some source. That means he must either raise some of the present taxes or enact new taxes. If he carries out some of the plans he outlined in his campaign, he will have to find still further money.

Establishing new taxes or increasing old ones is not exactly a popular procedure, no matter how desperately they may be needed. No one is any more keenly aware of that than Furcolo. That presumably is one of the explanations for the manner in which he started his administration.

Furcolo in a sense has put himself on the spot. Having placed such emphasis on what he terms the "financial mess" confronting him, he must in the reasonably near future tell the public what he proposes to do to clean it up.

The impression this writer received from studying Furcolo's inaugural was that it was a prelude to a recommendation for a general sales tax. Yet, Furcolo himself has indicated publicly that he would not favor a sales tax except as a last resort. Maybe, he was saying in substance that he considers the situation to be so serious that nothing but a sales tax will solve it.

Governor Herter got through the past four years without any increase in State taxes. Herter, however, did recognize the tax problem confronting the State, and a fiscal survey commission which he appointed recommended a sales tax. Its recommendation was rejected by the Legislature.

Although many legislators still would be reluctant to vote for a sales tax, there is little question but that Furcolo could get one if he wants it.

Whether he desires a sales tax, of course, remains to be seen.

Furcolo undoubtedly could have secured greater Republican cooperation in the early stages of his administration if he had adopted a different tone and temper in his inaugural address.

His speech brought angry replies from GOP leaders in the Legislature and from Republican State Committee Chairman Charles Gibbons, and party lines were tightly drawn before his administration was even hours long.

Because of the nature of Furcolo's speech the Battle of Beacon Hill was joined much earlier than would ordinarily be the case. It probably set the tempo for an unusually large number of partisan political clashes to come.

cellent example of the kind of parental participation which can lead to greater understanding and firmer support by parents of the best educational program for their children".

Originally under the chairmanship of the late Hartlie Kelley, the committee has been ably headed for the past two years by Mrs. William A. W. Kreiss, Jr., who emphasized in her report that the purpose of the study has been to inform, not to evaluate.

Mrs. Heinz Lettau described research of the committee into the nature of guidance during 1953-54, and Mrs. Meyer Ritvo described the committee's work during 1954-55 when the study centered around the Guidance Department. About 1000 children are referred to this center each year by their teachers. A staff of 5 psychologists, a visiting psychiatrist and 2 speech therapists provide help for them. In addition a reading consultant, an education consultant and an attendance officer are on duty. Children are referred to the guidance department by their teachers but permission also must be obtained from the parents.

A report of the study conducted during the past year in 25 elementary schools was given by Mrs. Louis Chase who told of organizing various subcommittees which visited the schools and interviewed each principal as well as many teachers. The interviewers made many unannounced visits to various classrooms and observed methods used by the teachers in dealing with problems. In the report, names of schools, principals, and teachers are omitted.

Reports on the interviews were given by Mrs. Irving Helman, Mrs. Rupert MacBride, and Mrs. Aaron Cole. A look ahead was given by Mrs. Herbert Abelman who outlined the program for 1956-57 when Newton's junior high schools will be studied according to the pattern followed in the elementary schools with visits to classrooms and interviews. The senior and technical-vocational program will be studied in 1957-58.

Edward Uehlein, Council president, conducted a question and answer period after the reports were given, with Dr. Landy answering questions. Mr. Uehlein expressed the hope that every Newton P.T.A. would make use of information made available by the study. The pamphlet will be distributed to the executive boards of the various P.T.A. groups.

Others who have worked on the Guidance Committee during the past three years are Dr. and Mrs. David Hume, Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Hurxthal, Mrs. Hartlie Kelley, Mrs. Newell Kurson, Mrs. Carl Peterson, E. Leslie Robert, John M. Sheehan, Mrs. Manuel Beckwith, Mrs. B. Blumenberg, Melvin Dangel, Paul Deats, John Ford, Robert Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. George Rubin, Mrs. Charles Williamson, Mrs. John J. "A further merit of the bill," stated Rep. Rawson, "is that it would strengthen the two party system of government under which America has grown great. It would build up both parties from the 'grass roots'."

The very light vote cast last April made a farce of the Presidential Primary and there was an urgent demand that something be done about it. Rep. Rawson said at the time that he would offer a remedy to the next General Court, hence the filing of this bill.

Has Whittier Quit Politics? Only The Future Will Tell

By GORDON JAMES
(Special to the Newton Graphic)

The man who aimed for the Governorship for 20 years and then lost it, told this writer yesterday that he has no regrets.

Sumner G. Whittier, interviewed yesterday at his Everett home, said if he had the past 20 years to live over again he would still make the same decisions and do the same things.

The one exception, he added, is that, looking back in retrospect, he would have conducted a somewhat different gubernatorial campaign than he waged last fall.

Whether he is out of politics permanently is a question that only future developments will answer, Whittier indicated.

He has blocked all attempts to push him even part way back into the political arena. He vetoed a move to tender him a testimonial banquet. He has stilled the voices of friends who wanted to start booming him now for some office in 1958.

Yet, there is a feeling in political circles that Whittier, who has been in the public service most of his adult life, has not actually quit it for good.

His No. 1 responsibility at the moment, Whittier emphasized, is to his family, to earn a living and support them. Still unemployed, he said he is now considering several different possible positions and that he would prefer to go into private industry rather than a public post.

He doesn't want to move his family or disrupt the lives of his three children if he can possibly avoid doing so.

Whittier declined to make any comment on Governor Foster Furcolo's inaugural address. Whatever may be his thoughts concerning the start of the administration in which he had hoped to be Governor, he is keeping them strictly to himself.

The former Lieutenant Governor remained away from the State House entirely last Thursday, the day Furcolo assumed office, after first calling former Governor Christian A. Herter and ascertaining that his vote would not be needed at the final meeting of the Executive Council.

Two months after the election that saw his hopes and dreams shattered, Whittier is not at all bitter about the defeat which may or may not have ended his public career. "I realize that if you run long enough, you eventually get defeated," Whittier observed philosophically. "I am still grateful to the people of Massachusetts for the opportunities they gave me for public service."

SUMNER WHITTIER

Reminiscing momentarily about last fall's election battle, he said he worked as hard as he could and that he felt that Furcolo "by and large ran a fair campaign."

"What I have to do now is to earn a living for my family," he added.

One thing that has made an imprint upon Whittier is that most of the people who were his friends before his defeat on Nov. 6 are still his friends. They haven't walked away from him because he missed in his bid for the Governorship. They still drop in to see him or call him up.

Many top Republicans already have opened up on Furcolo and are now awaiting the Governor's next move to fire their second volley. But Sumner G. Whittier isn't one of them. He has withdrawn from the political firing line. "Right now I'm out of politics," was the way he put it.

Tested-

The Sealer then pointed out that the Weights and Measures Department of Newton is not only concerned with the accuracy of the butcher's and grocer's scales, but also the scales of the apothecary, the coal dealer, junkman, iceman, express company, candy store and hardware store, as well as all gasoline vending pumps, grease meters, oil measuring cans, linear measures, etc. within the city and observed, "During the year 1956 over 3700 individual items used for weighing and measuring were tested and sealed as correct, 259 of them after required adjustments for inaccuracies. 77 were condemned for commercial usage."

odist Church; Walter B. Martin, M. D., Chicago, Ill., past president of the American Medical Association; and Frank Leahy, Michigan City, Ind., Merritt-Chapman & Scott.

Mr. Harmon's nomination for the honor which has just been announced, was made the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Harmon is a teacher of Math and Science at the Weeks Junior High School and attended Boston University and the University of O.S., M.E.D., and is now working on his Ph.D. He belongs to Centenary Methodist Church; Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Auxiliary Police of Newton, and the Newton Taxpayers' Association.

His activities include service in the U. S. Army Air Force in World War II; Army teacher in Europe, 1952-53; author of over 40 professional articles in local and national educational publications; instrumental in establishment of Boston section of Business-Industry, NSTA; member of the advisory council of National Science Teachers Association, 1951-53; educational consultant to Education Research, Inc., of Washington, D. C., and is listed in Who's Who in American Education, 1954 and 1956.

Content to remain "with his calling," as an instructor, Harmon has repeatedly turned down lucrative administrative positions, editorships and industrial positions in order to remain in his junior high classroom in Newton.

In 1950 he was speaker at National Education Association Convention in St. Louis.

Author and educational advisor of "Trucking Workit," educational aid now in second printing and used in classrooms throughout the country. This educational aid was mentioned in "Public Relations News," volume XII, No. 38, September 3, 1956, as "case study No. 584."

"Let's Quit Nipping the Bud," the article on why the 18 year old should vote, which received comment from President Eisenhower, first appeared in the "Massachusetts Teacher."

Was asked by Logan Anderson, editor of Phi Delta Kappan, to substitute for Nobel Prize Winner, Dr. Arthur H. Compton, in the preparation of an article for the Kappan which was to be an international symposium. (Dr. Compton was leaving the country.) Specialists contributed, such as Walt Disney who wrote on the international aspects of humor. Mr. Harmon's article was entitled "Universal Symbols of Science."

From 1951 to 1953 was a member of the Advisory Council of the National Science Teachers Association. The council was made up of ten educators and ten industrialists from throughout the country.

He has made an effort to bring information about American Education to Europeans through articles placed in European publications, such as "Samarbejde Mellom Skole Og Industri I USA," which appeared in Aftenposten, Norway's largest newspaper. (Payment for this and subsequent articles in Norwegian publications has been turned over to the scholarship fund of the University of Oslo.)

He has served as educational consultant to Education Research, Inc. of Washington, D. C., the Boston office of U. S. Steel, as well as Life Magazine, through Educational Publishing Corp. of Darien, Conn. Has worked with Ginn and Company of Boston in final editing of two science texts.

In teaching a unit on Atomic Energy to his science classes, Mr. Harmon felt that there was a lack of material available relative to the mining of Uranium. In the summer of 1955 he spent a month in Colorado where he filmed a 30 minute, 16 mm color moving picture of this phase of Atomic Energy. This has greatly improved his teaching of the subject. The film is occasionally shown to service clubs.

He was invited to be listed in "Who's Who in American Education" in 1952, and appears in the 1954 and 1956 volumes.

Before the floods and storms of February, 1953 abated, Mr. Harmon's class collected over 800 pounds of warm clothing to send to relief areas in Holland. Queen Juliana expressed "sincere appreciation" for this help, and Dutch newspapers carried the story resulting in a great deal of good will.

Mr. Harmon initiates international correspondence between youngsters of all his classes and youngsters overseas.

Upon returning to the States, Mr. Harmon felt that there were publications giving a distorted view of conditions in Europe by implying that soldiers were disgracing our country, that Europeans disliked Americans, that our money was being wasted through ineffective administration by the Army, Marshall Aid, etc.

Mr. Harmon felt, as a result of 30,000 miles of traveling and visiting 15 European countries, that just the opposite was true. Numerous publications refused his approaches, but on November 1, 1953, Mr. Bill Cunningham, a leading columnist in New England, devoted his entire first page Sunday article to Mr. Harmon's report of the good job being done by our money and forces in Europe.

Mr. Cunningham said of Harmon: "... a dedicated young teacher of the sort every community wants and needs — a good observer, an experienced traveler, and a sound, objective evaluator." Since this article, Mr. Harmon has made numerous presentations throughout New England to Rotary Clubs, Church groups, and fraternal organizations. The subject may be a trip into Yugoslavia, or Berlin, but the basis of all presentations is the good job we are doing in Europe. On occasions, standing ovations have met his honest, sincere presentation of the facts, many of which were obtained through personal conferences with General Charles L. Bolte, who was commanding in Europe in 1953.

A visit to Bregenz, Austria, was long remembered because of the pleasant chat with local police about points of interest within the city. With the help of the Union Carbide Company, Mr. Harmon and his wife outfitted the entire Bregenz police force, upon their return to the States, with American flashlights — a precious instrument by their standards. Sponsors for "A School for Peckelsheim" were Hon. Christian A. Herter, Erwin D. Canham, General Charles L. Bolte, Edward L. Bigelow, and Daniel L. Marsh. Sufficient money has been collected so that the schoolhouse has been started.

At 21 Mr. Harmon bought land in Auburndale, where he has built, largely by himself, a 12 room home where he lives with his wife, the former Ruth Aanes of La Crosse, Wis. and his two children, Roger, 3½, and Mary, 2. His father is Dr.

Debate On Capital Punishment Will Be Held Sunday Morning

An overflow attendance is predicted this Sunday, when members of St. Bernard's Holy Name Society, West Newton, will listen to a debate on the subject, "Resolved That Capital Punishment Should Be Abolished in Massachusetts." Topping the list of outstanding speakers who have addressed the Society during the past year will be Attorneys Thomas E. Dwyer of Westwood and Harry L. Lynch of West Newton.

Mr. Dwyer, one of the top criminal lawyers in Massachusetts and defender of many persons charged with murder, will repeat his conviction that capital punishment is a relic of the dark ages which has no place in a modern enlightened society. He will argue that murder is no less prevalent in Massachusetts than in many states which have abolished the death penalty. He will state that no murderer has gone to the electric chair in the Bay State since responsible officials in high places.

State in the past ten years and that this shows his views are Mr. Lynch, a leading civil lawyer, will argue with as much conviction that the death penalty is morally justifiable, that it is the only just punishment in capital cases and that the overwhelming defeat of regular proposals to repeal the controversial death statute shows that the chosen representatives of the people, unlike the professional "do gooders," are morally convinced that capital punishment is a necessary preventative. A question period will follow the main talks.

Members of St. Bernard's Holy Name Society, led by President Thomas F. Kelly, Vice President Dr. Joseph T. deBettencourt, Secretary Paul J. De Meo, Treasurer J. Joseph Smith and Chief Marshal Charles B. Burgess, will march in procession to the 8:00 A.M. mass which will be celebrated by the Rev. R. L. Osterman, Spiritual Director. All Catholic men are invited to attend.

Coach Boyle's Tracksters Are Off Toward Championship

Coach Lemoine Boyle's tracksters are off and running toward another state championship, as they have romped to victories in their first two meets. After defeating Medford in opening week, the powerful Orange and Black trounced Brookline to a 48½-28½ victory last Saturday. Newton placed in the following events:

Division I
Newton-Brookline
300 — Won by John Head (Newton) T 35.9; 2nd, John Connerney (Newton)
600 — Won by Peter Nelson (Newton) T 1:28.2; 2nd, Scott Brent (Newton)
High Jump — Won by Marty Beckwith (Newton) H 5.9 inches; 3rd, Peter Nelson (Newton)
1000 — Won by Brian Harvey (Newton) T 2:36.7; 3rd, Eddie Bogard (Newton)
Hurdles — Won by Gardner Rollins (Newton) T 6.6; 3rd, Marty Beckwith (Newton)
Shot — 2nd Jimmy King (Newton); 3rd, Jon Haven (Newton)

50 — 2nd Donny Christenson (Newton)
Miles — 2nd Fran Woodbridge (Newton)
Relay — Won by Newton (McCreary, Nelson, Connerney, Head) T 2:05.4

This fine performance by the Newton trackmen was overshadowed in part by the tremendous showing of Watertown's squad, led by their champion shot man, Nick DeNitto.

On successive Saturdays, the schedule lines up this way: January 19—A.A. In Jan. 12—Somerville Jan. 19—A.A. Interscholastic Meet Rindge and Malden should be the major obstacles in Newton's bid for the New York Nationals. It will naturally be a tough battle, but this squad has the talent and the depth to go all the way.

Unitarian Church Sunday School Wins Recognition

The Sunday School of the Unitarian Church of West Newton has been cited for its excellence by the Massachusetts Council of Churches, which has requested that church leaders and teachers be given the opportunity to visit the church school and observe its program.

The unique two-hour schedule of the W. N. Unitarian Sunday School from 10 to 12 on Sunday mornings, includes classroom lessons, crafts and projects, primary and junior choirs, and educational films. ## Illegal To Push Snow Onto Street

Chief Philip Purcell of the Newton Police Department announced today that the Revised Ordinances "FORBID" the placing of snow from private property on any public street or sidewalk.

Many residents shovel their walks and driveways, and pile snow on the sidewalk; others push snow into the street with plows, which is in violation. However, residents may shovel snow from the public sidewalk abutting their property into the gutter.

For the safety of children and other pedestrians, the city is making every effort to plow sidewalks on most city streets. Automobiles protruding from driveways over the sidewalks, which is illegal, greatly impede the plowing operations.

Be a good neighbor—don't dump snow on the street or on the sidewalk—don't park your car across sidewalks.

Our Lady's H.N.S. To Meet Jan. 13

Sunday, Jan. 13, the regular monthly meeting of Our Lady's Holy Name Society will be held in the High School Hall following attendance at the eight o'clock Mass.

The Year 1957 has been set aside by the Holy Name Society throughout the many parishes in the Archdiocese of Boston as a time to enroll as many new members as possible. A special invitation is extended to the men, and especially the young men of Our Lady's Parish to enroll. If for any reason they have not already been contacted they are invited to attend the meeting this month and advise any officer of the society, who will be most happy to explain the aims and purposes of the organization.

The guest speaker following the brief business portion of the meeting will be Rev. Henry V. Sattler, C.S.S.R. of the Basilica of Our Lady of Perpetual Help (Mission Church), Roxbury. Fr. Sattler was born in Baltimore, is a graduate of Catholic University at Washington from which he has received his Ph.D.

He is the author of several outstanding books on family life, dealing with marriage and the upbringing of children. He is very active in Canada and pre-Cana Conference Work for young people contemplating marriage. Among the plans for the future are included the formation of Discussion Groups dealing with various subjects of National and International interest whereby members will be able to gain a clearer understanding of the many problems facing the world today.

Miss Balch was a co-founder of the League and had a most fruitful life career. She was first Head of the Dennison Settlement House in Boston, and a consistent, lifelong worker for peace and good will. In a tribute to Miss Balch the presentation was, "It is fitting that we should give the Library, on this her 90th birthday, a book that bears the seal of the Jane Addams Award, a book that expresses for them both their lifelong desire to bring understanding and knowledge and love to the relations between men, so that peace and freedom may be realized everywhere."

Members of the Newton Chapter who were present at the ceremony were:

Besides making available free demonstration programs to church groups, civic organizations, high school home economics classes, women's clubs and in customers' homes, Miss Mack's panel of experts are constantly experimenting with new recipes and food stuffs. As part of their program, they are in constant touch with the nation's top food authorities on the latest happenings in the food world.

ly to remind folks who fully intend to continue their support of the Association, but who have perhaps forgotten to or postponed making their donation. Of course, since everything is voluntary, the Association does not expect non-contributors to return the seals, but some sort of a reply is extremely helpful, especially if a reply has been made previously and has failed to reach the Association.

This one annual sale of the traditional Christmas Seals in Newton makes free chest X-rays, health education, and rehabilitation services available all year-round for Newton residents. The amount of services maintained by the Association depends directly on the income it derives from the one annual appeal, its sole source of support.

Each year since it was founded, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has offered increased services for Newton residents. "To continue to expand its programs and prevention and control activities," points out Mrs. Kimball, "the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association needs a minimum of about $20,000 this year. We are still about $3500 short of that minimum. For this reason, we urge everyone to send a contribution today to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, 1357 Washington street, West Newton."

Public Works Commissioner George G. Hyland of Boston, who complained that Boston, Newton and other cities and towns already in the system, would be asked to assume an unfair financial burden by the Randolph extension, Professor Philbrook said, "It is kind of rough on us."

Declaring that the proportionate shares of cost assessed to Newton, Boston, and the other communities would be spread over 20 to 30 years, he added, "It puts Randolph in a rough spot and it isn't fair."

"This is a matter of honest dealing and integrity as between communities, just as important as between individuals," he said. "It was a business agreement. Let's stick to it."

When the Metropolitan system was extended to Framingham and Natick the cost assessed to Newton was $224,000. Since that commitment has al-

Tigers Drop Overtime Game To Waltham by 55-52 Margin

Playing as the host team at the beautiful Brandeis gym, the Newton Tigers dropped a 55-52 overtime verdict to the first place Waltham team. With but 30 seconds to play, Steve Ballas hit with a driving one-hander to provide the margin of victory.

At the end of the first period Newton held a slim two point lead, but Waltham warmed up and outscored Newton, 14-6, in the second quarter. Newton fell behind by as much as eight points until a frantic final minute, which saw Bobby Calvert dump in a bucket and two foul shots, Vern Rollins tap in a rebound, and Al Martin convert a free throw.

When the second half began, Al Martin sunk two free throws and put Newton into a lead which they held to the final stages of the fourth quarter. Once more the charity line played a big part in the game's outcome, but this time it worked against the Newton hoopers. Ricci and Dennis hit for two foul shots each, but an Al Martin bucket kept Newton within reach of the powerful crimson. Dave Louis finally hit on a push shot to tie it up at 52 all in the final two minutes, giving Waltham a chance to pull it out, but a foul shot was missed at the final buzzer and threw the game into a three minute overtime.

Waltham controlled the ball, and play, but failed to hit on four shots, until Ballas hit with his running right-hander a la Bob Cousy. Seconds later Waltham stole the ball away and sunk a foul shot at the buzzer. Waltham's Captain Johnny Ricci was high scorer with 23 points and did a good job off the boards. The victory kept Waltham one-half game ahead of second place Brookline, who also posted a victory.

The big game this week as far as the Orange and Black are concerned is their battle with Brookline this Friday afternoon, on the Red and Blue homecourt. Brookline will be hard to beat.

- Political Overtones -

Next week, however, when he reveals in his budget message what his various programs would cost and what steps would have to be taken to finance them, Furcolo is apt to touch off the ammunition dump of a roaring Beacon Hill controversy.

Everyone realized Furcolo's recommendations of Monday would run into a lot of money, if carried through to completion. But most people are cheerfully hopeful someone else will be called upon to foot the bills and that any taxes will hit the proverbial "other fellow."

Furcolo's speech this week, containing what amounted to his blueprint of the things he hopes to achieve as Governor, was the one he had been expected to deliver as his inaugural address on the day he assumed office.

It might have been more effective if it had been delivered on his first day as Governor. Coming as it did, after Furcolo had painted the blackest and grimmest possible portrayal of the State's financial plight, it was practically a political paradox.

Furcolo himself, by the very nature of his address on Jan. 4, had created the question of how the State can afford to do the things that he declared this week he wants to do.

Yet, only those Republicans, who obviously felt they had to say something, undertook to attack the second important document he has issued during his short time as Governor.

GOP State Senate President Newland H. Holmes, who is going to some lengths to establish his Republicanism in the face of the criticism directed at him for achieving election as the Senate head with Democratic help, characterized some of Furcolo's proposals as "pie-in-the-sky recommendations."

Republican House Leader Frank S. Giles interpreted the Furcolo address as having the outward appearance of an attempt to create hundreds of new jobs on every level of the State government. He charged that in advocating that a super-commission be set up to establish the priority of the State's various needs, the new Governor had shown he is inadequate to cope with the task confronting him.

Executive Director Norman MacDonald of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Association accused Furcolo of touching only lightly on a number of important matters and said that the State's taxpayers "must now await the Governor's budget message with apprehension and anxiety."

But most Republicans held their fires, awaiting a more inviting target, obviously realizing that any attack they launched now might boomerang back upon them.

President Kurt M. Hanson of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts set the tone of the reaction of business and industrial leaders to the Furcolo speech. Hanson, who believes in voicing opposition only when he considers opposition is warranted, publicly commended Furcolo for his recognition of the competitive problem confronting business and industrial establishments in the Bay State and for his assertion that while social progress is desirable, business cannot be legislated out of existence.

If the Governor got away to a shaky start because of the nature of his inaugural address a fortnight ago, as many political observers believe he did, it appears that his second big speech may have regained him some of the ground he lost.

Now, however, Governor Furcolo must face the most difficult and troublesome problem of all—that of how and where to get the taxes he needs. When he comes up with the solution to that problem, the really heavy cannonading is almost certain to start all along the partisan political front.

Governor Furcolo picked up two recommendations which Governor Herter had made before him. It is rather doubtful that either will be carried out.

The first provides that 18-year-old boys and girls be given the right to vote. The second would confer upon the Mayor of Boston the right to appoint the city's police commissioner and the members of the Licensing Board.

Strangely enough, there is no evidence either that a majority of the 18-year-olds want the right to vote or that Boston's Mayor Hynes desires the right to appoint the police commissioner and the Licensing Board members. With the appointive power and jurisdiction over the police department and the Licensing Board goes a large measure of responsibility and an abundance of headaches, and Hynes isn't looking for any more headaches than he already has.

Former Governor Herter was ready and willing to transfer the authority to Hynes in both instances, but the Hub Mayor politely declined.

An oddity about the issue of giving the 18-year-olds the right to vote is that whenever high school seniors have assembled at the State House for Student Government Day, they invariably have recorded themselves against that proposal.

Furcolo to Remove Holdovers

Governor Furcolo's action in seeking the resignation of Richard Preston, head of the State Department of Commerce, may be the tipoff that Furcolo is about ready to move against other department heads who are holdovers from the Herter administration but whose terms have substantial periods still to run.

Furcolo said at a press conference last week that he had been giving some thought to the status of State Public Works Commissioner Carl A. Sheridan after learning that Sheridan's term runs until 1960.

Persons close to Sheridan have indicated that Furcolo would face a battle in the Governor's Council if he undertook to oust the public works head. Furcolo and Sheridan had two conferences before Furcolo's inauguration and are scheduled to meet again in the near future.

Governor Furcolo might be hard pressed to find grounds for the removal of Sheridan since the latter has been the public works commissioner for only a comparatively short period.

Financing Sewer Project

Randolph town officials declare that it is too late for Boston, Newton, Dedham, Needham, Milton and other communities in the Metropolitan District Commission sewer system to do anything about the plan under which they would be forced to pay substantial sums to extend the system to include Randolph.

That is almost true, but not quite. The MDC is committed to taking Randolph into its sewer system, and some funds were authorized for that purpose two years ago.

However, a bill is pending before the incoming Legislature to provide the rest of the money that is needed, and it is not too late for the legislators to make some other arrangement for financing the cost of the project instead of placing the bulk of the expense on the other cities and towns in the MDC system.

Indeed, the likelihood is that the plan will be blocked altogether in the Legislature unless that is done, for very few lawmakers from Boston or Newton, Needham, Dedham, Milton and the other communities affected are going to vote to saddle any additional taxes upon their constituents.

Randolph's town health officer makes a very strong case to show that the town is growing, that it is seriously in need of better sewage facilities, that the poor sanitary condition of its cesspools and septic tanks could cause an epidemic.

That, however, is not the point. No one questions the need for better sewage facilities in Randolph. The question is: Who should pay for them? Should the people of Newton, West Roxbury, Roslindale, Needham, Dedham, Milton and Brookline be compelled to pay five-sixths of the bill?

Presumably, Randolph cannot afford to pay the entire expense of the project. In that event, the State should foot the bill, not a handful of cities and towns in Greater Boston.

Knowland Eyes Presidency

A prominent Republican politician, requested last week to list the probable outstanding candidates for the GOP Presidential nomination in 1960, named Richard M. Nixon, William F. Knowland and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., adding that it would be unwise to under-estimate the chances of Lodge.

Knowland announced last week that he will retire from the Senate in 1958. He gave as his reason the desire to return to California so that he and Mrs. Knowland could "spend a little more time in proximity to the family."

Political experts assume that what Knowland intends to do is seek election as Governor of California in 1958 and, if successful in that bid, strike out for the Presidency in 1960.

Two obstacles stand in Knowland's path in his home State. One is Vice President Richard M. Nixon who is considered the No. 1 Republican Presidential possibility in '60. The other is California's Governor Goodwin J. Knight who intends to stand for reelection in 1958.

Knowland, in the opinion of observers familiar with the California political situation, would probably prevail over Knight in a test of strength in the Golden State and place himself in a powerful position to drive for the Presidency.

If Nixon, Knowland and Knight were all mixed up in a battle out in California, Lodge certainly would be a strong darkhorse possibility.

The belief in well informed Republican quarters is that Lodge is quite likely to give up his post as Ambassador to the UN in 1958 and return to Massachusetts to challenge Foster Furcolo for the Governorship.

The political pundits point out that during the present century only two men have gone from the U. S. Senate to the Presidency. They were Warren G. Harding and Harry S. Truman, and Truman made the leap first to the Vice Presidency.

Most of the Presidential candidates in both parties have been Governors rather than Senators.

Liberty and Security

Ever since our government was founded, we've been faced with the continuing task of finding just the right combination of "security" and "liberty." In fact, this country's strength has stemmed largely from our ability to reconcile contrasts and differences. This is reflected in our scientific inventiveness and our business enterprise, as well as our government.

Twin values of liberty and security raise this important question: Is our security system adequate and does it also safeguard basic American traditions of individual justice and fair play?

In less than ten years, the federal employee loyalty program, created to meet an emergency situation, has expanded into five loyalty-security programs. Combined, the five programs directly involve about 10 million people (one out of every 10 adult citizens in this country). Of this number only 2.3 million are civilian employees of Uncle Sam. The other 7.2 million include men and women in uniform, merchant seamen, longshoremen, and employees of defense industries.

Circumstances have changed considerably since the programs were established, yet there have been few, if any, major alterations in the programs themselves.

Also there has been a material change in the nature of scientific secrets. The 1955 Geneva Conference, where atomic scientists from all over the world exchanged information, began a new era.

Furthermore, the "Communists in government" issue is less emotionally charged today than it was a few years ago. This calmer climate of opinion forms a helpful backdrop to the many public and private groups offering proposals for change in the programs.

Concern over loyalty-security became especially intense after Soviet aggression abroad and Communist infiltration at home created an acute sense of danger to the national security. In varying degrees each of the three branches of government has had a role in the development of the loyalty-security programs.

Congressional action has been piecemeal, ranging from riders on appropriations acts, to the 1939 Hatch Act, to the Internal Security Act of 1950 and the Communist Control Act of 1954. These acts combined form legislative authority for the current federal personnel program.

The executive branch, as administrator, is concerned with the quality of its personnel. Through Presidential Executive Orders, Presidents Truman and Eisenhower shaped the Security Programs.

The role of the judiciary is to set the outer limits of executive and legislative power in enforcing security. In various important decisions, the courts have been defining the constitutional liberties involved.

The personnel screening programs were set up to prevent employment in government or other strategic areas of persons considered disloyal or "security risks." Various rules have been evolved for making these determinations.

There are all shades of opinion among critics of the personnel screening process. They range from "tighten it up" to "alter certain features" to "scrap it completely."

In June, 1957, The Bi-Partisan Commission on Government Security, set up by joint Executive and Congressional Action in 1955, is expected to make public its report. This commission was charged with the task of studying and investigating the entire security program and of recommending how it can be set up and carried out "in a manner which will protect the national security and preserve basic American rights."

The loyalty-security programs have created new issues in the age-old problem of reconciling liberty and security. The process, never easy, is probably more difficult than ever today. Thoughtful citizens will be

Mr. and Mrs. William Miller McGowan, 19 Rowe Street, Auburndale, have announced the marriage of their elder daughter, Nancy True McGowan, to Benjamin S. Mayger, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mayger, Jr., of Lincoln, Montana. The ceremony took place at the American Mission Church, Beirut, Lebanon, last June 20. Mr. and Mrs. Mayger are now making their home at Chittaranjan Avenue, Calcutta, India, where Mr. Mayger is now sales manager for Calcutta for the Cal-Tex (India) Ltd., after being transferred from New Delhi.

The bride served five years as secretary with the U. S. She was a member of the class of 1946 at Newton High School. At Boston University she was active in the Choral Arts Society and a member of Delta Delta sorority and Mu Phi, musical fraternity.

Mr. Mayger, born in Shanghai, received his early education there and in Mukden, China, and Manchuria, while his father was associated with the Cal-Tex oil interests, from which he has recently retired. The family lived in Wellesley while the son prepared for college at Lawrence Academy in Groton. Following his graduation from the University of ## Pride of the Neighborhood!

It is a happy occasion indeed when a new Cadillac car first appears in the driveway of its proud and happy owner.

As you would expect, it signals the most joyful of family celebrations—and occasions the heartfelt congratulations of friends and acquaintances.

But you might be surprised to learn of the widespread rejoicing which the arrival of a new Cadillac frequently inspires.

In fact, the car invariably becomes a source of genuine pride throughout the entire neighborhood in which it resides.

The neighborhood understandably delights in having a beautiful new Cadillac to grace its streets . . . and takes great pleasure in knowing that one of its own has been able to realize the dream that lives in the hearts of so many.

And we think you might also be surprised to learn that this happy event is currently taking place in a great many neighborhoods that have never before laid claim to a Cadillac car.

For there is an ever-growing awareness that Cadillac—with all its incomparable motoring virtues—is one of the soundest and wisest purchases a motorist can make.

From a standpoint of purchase, maintenance, operation and resale value, the car represents a truly extraordinary investment.

Surely, in view of this, you should consider a Cadillac this year.

We will be happy to put you behind the wheel for a personal demonstration at any time you find convenient.

And we will be delighted to tell you how easily and economically you can make your car . . . the pride of the neighborhood!

THIS PAST YEAR, Junior Red Cross stressed the need for more soft toys to be available for children in disaster areas. Many groups of students in the Junior High, as well as the upper grades of the elementary schools, have made some splendid toys. However, a fifth grade group from the Cabot school in Mrs. Ruth Hookkillo's room, formed a sewing club which met after school at the homes of the members and made dolls, bean bags and other stuffed animals, which they presented to the Junior Red Cross in time for Christmas distribution. The picture shows Mrs. Harold Whiteley, chairman of the Motor Corps, receiving toys made by Nancy Noss, Laurie Austin, Joyce Alban, Judy Pillion, Ronda Green, Adele Fritz and Philip Oxnam.

Brief Cong. Curtis On Aims of League In National Affairs

Prior to his departure for Washington to attend the opening session of Congress, members of the Newton and Brookline Leagues of Women Voters met informally with Laurence Curtis, Representative to Congress from the 10th Massachusetts Congressional District for the purpose of acquainting Mr. Curtis with the areas of League interest on the national level. Mr. Curtis was informed that in the field of Individual Liberties, all Leagues are making a study to evaluate the federal loyalty-security programs, while recognizing the need for safeguarding national security and protecting individual liberties. On the League's Current Agenda is also a study of the Conservation of Water Resources. By means of this study, the League hopes to understand the essentials of a good future U. S. water policy and the eventual impact of conservation policies upon the domestic economy and other world developments.

Also explained to Mr. Curtis was the long-time interest of the League in the United Nations. The League actively supports measures which would strengthen the United Nations and contribute to international economic development.

Meeting with Congressman Curtis at the home of Mrs. Isidor Slotnik at 300 Waverly Avenue were Mrs. Seymour Getter, president, and the following members of the Newton League: Mrs. Leopold Beckwith, Mrs. Martin Greenberg, Mrs. Richard Mintz and Mrs. Harvey Karp. From the League in Brookline, were Mrs. J. Charles Drooker, president, Mrs. Jacob Wallace, Mrs. Alexander Law, and Mrs. George Lyman, Jr.

One of the most widely understood phenomena in the political sphere is the Electoral College. As originally conceived of by the writers of the Federal Constitution, this group was to act as a sort of "qualified filter" through which popular opinion could be expressed. Each state was allocated Electors, equal in number to its Representatives and Senators in Congress, to be chosen in whatever manner local legislatures should determine. While this freedom of method still obtains, Electors in most states today are chosen in state conventions or by popular ballot.

The necessity of such an intermediary organ in the serious business of choosing a President and Vice-President was considerably more valid in the early days of the nation. Then more primitive means of communication and public ignorance of issues and conditions provided less opportunity for the citizenry to act in its own best interests. The leading men of the country usually acted as Electors, and in retrospect their good judgment in most instances was confirmed to the benefit of the nation. At this time, too, there were no separate party slates as in our day and the procedure was simple; the man with the highest number of Electoral votes became President and his runner-up became Vice-President. When no man had a majority, the House of Representatives would choose the President from those having the greatest number of Electoral votes and the Senate would choose the Vice-President from the remaining candidates.

In 1800, a tie between Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr threw the election of the President into the House of Representatives where the voting went to 36 ballots before Jefferson's victory. To avoid repetition of this incident, Congress has adopted the 12th Amendment providing that Electors are to vote specifically for a President and Vice-President. At this same time, the emergence of specific political parties began to exert pressure on the Electors and so it has continued until the present. The exercise of independent judgment originally intended for the Electors has become virtually impossible, since it is expected that they will cast their ballots for the party candidates nominated in National Convention. The introduction of the Unit Rule also operates against such autonomy, for in those states which function under it the Electors are bound to vote as a body for the Presidential candidate receiving the largest number of votes in that state.

Since the voting mechanism differs markedly from state to state, it is felt by many that the Unit Rule often fails to indicate the true feelings and wishes of many citizens.

The Constitution provides that the members of the Electoral College meet in their own states on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December to cast their votes for President and Vice President. These are opened in Washington on Jan. 6 by the President of the Senate at a joint session of both Houses. In case of a tie, the President is elected by the House of Representatives, and the Vice-President by the Senate. With 48 states to be cast and a two-thirds quorum of states necessary, at least 36 states must be represented and the winning candidate must be the choice of at least 25 states. The 20th, or "Lame Duck" Amendment brought the newly elected Congress into term on Jan. 3, so that it rather than the "old" Congress might be present to better represent the current feeling of the people in case of such a tie.

Today, there are 531 Electoral votes, those of 435 Congressional and 96 Senatorial districts. This number has been constant since 1912, though every 10 years after the national census, changes in distribution of population shift congressional districts, so that some states or areas gain further representation while others may lose a congressman or two. This, of course, directly affects the Electoral strength of these areas.

However each state sets up its own ballots, the Presidential candidate receiving the largest number of popular votes therein also receives the entire Electoral vote of that state. On the national level then, the person receiving a majority of the Electoral votes (226 out of 531) is declared elected. Consequently, it is possible for a candidate to be elected by a majority of the Electoral votes, even though he may not have enjoyed a majority of the popular votes throughout the nation. It can be seen here why redistricting to the advantage of one party or the other is so vigorously fought for.

One of the major flaws in this complex system is that from November 6 until the December meeting of the Electors, and actually until their choice is announced on January 6, the nation has no bona-fide Chief Executive-elect. The many inherent weaknesses of the Electoral system, and the abuses by party concentration to which it is vulnerable have elicited several proposals for changing and also simplifying it so that the choices of the people may be more directly manifested. These proposals fall into three categories:

On List For Construction Inspector

1. Proportional distribution of the state's popular vote among its present number of electoral votes.
2. Distribution of the electoral votes by Congressional districts.
3. Direct popular election.

The most popular of these proposed methods is the proportional distribution plan. Such a move is now being sponsored by Senator Kefauver and Representative Glenn Davis of New York. Under it, the Electoral vote would be divided in exact proportion to the popular vote for the Presidential candidate in the several states.

Arguments for this plan maintain that it would:

1. Continue to uphold the concept of complete suffrage.
2. Encourage the integrity of the two-party system.
3. Diminish the influence of pressure groups in pivotal states.

Arguments against the plan:

1. It is still not truly democratic since an electoral vote does not represent the same number of popular votes in each state. Such a vote in California, for example, has eight times the popular vote behind it as one from South Carolina.
2. It might encourage the formation of the same sort of splinter parties which have often plagued the European democracies.
3. Even with a plurality, this plan might make the election of a "minority president" the rule rather than the exception.

The plan for voting by congressional districts, sponsored by Representative Coudert of New York and Senator Mundt of South Dakota would provide for the choice by states of one Elector from each congressional district and two "at large" just as they are chosen for the National Legislature.

For the Plan:

1. The two major parties already enjoy large electoral and congressional power.
2. Since the President and Congress would be elected by the same vote, their similar political philosophies would engender less conflict between the Executive and the Legislative branches.
3. Abuses such as manufactured votes would affect only single districts rather than the whole state.

Against the measure:

1. The undue influence of rural and sparsely populated states over heavily populated urban areas.
2. The minority would still not be justly represented as in the "one party" states it is still often difficult to elect even one representative of the opposition party.
3. It would encourage gerrymandering (attempts by a party to extend its present district allocations).

The plan for direct popular elections under the sponsorship of Senators Humphrey and Langer is the most drastic proposed and would most seriously alter the basic pattern of strength among the states. Those sympathetic to its possibilities believe:

1. It is the most obviously democratic plan since it most clearly and immediately reflects the will of the people.
2. It would give densely populated areas a voice consistent with their size.
3. It would give the people the most direct control over their President since it would develop a large central government headed by a strong Executive.

Considerations against its adoption:

1. It would increase unduly the influence of minority groups in densely populated areas.
2. It might lower the voting age and requirements.
3. Some states would never ratify it.

While all of the problems mentioned in this article are current, and some perhaps of crucial moment in the orderly progress of our democratic system, their solution lies essentially in the willingness of all citizens to become active in the parties of their choice and to begin such participation well in advance of a Presidential campaign year. Those who assume responsibility at any level can most effectively change and improve our system for choosing our Chief Executive by bringing it up to date with the times in which we live.

Hi-Fi System Is Given In Memory Of D. O. Holland

A high fidelity system and record albums were accepted recently by Edgar M. Brister, Weston, president of Goodwill Associates and controller of Keystone Custodian Funds, Inc., Boston, on behalf of Morgan Memorial Goodwill Inn, from Miss Constance Holland and Mrs. Donald O. Holland of Newton, daughter and widow of the late Donald O. Holland, former physicist at the Raytheon Manufacturing Company Research Laboratories, Waltham.

The high fidelity system was given by friends and Goodwill Associates in memory of Mr. Holland who was chairman of the Big Brother committee of the Goodwill Associates from 1952 to 1955. A gift of Handel's "The Messiah" was made by Robert L. Gerling, member of the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston and of the Goodwill Associates.

Dr. Emil M. Hartl, Director of Morgan Memorial Hayden Goodwill Inn and Rev. Russell H. Bishop, pastor of the Newton First Baptist Church also participated in the ceremony.

Hayden Goodwill Inn, one of seven Morgan Memorial affiliates, has provided resident service for twenty-three years over 7,000 boys with family problems or no homes. The Goodwill Associates are a group of business and professional men, including alumni of the Goodwill Inn, who provide time and substance to boys at the Inn.

43,000 Face Sudden Death In 1957 on U.S. Highways

Forty-three thousand deaths on the highway—a rate of nearly 120 killings a day—is the grim outlook for the nation's drivers in 1957.

This prediction of the most disastrous year yet for deaths, injuries and property loss from automobile accidents is made by Arthur S. Johnson, director of the Institute for Safer Living.

"We're heading for unbelievable carnage on the roads," he warned, "an intolerable situation that demands immediate mustering of all available forces of control to stop it."

Safety engineering vice-president of the American Mutual Insurance Company, Johnson declared that action must be taken at once on three "must do's"—widespread expansion and improvement in law enforcement, nation-wide compulsory driver training, and the building of more and safer highways. Only through these means, he said, will we be able to control the three types of drivers who cause the big majority of our accidents: the arrogant, the incompetent and the ignorant.

Law enforcement, he said, is one of our most effective, immediate stop-gap controls, but is woefully short in manpower. The big stick has proved its value in accident control, but there just are not enough big sticks to get the bad drivers off the road before they kill. Every state and community must take immediate steps to improve the quantity and quality of their policing forces and arrest drivers who disobey the motor vehicle laws.

On driver training, there just is not any program now in existence that can be considered first class. Massachusetts has done one of the best jobs of any by controlling the commercial driving schools and by pushing the high school driver training program. There is a terrific need, Johnson said, to hurry up and get all motorists—new and old—skilled in safe handling of the modern, high-powered, high-speed automobile.

The program of highway design and construction must be pushed with maximum production, and the tax-paying motorist must not get the idea that there can be an end to the program. New highways do solve safety problems to the extent that known safety features are installed in their location, design and construction.

Most disturbing aspect of the whole mess, Johnson declared, is that we can see no let-up in traffic tragedies, as long as drivers try to match their skill and judgement at speed too fast for conditions, as long as the pressures of vast movements keep the highways over-crowded, and until the strict enforcement of driving regulations can scrape the speeders, drunks and scoff-laws off the highways.

WILLIAM R. NEWTON of 54 Gammons road, Waban, who has been elected a vice president of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston. He started with the company's Chicago engineering staff in 1924, and transferred to the Chicago underwriting department in 1926. In 1929 he joined the Boston home office underwriting department, was named assistant secretary in July, 1941; assistant vice president and business insurance underwriting manager in 1948, business risks underwriting manager in June, 1955, and business risks department manager in September of last year.

Nearly Everyone In Nation Uses Credit Sometime

Who uses credit in the United States?

Nearly everyone at sometime in their life, says Verda M. Dale, Extension specialist in home management at the University of Massachusetts.

Economists say it has contributed to keeping our prosperity high, and most families know it allows them many comforts they might not have otherwise. In 1955 total mortgage debt and other obligations were estimated at about $700 per capita. This means for the average family—now figured at 3.6 persons—total consumer debt would amount to about $2400. To offset this indebtedness, the average family had assets of $9400-$9500, or about $2600 per capita.

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System reported that in 1955 the amount of credit outstanding at the end of each month averaged about $4.5 billion dollars as against $4.1 billion in 1950, 7.5 billion in 1940, and 6 billion in 1929. However, these figures over-emphasize the differences, as consumer incomes are now about 3 1/2 times higher, consumer prices are 50 percent higher, and the population is approximately 1 1/2 greater than in 1929.

Consumer indebtedness falls into three classes: the short term, intermediate term, such as charge accounts and installment buying, and long term, such as a house mortgage.

Installment buying accounts for much of the short-time and intermediate debt, says Miss Dale. In 1955 about one-third of all installment indebtedness was for automobiles. Not only were automobiles more expensive, but more people were buying new ones as well as second-hand ones. In 1940 only one out of 39 persons purchased a new automobile, but in 1955 one out of 23 bought a new one.

People with personal debts are found in all income groups, all age groups except the very young, among both married and single people, couples with and without children, workers in all kinds of occupations and people living in all types of communities.

In general, those using the most installment credit are skilled and semi-skilled workers, followed by professional, semi-professional and managerial personnel then clerical and sales personnel and self-employed; last, farm operators and retired persons. Other characteristics of those who use installment buying more are families who have children, have more than one income in a family, live in the suburbs, and have incomes from $4000-$7500.

Animals Aren't Immune to Cold Winter Weather

Don't laugh at the other fellow's Fido if you spot him prancing down icy streets sporting dog booties!

The latest fad has good reasoning behind it, according to David D. Bonney of the Museum of Science's Education Department.

"Many dogs get frost bitten toes, blisters and swollen feet because their owners don't realize they aren't immune to winter weather," says Bonney. He advises an improvised "overcoat" for short haired dogs—a piece of blanket will do; they don't have the same built-in natural protection against icy winds the long-haired fellows have.

Bonney, who supervises the care of all animals at the Museum of Science, has other cold weather tips for pet owners. "Winter is particularly rough on cats," he says. "Putting the cat out for the night shouldn't apply in winter. For one thing, it's harder for cats to outrun dogs over snowy ground."

Postal Insurance Envelope Cost Is Increased

The Post Office Department has entered into a new stamped-envelope contract effective January 1, which will raise prices to recover procurement and distribution costs which have increased since September 14, 1953, when prices were last adjusted. Postmaster Joseph P. W. Finn stated that the increase will average about 18 percent on the charge for envelopes, apart from the postage, which of course, remains unchanged.

All four sizes of stamped envelopes are affected. These stamped envelopes come in various types. Some contain only the embossed stamp. Others are printed and contain the sender's name and return address. Some have windows, some are pre-cancelled to facilitate certain types of mailings and some are air mail.

One important change in the new rates will affect the minimum quantity that can be bought at less than a penny differential for each envelope. Under the old provisions, the postmaster said, a purchaser might buy as few as 25 stamped envelopes and get a rate that is less than a penny an envelope (plus postage). Under the new provisions, he must buy at least 50 to get this advantage. If he buys less than 50 he will pay a penny for every envelope plus the postage—for example, 25 stamped envelopes (3-cent, No. 8 size) will cost 4 cents each or $1.00 starting January 1, compared with a former cost of 92 cents.

Effective January 2, the 5c postal insurance fee will be discontinued. A fee of ten cents will now be charged for all domestic parcels insured for amounts not exceeding $10. Firm mailers with stocks of printed labels or wrappers showing either the 5-cent or 10-cent fee may continue using such labels or wrappers until exhausted. The 10-cent fee shall be collected on all such parcels. The change in insurance fee applies also to insured parcels to Canada.

NEWTONVILLE — Dr. Israhel J. Kazis, Director of the Temple Mishkan Tefila Institute of Adult Jewish Studies, announces a lecture by Robert Segal, Executive Director of the Jewish Community Council of Greater Boston, on Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 9:00 p.m., at the Temple's Newton headquarters, 567 Walnut street. Mr. Segal will discuss "Building Sound Community Relations."

He advises an improvised "overcoat" for short haired dogs—a piece of blanket will do; they don't have the same built-in natural protection against icy winds the long-haired fellows have. Bonney, who supervises the care of all animals at the Museum of Science, has other cold weather tips for pet owners. "Winter is particularly rough on cats," he says. "Putting the cat out for the night shouldn't apply in winter. For one thing, it's harder for cats to outrun dogs over snowy ground."

Contemporary History Heads New Courses at Junior College

A course in Contemporary History designated primarily for popular appeal and especially for recent high school graduates heads the list of five new courses offered in the Evening Division of Newton's public-controlled Junior College in Newtonville. The courses commence Monday, Feb. 4, and will continue for 16 weeks. Except for an early start, at 6:45 on Feb. 4, classes will run from 7-9 p.m. They carry two semester-hours credit toward the degrees of Associate in Arts or Associate in Science, with one exception, and cost from $15-$25 to cover costs of instruction only.

The course in Contemporary History will focus on the United States in relation to world affairs, particularly to the rising countries of Asia and Africa and the world revolt against imperialism and racial domination. It will be conducted as a seminar with readings and discussion, frequently with guest lecturers, of essential problems of poverty, hunger, disease, illiteracy, and the organizations and positive programs of the United Nations and of the United States to solve these problems. The balance of world power will be explored. Director Walter M. Taylor asserts that "this course should be particularly attractive to young adults who want to penetrate the curtains of bias which cloud over or conceal major trends in history." The fee for this course is $20.

The courses in English for Business, Real Estate Fundamentals, and Investment Principles and Practices have been given previously and are designed for beginners and people with either specific or general interests in studying under competent direction. They carry no other requirement than a desire to learn in a friendly environment.

The course in Intermediate Algebra enters its second semester but is open to additional students who desire to review mathematics beginning with quadratic equations in an integrated course involving all branches of elementary mathematics including trigonometry and logarithms, and with applications to engineering and other fields of human activity. This course carries no credit toward the Associate degree because it is a high school subject. The fee is $15.

The Supervisory Training Workshop: Human Relations in Business and Industry repeats a popular course from the 1955-56 offerings. It is designed primarily to help the individual develop insights about his own attitudes and behavior in order to increase his effectiveness as a leader. It is built upon case problems and includes opportunities to practice Human Relations skills. Frequent guest leaders from industry and the graduate schools of business and human relations make this a very attractive course for people actively engaged in business or industry. The fee for this course is $25.

Inquiries about the courses and fees should be made to Registrar Gloria Barron at Decatur 2-3542. Registration is performed by mail or in person on the opening evening, Feb. 4, at 6:45. Miss Barron points out

Expands

As an important part of the Wild & Stevens, Inc., Newton and Woburn, expansion program for 1957, Robert B. Arbuckle, president, today announced the appointment of Schaaf Associates, Lexington, as sales representative for the company's Moulding Division. At the same time, he announced the addition of Industrial Wheels, Inc., as distributors of the W. & S. Rubber Division's industrial wheels and their exclusive new non-marking Compound 101.

That advance registration is likely to insure that the courses will be given; unless a sufficient number enroll to warrant giving the course it is cancelled. Ordinarily classes are limited to 15-20 students.

Newton's public-controlled Junior College offers college-level courses of all types whenever demand is apparent, points out Director Taylor. Presently the college enrolls nearly 200 day and evening division students from twenty-one towns and cities in the areas.

C. H. Lodge and Chapter

The next regular meeting of the Chestnut Hill Lodge and Chapter B'nai B'rith will be held Thursday, Jan. 17, at 8:15 p.m. at the Spaulding School, Brookline street, Chestnut Hill. Presidents Mitchell Wiener and Marilyn Corbin will preside.

The evening's entertainment, produced and directed by George Schwartz will be "A Night in the Television Studio," a parody of "I've Got a Secret" and several other well known TV programs. Talented members of the cast are:

Herbert Golden, Leah and Sumner Goldman, Charlotte and Edward Housman, Lillian and Jack Katz, Sylvia and Philip Rabatsky, Estelle and Allan Kaufman, Henry Corbin, Betty and Arnold Levitt, Joe Aronson, Chester Elman, Audrey Cohen, Sumner Swig, Gertrude and Al Sperber, Sidney Epstein, Murray Brass, Alvin Yarkin, Dr. David Kahn, and Marian Goldstein.

Refreshments will be served. Members and friends are invited.

General Alliance

Rev. Edna P. Bruner, ordained to the Universalist ministry, has served as minister to the First Universalist Church, Watertown, Iowa and The First Universalist Church, Canton, New York, home of St. Lawrence University and Theological School where she received her B.A. and B.D. degrees. Miss Bruner is especially interested in the church educational program. She was Dean of the Universalist Mid-West Institute and has directed or taught at other institutes throughout the Universalist Denomination. She will give an address on "Unitarianism As A Way of Life" at the morning session of the meeting of the New England Associate Alliance to be held at the First Unitarian Society in Newton on Thursday, January 17, at 10:30 a.m. Mr. David A. Bergmark, Campaign Manager, American Unitarian Association, will also speak on "How We Can Help." At the afternoon session at 1:30 p.m. Rev. John Ogden Fisher will speak on "Unitarianism As A Way of Life — In the church and in the parish."

Named President

Stanley Hirson, Antioch College freshman from West Newton, has been named president of his residence hall and as such is serving on the general education committee of Antioch's Community Government.

Hirson is one of six students and three faculty members studying Antioch's whole general education program. All committees of Community Government, non-academic governing body of the campus, have both student and faculty representation.

Hirson is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Hirson, of 65 Pickwick road, West Newton. He graduated from Newton High School this past June. Hirson is taking a pre-medical course at Antioch. Under the college's study-plus-work program, he is spending his first year on campus in full-time study; then next year he will alternate periods on campus with 12-week periods working at a job, which may be in any of 31 states.

Co-Authors of

Teen-Age Novel

Alice Margaret Huggins, noted Congregational Christian missionary in North China, and Dr. Hugh Robinson of 80 Berkeley street, West Newton, are co-authors of a new teenage novel, "Wan Fu: Ten Thousand Happinesses." It will be published by Longmans Green and Company early this year.

This will be Miss Huggins' fourth book, her third since the death of her "house arrest" by the Chinese communists in 1952. Her earlier novels were "Day of the False Dragon," "Fragrant Jade" and "The Red Chair Waits."

Miss Huggins and Dr. Robinson appear in the most recent novel in their true roles as teacher and physician. Dr. Robinson was superintendent of the hospital at T'ungshien in North China where for 23 years with Miss Huggins was teacher and principal at the Goodrich Girls' School.

Delay Vote on Taking Land For 2nd H.S.

No action was taken for the purchase of land for the proposed second high school at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday night.

Although there was no disagreement as to the need for a second high school to be erected in the Oak Hill section of the city, owners of two small sections of the land under consideration asked that their land be eliminated from the taking, while another owner agreed to cooperate with the city in the matter.

At the conclusion of the hearing, President Wendell R. Bauckman suggested that the land owners and officials get together to determine whether a compromise could be reached. During the hearing on the matter, Dr. Charles O. Richter, secretary of the School Committee stated that a second high school would be necessary for approximately five hundred students by 1960 and that eventually it might have to be enlarged to take care of 2,000 pupils.

It was stated that about 30 acres of the 42 acres under consideration would be developed immediately and the balance might be used for future expansion plans. The plans for the second high school have received preliminary approval from the Massachusetts School Assistance Committee and also carries the approval of the mayor and his advisory committee, Dr. Richter stated.

The four individuals who spoke relative to the land taking did not register objections to the proposed school and the necessary land taking to make it possible but rather pointed out that in their opinion, the line of taking could very well be straightened out and thus do a minimum of damage to their property. The matter will be acted on at a later date after the property owners involved and the school officials have an opportunity to meet and attempt to iron out the differences of opinion.

Oppose Extension Of MTA Into City

The Board of Aldermen Monday night passed two resolutions opposing the extension of the Metropolitan Transit Authority and one urging the re-acquisition by the Metropolitan District Commission of land on Hammond Pond parkway.

The MTA resolution was aimed at a proposal to have the MTA extend its facilities over the tracks and right of way of the Highland branch of the railroad in this city. This proposal has been brought up on several occasions but as one city spokesman stated relative to it "these stories have probably been dreamed up" by some writers.

Another resolution passed would favor House Bill 856, filed by Rep. Arthur G. Heaney of Newton Highlands which provides that no re-routing of extension may be made by the MTA without prior approval of the governing body of each community into which or through which the road might pass.

The Board also voted to oppose Senate Bill 344, which seeks to repeal Chapter 479, of the Acts of 1956, providing for the re-acquisition by the Metropolitan District Commission of land on Hammond Pond parkway in Chestnut Hill, previously sold to Cabot, Cabot and Forbes. The legislature last year voted to order the MDC to re-acquire the 25 acres of land sold to the development concern four years ago. The new bill provides that the company may retain the land for development which the aldermen are opposing.

BC Granted Right To Build Dorm

Boston College has been granted permission by the Board of Aldermen to erect a dormitory and chapel at 185 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill. The action was taken at the meeting of the aldermen held Monday night.

The new dormitory will house 300 students and the chapel, which will seat 600 persons, will be constructed at the corner of Tudor road and Hammond street.

Denied by the Board were the following:

Allan Averback, petition to allow the building of two stores on Lot No. 18 between 543 and

Cooking School Next Wednesday

All is in readiness for the big Newton Graphic-Boston Gas Company free cooking school to be held in Masonic Hall, 460 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, next Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 30.

Practically everyone, well almost everyone, who attends this big event will go home with some kind of prize, many of which are well worth having. For instance, the major prize to be awarded at this popular event this year will be a 12-piece Revere War Homemaker set, donated by the Newtonville Electrical Company. This set consists of a 5 qt. covered sauce pot; 2 qt. open sauce pan; 1 qt. open sauce pan with cover; 2 qt. covered double broiler; 1 trivet; and a 9 inch covered skillet. This 12-piece set is America's finest utensil and will be an addition to any home.

Then again, Star Market meat experts will be on hand to demonstrate the proper method of cutting meats and to enlighten the audience with what to look for when buying meats, how to determine the best meats and also the best buys of the week. All meats cut up at the demonstration will be carefully wrapped and awarded to some lucky ladies in attendance and only the choicest meats will be used.

But that is not all, the Boston Gas Company experts will cook delicious dishes right in front of all of those present, explain the recipes and when these morsels of delicacies are cooked, they too will be awarded to some lucky individuals in attendance.

Then too, many local merchants are participating in this school and they too are offering wonderful gifts to those chosen after the cooking and meat demonstrations. The merchants who are participating and the gifts they have donated, are as follows:

T. W. Anderson, Jewelers, $5 merchandise credit; Diane's Fashion Shop, 1 novelty sweater; Greenfield's, 1 Old Colony "Fluffy" sweater; O'Donnell's Electric Appliance Co., $50 off on any TV set; Waban Market, $5 food order; Flodine Sewing Machine Co., up to $25 credit on new sewing machine; Lamp Studio, a $7.50 decorator lamp; Mori Real Sewing Machine Co., sewing kit; Newtonville Electrical Co., $40 merchandise credit towards an electric washer, refrigerator or stove; B&S Drive-In Laundry, dry cleaning certificate; Brans Mobil Service Station, rubber floor mats; The Frances Shop, pair of nylon hose; Gerry's Cancellation and Rejects; any pair of $5 woman's shoes; Parke Snow's, box of 3 pairs of Snow-park nylons; First National Stores, $5 food order; Newton Centre Market, 3-rib prime steer roast of beef; Newton Graphic, one year's subscription.

Seek Beauties for Miss Newton Crown

Local beauties are to have their day once again and the Miss Newton Pageant Committee is inviting all citizens of this city to nominate a candidate for the local beauty crown in the Miss America preliminary contest which will be staged here May 9.

Hendrik Krosschell Jr., chairman of the Entries Committee for the Miss Newton Pageant, said yesterday that his group will begin their search immediately for a group of representative local beauties to participate in the Pageant.

Assisting Krosschell on the Entries Committee are Thomas Fazio, Mack Herron, Gordon R. Wilk, Mrs. Norma Fazio and members of the Newton Jayettes.

It has been requested that every Newton resident who knows a personable, beautiful and talented young lady suggest her name to the committee as a possible contestant in the local Pageant.

Winner of the Miss Newton Pageant will qualify for participation in the Miss Massachusetts Pageant which will be held in Boston in July. The girl crowned Miss Massachusetts will compete in Atlantic City for the Miss America 1958 crown and the $5,000 first prize scholarship.

Members of the Entries Committee will interview each young lady suggested for a place among the group of Miss Newton contestants, and twelve selected will appear in the finals May 9.

To be eligible for the Miss Newton Pageant a contestant must be between the ages of 18 and 28 on September 1st. She must be a high school graduate by September 1st; must never have been married.

She must possess talent, either trained or potential, which may include playing a musical instrument, dramatics, dress designing, singing, or any of the fine arts. If she wishes to pursue a professional career, such as nursing, she may present a three-minute talk on her reasons for selecting such a career, or on her training to date and her aims in that profession.

Entry blanks may be obtained by writing or calling H. Krosschell Jr., 41 Daniels street, Newton Centre 59, DEcatur 2-3728; Thomas Fazio Laboratories, 339 Auburn street, Auburndale 66, LAseel 7-6723, or by writing to The Miss Newton Pageant, Junior Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 85, Auburndale 66.

Applications must be in Mar. 28. Auditions for the Miss Newton Pageant will be held on April 4th at the Claflin School in Newton.

Local Y to Join Others In Celebrating National Week

The Newton YMCA will again this year join hundreds of other YMCA's throughout the country in celebrating the period January 27 to February 3, 1957 as National YMCA Week. Announced David K. Burkhardt, chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Newton Y. This will be the third annual recognition of this event by the Newton Association and the sixth annual observance nationally.

The week will begin with YMCA Sunday, January 27, which will be observed in many of the Churches of Newton. Special YMCA Sunday folders and inserts have been distributed and will be seen by the congregations. On the back of this material is a message written and signed by President Eisenhower in which he says,

"... The Nation in celebrating YMCA Sunday recognizes the close partnership of the Y and the Church in preparing our youth to become spiritually strong, morally sound Americans."

Chamber Plans To Aid All Business

Stating that "the ultimate aim of the Chamber of Commerce is to build an organization which will benefit all business in all the Newtons," Dwight Colburn, president, outlined the Chamber's plans and aims for 1957 at the directors' meeting Tuesday night. "It is unity which builds a better community," president Colburn stressed.

Mr. Colburn pointed out that the Chamber's real strength rested with its membership, as he announced that start of a drive spearheaded by a committee chairmanship by Robert B. Arbuckle to increase the Chamber's present members. "Chamber membership must be made immediately synonymous in the public mind with responsible business practice by responsible businessmen," asserted Mr. Colburn, presenting a deal which all accepted members will be urged to display as an identifying mark.

Reorganizing and revitalizing the Chamber's structure and program initially call for the establishment of two divisions — a Retail Board and a Commercial and Industrial Development Board, Mr. Colburn explained.

The Retail Board will concern itself with supplying members with a reliable credit reporting and collection service on favorable terms; it will route inquiries and requests for merchandise and services to the members; it will advise on the Better Business Bureau activities of the Chamber.

Most importantly the Retail Board will act as a clearing house and promotion office. It will publish a directory of Newton business firms, examine the possibilities of city-wide Christmas lighting, develop the possibilities of joint advertising by lines of business, and assist in the development and scheduling of village promotions.

This is not the whole list, Mr. Colburn commented, but we believe that through such a program the Board can offer to the merchants, professional men and "office men," like those in insurance and advertising, a real opportunity to develop their businesses more effectively and profitably by these or similar specific concerted methods.

The Commercial and Industrial Development Board will concern itself principally with encouraging approved businesses to bring more capital investment on to Newton land. The expensive tastes of a high-grade city require a continually increasing capital base for solid support. This Board will be active in the areas of zoning, land reclamation, new or modified business buildings and in the promotion of Newton as a desirable business location.

The Personnel Managers' Club will continue its active program, inviting cooperation of employers and managers in neighboring towns.

"We don't underestimate the difficulties inherent in our tasks," Mr. Colburn concluded, "but with an alert and vigorous Chamber of Commerce we expect to get these basic elements in our new program off the ground and in good working condition during 1957."

Association Asks Donors To Aid Task

An undetermined sum of money may have been stolen from the receipts of the Seal Fund sale here by a temporary post office clerk who Monday was held in $1000 bail by U. S. Commissioner Peter Nelligan on a charge of theft.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Arlyne F. Hassett said that Joseph A. Beradi, 22, of Brighton avenue, Allston, who was attached to the West Newton Post Office, admitted taking $40 from letters addressed to the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, and from letters containing birthday cards and donations.

According to officials of the Tuberculosis association, the total sum may well run into several hundreds of dollars yet there is no way of knowing how much was taken until a thorough check has been made.

Beradi has been at the West Newton post-office since November 1, 1955 in the capacity of a temporary postal clerk.

Change Sick Leave Law By 14-2 Vote

By a 14 to 2 vote, the Board of Aldermen Monday night approved the recommendation of Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., that the words "or to have attempted to obtain" be added to Section 2.133 of the Sick Leave ordinance so that the section now reads:

"Any employee who shall be found by the mayor, after a hearing to have obtained or to have attempted to obtain, sick leave pay contrary to this division, or through any misrepresentation by him or by any other person in connivance with him, shall not be entitled to the benefit of this division for a period of one year after such finding."

Aldermen Benjamin Shattuck and Leo M. Cannon dissented against the amendment.

Examination Passed by 9 Lieutenants

Nine fire lieutenants out of 17 in this city who took and passed the examination for captain and those who did not pass have two weeks from Jan. 14 in which to file appeals with the State Civil Service Commission. If none file an appeal, the Commission has six months in which to establish a list in order of eligibility for the position. The examination was given Nov. 17.

The alphabetical list of those who passed the examination is as follows:

Charles W. Cassidy of 65 North street, Newton Centre, Louis A. Colella of 100 Westland avenue, West Newton, Harold DeDomingo of 12 Spring street, Newton Upper Falls.

George E. Herlihy of 29 Warwick road, West Newton.

Furcolo Faces Fight Over Removal Of Department Heads
Governor Foster Furcolo appears to be heading slowly but steadily toward a series of showdown battles over the removal of several State department heads who are holdovers from the Herter administration.
Former Governor Christian A. Herter was able to accomplish a bloodless and—outwardly at least—painless purge of the top officials he desired to replace when he assumed office four years ago.
William F. Callahan resigned as head of the State public works department to devote himself to his duties as chairman of the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.
Daniel Murphy stepped down from his post as State commissioner of public safety to his permanent position in the State police.
Edgar F. Copell retired on pension from the chairmanship of the Metropolitan District Commission and accepted a job in private industry.
Callahan, Murphy and Copell, holding key State posts when Herter was inaugurated in 1953, all relinquished them without a struggle.

Celebration-

the week which will reach a climax with the annual Open House program on Saturday, February 2, 1957.

Tuesday noon will see a large gathering of Newton clergymen meeting at a luncheon served by members of the YMCA Women's Auxiliary Thursday evening will see a Homecoming-type reunion where scores of older members and former members of the Y will get together for a banquet and a gab session. Also on Thursday evening will be a Junior High School girls' aquatic demonstration and swimming meet.

Friday will feature a father and son's night with the boys and their dads getting together for an evening of entertainment in the pool and boys' lobby. And of course Saturday will see hundreds of people visiting and observing the scores of activities scheduled for Open House.

The Newton YMCA has been serving the city of Newton and surrounding communities for 79 years with the general purpose of building better men and women for a more Christian society. It touches thousands of individuals in its variety of activities ranging from providing a dormitory room for a young man away from home to helping a middle-aged business man keep physically fit. In the year that has just passed the Newton YMCA enrolled 4,371 different boys, girls, men and women and provided programs and facilities for hundreds more on a non-member basis.

The Newton YMCA cordially invites everyone to visit the Y building which is located at 276 Church street, Newton, during this celebration of YMCA Week.

Theft-

The local seal fund sale here is approximately $3,000 behind its quota yet officials state other factors no doubt have contributed to this deficit and that the theft of mail is in no way attributed as the cause of this total deficit.

But in order to determine, if possible, just how much was lost in the way of contributions, the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association stated that they are now sending out 5,000 return postal cards to those individuals who have not replied to the appeal this year.

In addition association officials are also asking those who received reminder cards to either write or call the association and let it know whether they did, or did not, contribute this year to the local Seal Sale drive. In this way association officials hope to determine somewhere near the actual amount of donations which are missing.

The association has one month in which to determine the amount of money missing and then report the sum to the Post Office Inspection Department, who in turn will notify the insurance company of the amount involved.

In the meantime, association officials strongly urge all those who sent cash to the association or those whose checks have not cleared through the bank, to make known the fact as soon as possible so that a fairly accurate picture of the theft may be obtained.

Church Youth Sponsors Play

Warren Jr. High Notes

Clubs Around At Warren

As a result of the interest shown by the pupils, and the versatility of the members of the faculty, many new and interesting clubs have been formed.

These clubs meet with their teacher-sponsor each Wednesday afternoon during the sixth period. Some of these groups are service clubs which perform a definite function such as the Red Cross Club, the Student Council and the Publicity Club. Others serve as an outlet for pupils' interest in some particular field such as the Stamp and Coin Club, Art Club and Travel Club.

The organizations this year include, Silk Screen Club, Mr. Manghue; Metal, Mr. Keller; Wood, Mr. Roberts; Knitting, Miss Sheehan; Drama, Mr. Purpel; Glee Club, Miss Scavner; Flying Club, Mr. Manuel; Stamp and Coin, Mr. Manning; Travel, Mr. Lynn; Publicity Club, Mr. Smith; Student Council, Mr. Newton; Art Club, Mr. Holl; Red Cross, Mrs. Daudelin; Crochet Club, Miss Holmstrom and the Band and Orchestra, Mr. Marotto.

Approximately 400 Warren boys and girls participate in these activities each week.

Educational Background: Salem High School, Massachusetts Maritime Academy, Salem State Teacher's College—B.S. in Education, Boston University—M.Ed. Presently studying for Doctorate at Boston University. Teaching Experience: Seventh grade level in San Lorenzo, California.

Home Town: Salem, Mass. Travel: All of the United States, most of Europe, Central and South America, Guam, Kwajalein, Hawaii, and Johnston Island.

Family: Wife, Eunice, and three daughters: Catherine, Maureen, and Martha. Opinion of Newton: "Without a doubt, Newton is one of the finest communities for one to live in. Its schools and citizens enjoy an outstanding reputation which they justly deserve."

Woosh!
During the vacation several members of grade 8 and 9 took part in a four-day ski trip to Big Bromley in Vermont. Those who tried their luck on the "boards" were Edith Prentice, Joan Garrey, Justin Francis, Jay Bryant, and Ralph Garrett. After several lessons, all were skiing like "experts." The tow and lifts at the ski area provided nearly as much fun as the skiing. Joan Garrey won the award for having the distinction of being the last one to fall.

Over-optimism About T.B. Means Trouble Ahead

A warning of trouble ahead in the fight against tuberculosis if present over-optimism continues was voiced today by Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, vice president of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, who points out that the phenomenal success of modern medicines in curing TB patients has overshadowed the fact that progress in preventing spread of the disease has been slow.

"If over-optimism about TB tempts us to let down our efforts against the disease," advises Dr. Sylvester, "we could have an increase in new cases of the disease." Last year there were approximately 100,000 new cases of TB reported in the United States, one new case every half hour.

In urging support of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, Dr. Sylvester emphasizes that anti-TB drugs have not changed the character of this chronic, debilitating disease which may leave its victims with permanent disabilities even though drugs and other methods of treatment now used often prevent death from TB. "Our Christmas Seal contributions are used throughout the year to help prevent the spread of TB," commented Dr. Sylvester. "We're helping ourselves when we help in the fight against TB."

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, which conducts Newton's only voluntary tuberculosis prevention and control activities, is currently completing the traditional annual local Christmas Seal Sale, from which it derives its sole support. The Association is still in need of over $3,000 to reach the minimum budget necessary to continue all of its current programs during the next fiscal year.

Win Puts High Flying Tiger Sextet Up Near The Top

After an eight day layoff, the Newton hockey team returned to action with a well-earned 3-1 victory over the Captabs of Cambridge Latin. The victory pushed the high-flying Tigers to within one point of first place, as the GBI race becomes tighter than the recent National League baseball race.

Kelley played a fine game in the nets for the Hallmen, and got an exceptional fine game from his defensemen, Cornish and Fitzgerald. High scorer Ronny O'Laughlin and Pete

Thompson teamed up with Fitzgerald to be the Tiger lighters, while Hickey scored the lone Cantab goal. The victory enabled Newton to snap their tie with Latin and move right into the thick of the battle for play-off berths.

This week Newton has two really big games, and a pair of victories could put them right on top of the league. Wednesday it will be Belmont Hill, and Saturday a live-wire Medford team. That Medford game looks like a sure thing for Newton, but the Blue and White are considered a live underdog, capable of pulling the upset.

In other big GBI weekend games, Melrose rose to the occasional and outplayed Arlington, 2-1, in a real close checking hard fought hockey game. Belmont clobbered Rindge Tech, 10-0, and Medford took Stoneham, 2-0. If you remember, Stoneham upset the Tigers two weeks back and Newton will have to up for that Medford game.

Tiger Track Team With Burst Of Speed Wins B.A.A. Title

The high-flying Newton track team came on with a burst of speed in the final event of the day to squeeze by Rindge Tech in winning the B.A.A. Track Title. In the triangular relay race between Rindge, Newton, and Malden, the Orange and Black placed second and that gave them the two point margin of victory. Rindge was second, with Watertown, Weymouth and Boston Technical finishing in that order.

This marked the fourth straight triumph for the Boyermakers of Newton, and it was by far their biggest and most important win. However, they will have to be on their toes next Saturday when they meet Rindge in an all-important dual meet. Needless to say the Tech boys will be out for revenge, after being eked out by the Tigers.

As expected, the shotput provided one of the most exciting events of the evening, with three boys shattering the old record. DeNitto of Watertown, Beasley of Brookline, and Bono of Technical of Boston, all bettered 52 ft. 10 in. In the 45 yd. hurdles and the 1000 yd. run, records were broken, and a record was tied in the 50 yd. dash. Malden put up a great effort in the relay but fell one tenth of a second off the record.

- Political Overtones -

They were summoned quietly to the Governor's office. After private conferences with Herter, they revealed that they were stepping aside. No information was given as to what transpired when they met with the Governor. As far as the public was concerned, they gave up their jobs of their own volition.

Furcolo, however, has not had the same success Herter achieved in gaining control of the positions in which he desires to place men of his own choosing.

Richard Preston of Hamilton, head of the State Department of Commerce, and Matthew J. Collins of Lanesboro, a member of the State Milk Control Commission, both have spurned requests by Governor Furcolo that they submit their resignations.

Collins, incidentally, is a Democrat and originally was appointed to the old Milk Control Board by former Governor Paul A. Dever and was reappointed by Herter, when that board was reorganized in 1953.

While there is little doubt but that Furcolo could muster the necessary votes in the Executive Council to accomplish the removal of both Preston and Collins, the political battle which would erupt would be very likely to leave a mark upon Furcolo. Most political observers believe that a Governor injures himself to some degree whenever he involves himself in an ouster battle.

Furcolo, of course has cast the die in the case of both Preston and Collins. Since it is now public knowledge that he sought their resignation, he has no alternative but to force them out. He would lose face politically if he did not do so.

One wing in the Furcolo camp has been pressuring the Governor to oust State Commissioner of Public Safety Otis M. Whitney, State Public Works Commissioner Carl A. Sheridan and Chairman Charles Greenough of the Metropolitan District Commission. They are holding positions which Herter early in 1953 insisted be vacated by the Dever holdovers.

Whitney, however, appears to be completely safe from any removal proceedings. A former member of the Executive Council and popular with Democrats as well as Republicans, he probably could muster enough support to beat back any attempt to throw him out. Furcolo would be hard pressed to marshal the necessary votes to fire him and is not likely to try.

Sheridan also is a former member of the Governor's Council. While he doesn't seem quite as well fortified as Whitney against a possible ouster assault, his removal would not be an easy undertaking. Furcolo and Sheridan met at least twice before the present Governor assumed office. The nature of their talks was not divulged, but persons close to Sheridan assert that he will not resign.

Governor Furcolo told reporters at a recent press conference that he had given some thought to Sheridan's status but did not go beyond that statement. There has been no hint as to Furcolo's attitude toward MDC Chairman Greenough.

A dramatic aspect to any removal proceedings brought by Governor Furcolo would be that able, young Executive Councilor Christian A. Herter, Jr., would be certain to offer a vigorous defense of his father's appointees.

Long Session For Legislature

It now appears likely that this year's session of the Massachusetts Legislature will be one of the longest in the history of the State. That probably will be one of the results of Governor Furcolo's recommendation for the creation of a super-commission to make an overall study of State needs.

With such a commission submitting periodic reports and proposals, the likelihood is that the legislators will be in session on Beacon Hill practically all year.

Republican strategists have privately decided that they will not make any all-out fight to block the establishment of the commission which Furcolo advocated in his special message last week.

Some GOP members of both the Senate and the House, who already have issued statements declaring that the commission sought by Furcolo is unnecessary, may vote against the measure when it reaches those two bodies.

However, the Republican high command will not make the matter a party issue. This means that the proposal should be passed swiftly by the GOP-dominated Senate as well as the Democratic-controlled House.

Democratic leaders have been anticipating that the first big battle of the 1957 legislative session would be fought over the question of setting up the super-commission which Furcolo wants. They felt that it might set the stage for the first test of strength in the Senate where the Republicans hold a 21-19 majority. That will not prove to be the case.

While privately disclosing that they will not wage a showdown fight on the issue, Republican chieftains predict that a thorough, painstaking audit of the State's needs would slow down the legislative session to a very substantial degree.

Furcolo in his speech to the Legislature last week declared that he would seek the initial reports from the commission not later than April 15 and added that the commission "should complete its work as soon as possible in order that legislation may be presented during this session of the General Court."

In view of the number and complexity of the proposals outlined by Furcolo in his deferred inaugural message, it seems improbable that the super-commission, however, much it speeded up its deliberations, could complete its work and submit its final report any earlier than next autumn.

The Governor apparently intends that the commission make periodic or piece-meal reports which he, presumably, would in turn relay along to the Legislature.

Even with all the legislative obstacles and road-blocks eliminated, the likelihood is that the commission will not begin functioning before Feb. 15, if, indeed, it begins that soon.

When it does start, it must deliberate on some 55 different recommendations made by Governor Furcolo, with each proposal probably requiring a substantial amount of study. Any report it made by April 15 would necessarily be a pretty sketchy one.

The Baby Hoover Commission, which was set up under former Governor Paul A. Dever and functioned in a somewhat similar capacity, sat for almost four years and spent approximately $250,000. The super-commission would be tackling a job just about as difficult.

If the proposed new super-commission envisioned by Furcolo can make an exhaustive study embracing the needs of the entire Commonwealth and reach all its findings in time so that the Legislature can complete its deliberations and prorogue before next Christmas, it will have done remarkably well.

Right now the outlook is for a long, drawn-out legislative session.

Senate Row Insignificant

The row in the Massachusetts Senate over the Democratic and Republican floor leaderships, two posts which carry with them an additional $2500-a-year in salary for the incumbents, was a political tempest in a thimble.

Senate President Newland H. Holmes remedied the situation by simply notifying Senate Clerk Hayden in writing that Senator John E. Powers of South Boston is the Democratic floor leader and Senator Charles W. Hedges of Quincy the Republican floor leader.

What isn't generally known, however, is that Holmes, after defeating Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton for the Senate presidency earlier this month, offered Graham the position of Republican floor leader as a gesture of appeasement. Graham declined it, and Holmes then named Hedges as the Senate's majority floor leader.

As long as the oldest observer at the State House can remember, the Senate president always has appointed the majority party's floor leader in the upper legislative branch. The minority party members choose their floor leader in a caucus, but the president has been free to designate anyone of his choosing as the majority floor leader.

Two years ago, former Senate President Richard I. Furbush named Holmes as Republican floor leader of the Senate. In 1953 and 1951 Furbush appointed ex-Senator Charles J. Innes to the same post.

As a matter of fact, an agreement Furbush was forced to make in 1955 in return for the support of the Graham wing in the Senate was that he would drop Innes as floor leader and name Holmes in his place.

Because both Holmes and Powers are indignant over the failure of Hayden to certify Hedges and Powers as the floor leaders of their respective parties on the Senate payroll, some of the power now possessed by the Senate clerk may be taken away from him and transferred to the body's rules committee.

Fund Distribution Unfair

Representative Stephen T. Chmura of Holyoke made out a pretty good case this week to show that Massachusetts is not being treated fairly by the national government in the distribution of federal funds.

Chmura declared that Massachusetts ranks 15th among the 48 States in contributions to the federal governments but stands 38th in getting matching federal funds to help finance its own projects.

He said that last year the Bay State received $1,760,000 in federal highway funds, while Missouri got $10,598,000, North Carolina $7,797,000 and Indiana $7,502,000.

That doesn't seem quite right to Representative Chmura, and it doesn't exactly impress this observer as an equitable distribution. Our guess would be that Massachusetts has more automobiles than any of those three States.

According to the figures quoted by Chmura, Georgia was given $2,999,000 in federal money for the erection of new schools, while Massachusetts was allowed a scant $177,000 for the same purpose.

He said that Georgia was given $2,557,000 for hospital construction, while Massachusetts received $959,000.

Representative Chmura maintains that Massachusetts is helping to subsidize Southern States which for years have been stealing our industries.

It would seem that Senators Leverett Saltonstall and John F. Kennedy might well take a long, hard look at the figures cited by Chmura.

"A Citizen's Handbook"

Writing in the Massachusetts Law Quarterly, Mr. William J. Curran, Associate Professor of Law at the Boston College Law School, says, "Probably the least well-known of the three basic levels of government in this country, federal, state, and local, is the state government." In his review of the recently published book, "A Citizen's Handbook," Mr. Curran continues, "It is surprising how many persons, including educators, believe they know something about government if they have been exposed to some of the broad generalities which abound in this field. Here is a practical treatment of the subject with a view to the realities of the subject—and without evident political bias."

Mr. Curran, who lives at 599 Chestnut street, Newton, is also a lecturer in Law and Legal Medicine at the Harvard Medical School. He is editor-in-chief of the Annual Survey of Massachusetts Law, where in he is writing the article on State Government. Formerly assistant director of the Institute of Government at the University of North Carolina, Mr. Curran has been a consultant on various governmental projects. This background, he said, "is what has given me an interest in work such as that produced by the League."

With the recent opening of the new session of the General Court, the section on "The Legislature: A Uniquely Democratic Body" is especially timely. Of this, Mr. Curran has said: "The Chapter on the General Court is extremely well done. It offers a brief, interesting, and highly accurate summary of the organization, functions, and procedures of the Massachusetts state legislature. There is a good outline of the procedure for passage of a bill into law. The discussion of the unique Massachusetts committee system, the joint committees of House and Senate, is well done with some interesting statistics indicating the unequal workloads from committee to committee. The newly-formed Legislative Council is examined and note is contained on Recess Commissions. There is an astute criticism of the extended length of the legislative sessions in recent years with a listing of the various suggestions which have been made to expedite matters.

Written by more than thirty members of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, "A Citizen's Handbook" was published last June by the Harvard University Press. This book may be purchased at the Bookshelf in Newtonville, the Langley Bookstore in Newton Centre or from the Publications Chairman of the Newton League, Mrs. Stanley Ebb, Bigelow 4-1724.

Newton Hears Blinded Writer

Victor Riesel, labor columnist blinded by hoodlums last year for his expose of racketeering in the unions, spoke in Newton Sunday morning to a capacity crowd at a Temple Emanuel Brotherhood breakfast.

Exposing an indomitable personality to his audience of 600, Riesel termed his blindness "inconvenient, but that's it" and called the tragic attack that left him permanently sightless "just one more event in the fight against totalitarianism."

Opening with a barrage of funny stories that caused the crowd to forget the handicap he now labors under, Riesel charmed his Newton listeners with his wit, gaiety and undiminished zest for life. But he became serious when he described certain unions in America as "powers above the law," and likened them to the Nazi stormtroopers who originated in the underworld.

Although he said he had encountered no union racketeering in Boston, Riesel cited lawless abuses in the garment, food and construction industries and in the bricklaying and teamsters unions in other cities that "betrayed the interests of the working people and set up a dictatorship of the proletariat."

While insisting that he did not condemn all unions—only the racketeers in some of them—Riesel stated that the worst of them were covering up an incipient fascism and used Communist methods—terror, blackmail, frame-ups—to accomplish their purposes.

In answer to a question from the floor as to the possible solutions of this situation, Riesel urged that the decent forces of labor join with the government at the insistence of an aroused public to investigate quickly cases of union abuses. "If the great masses do not move," he concluded "the killers and betrayers will stalk the world."

Riesel was introduced by Ernest Hoftzyer, assistant publisher of the Hearst papers in Boston, who was seated at the head table along with Joseph G. Deitz, Temple Emanuel president; Harold Glickman, Brotherhood president; Harry I. Fisher, Dr. Percy Lightman, and Frank Metcalf, vice-presidents; Dr. Samuel Toll, Roland Deutsch, Leonard Kabler, Edward Wishnow, Rabbi Albert I. Gordon and Cantor Gabriel Hochberg.

George L. Roberts of Newton is program chairman of the Brotherhood.

Rawson Files Shoplifting Bill

Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton has joined with Daniel Bloomfield, executive secretary of the Boston Retail Trade Board, in filing a bill to furnish more effective means of dealing with shoplifters. According to Rawson, shoplifting losses are running very high and are a matter of grave concern to retail businessmen.

The bill provides that a peace officer, a merchant, or a merchant's employee may use reasonable force to detain for questioning any person he has reason to believe has committed larceny of goods, without becoming liable for false arrest, false imprisonment, or unlawful detention. The bill was heard Wednesday by the Committee on Legal Affairs.

Council of Churches Plans to Explore the Refugee Problem

The Mid-Winter Dinner Meeting of the Newton Council of Churches, comprised of 24 churches in Newton and the Y.M.C.A., was held Monday evening at 6:30 P.M. at the Newton Y.M.C.A. with an attendance of over 100 delegates and ministers of its membership. Following a catered dinner, the business meeting was presided over by Ernst O. Seyfarth of Second Church (Congregational in West Newton) president.

Rev. Sidney Adams (pastor of Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale), Executive Secretary of the Council brought word of the latest developments with regard to sponsorship of Hungarian refugees by church interests, pointing out that under the new and present governmental methods of admitting such refugees, now under direction of the Justice Department, they are apportioned for community acceptance in bus load or plane load groups rather than individually or in small family groups as heretofore. Such methods of allotment from Camp Kilmer, by weight of numbers in a group, practically preclude most individual churches from sponsorship. For practical reasons Councils of Churches are better able to accept groups, apportioning refugees to its members' able to cooperate in the care of these people.

The Council voted to request each member church to designate a member of its Social Relations Committee to meet at the Second Church in West Newton tomorrow (Friday), at 8 p.m., to ascertain the opinions of those actually engaged in refugee settlement, and to explore receptive potentialities of the member churches.

The president stated that ministers of the member churches, and the Council's Executive Board, have long been interested in, and have explored, the possibility of a Religious Census in Newton to be conducted in conjunction with the National Teaching Mission as a new tool in furthering the basic purpose of the church.

A symposium followed, outlining the advantages of such a project and the methods employed including the actual taking of such census, tabulation, etc. Eminent speakers in the field of a Religious Census and the National Teaching Mission, invited guests of the Council, were heard and included Rev. Forrest Musser, pastor of First Congre-

Describes Approach to Foreign Policy As "Alternatives"

An audience of more than 250 Newton citizens braved the frigid weather Jan. 15 to hear Dr. Max F. Millikan, director of the Center for International Studies at M.I.T., describe his approach to Foreign Policy as a "concept" of constructive alternatives. Rather than act "from crisis to crisis," we should think of the effects of our policies over long periods of time, he said.

Speaking on the subject, "A New Look At U. S. Foreign Policy," before a meeting sponsored by the League of Women Voters of Newton at the Beechcroft School last night, Dr. Millikan said that our foreign policy was concerned with three areas. The first area, that of the Soviet Union and other nations in the Soviet bloc are our most serious problem. Our approach to the problems connected with Russia frequently has repercussions in our dealings with the other main areas, that of Western Europe and that of Western Asia, termed the Afro-Asian bloc. For the first time in a decade, Dr. Millikan stated, our relationship with Western Europe poses serious problems for this country. Since World War II, the Afro-Asian nations have been playing an increasingly important role on the world scene.

The aim of developing Dr. Millikan's "concept of positive alternatives" is to influence the behavior of other nations to act in our interest, by making some realistic alternative more attractive than an action which would not be in our interest. The question to ask ourselves is "What kind of choice would we like to see them make?"

Some conflict is inevitable, Dr. Millikan said, since contradictions are often involved. On one hand, we desire to maintain our solidarity with Western Europe, while on the other hand, we desire to secure the friendship of the Afro-Asian bloc.

The alternatives facing the Soviet Union in its foreign policy are the choice of the use of military aggression or subversion in other sections of the world. It would be to our advantage to convince the Soviet that the best chance for survival would be to cooperate with us to obtain a secure armament and inspection agreement. Other decisions facing those in power in Russia involve the techniques used in the control of the "empire they rule," that is, the continuation of complete Stalinist type of police suppression, or a more permissive type of government which would rely largely on the desire of peoples for cooperation.

The Russian government is also faced with the problem of how to use their own resources and energies — on behalf of the people within the Soviet Union or to extend their influence. In our policies with the Soviet, we must convince other nations and people that we are not beligerently or hysterically "anti-Russian," but "anti-aggression."

The present Soviet leaders, Dr. Millikan said, are deeply indoctrinated with the Marxist conviction that they must rule the world to survive, but he has reason to believe that there are "major elements" in Soviet society capable of conceiving positive alternate ways of conducting foreign policy. This element is taking less seriously the theory of "capitalistic encirclement." The "probable" perspective in one or two decades of the focus of Soviet leaders is undergoing an evolutionary process.

If we can convince them that aggression is too costly, perhaps those responsible for Russian policy can see ways of preserving security without the necessity of a military force greater than that of anyone else.

In Western Europe, one of the major problems Dr. Millikan described was the need persuading the colonial powers to accept the need for colonial independence, while preserving their influential world role and access to raw materials and energies.

The key problems confronting every leader of an independent nation in the Afro-Asian group is the need for a "national symbol." Until the independent status was attained, the symbol around which the people rallied had been "foreign domination." A "shift of focus," such as Nehru's five-year plans in India is necessary. Alternatives facing leaders are whether to build a "set of domestic objectives" or to try to erect real or imaginary foes to mobilize people around the leader. We can help these nations select the alternative we prefer by more effective use of the United Nations and by providing capital for technical assistance. It is important for us, said Dr. Millikan, to hold out opportunity as well as security on dignified terms.

Mrs. Joseph Miller, chairman of the project "Focus on the Future," introduced Dr. Millikan. She described the project as the League's contribution toward providing information and creating an interest in the need and requirements for a sound foreign policy for the future.

A lively question and answer period, moderated by Mrs. Seymour Getter, Newton League President, followed Dr. Millikan's address. Ushers were students sponsored by the American Field Service Committee.

Meat Cutting Demonstration By Star Market

A demonstration of meat cutting by Star Market experts, will be given at the Graphic Cooking School next Wednesday afternoon at Masonic Hall, Newtonville.

This will be an added feature to the lecture by Miss Susan Mack of the Boston Gas Co. and her assistants.

The expert will cut a ham and demonstrate the best method of carving poultry and several other types of meat.

He will show how Star Market trims the fat and waste from meat before packaging so that the customer gets the best value.

In wrapping meat for its self-service counters the customer gets what he wants, and can see what he is getting as there is nothing hidden.

The main purpose of the demonstration will be to explain how to get the most out of a piece of meat and stretch the customer's meat budget.

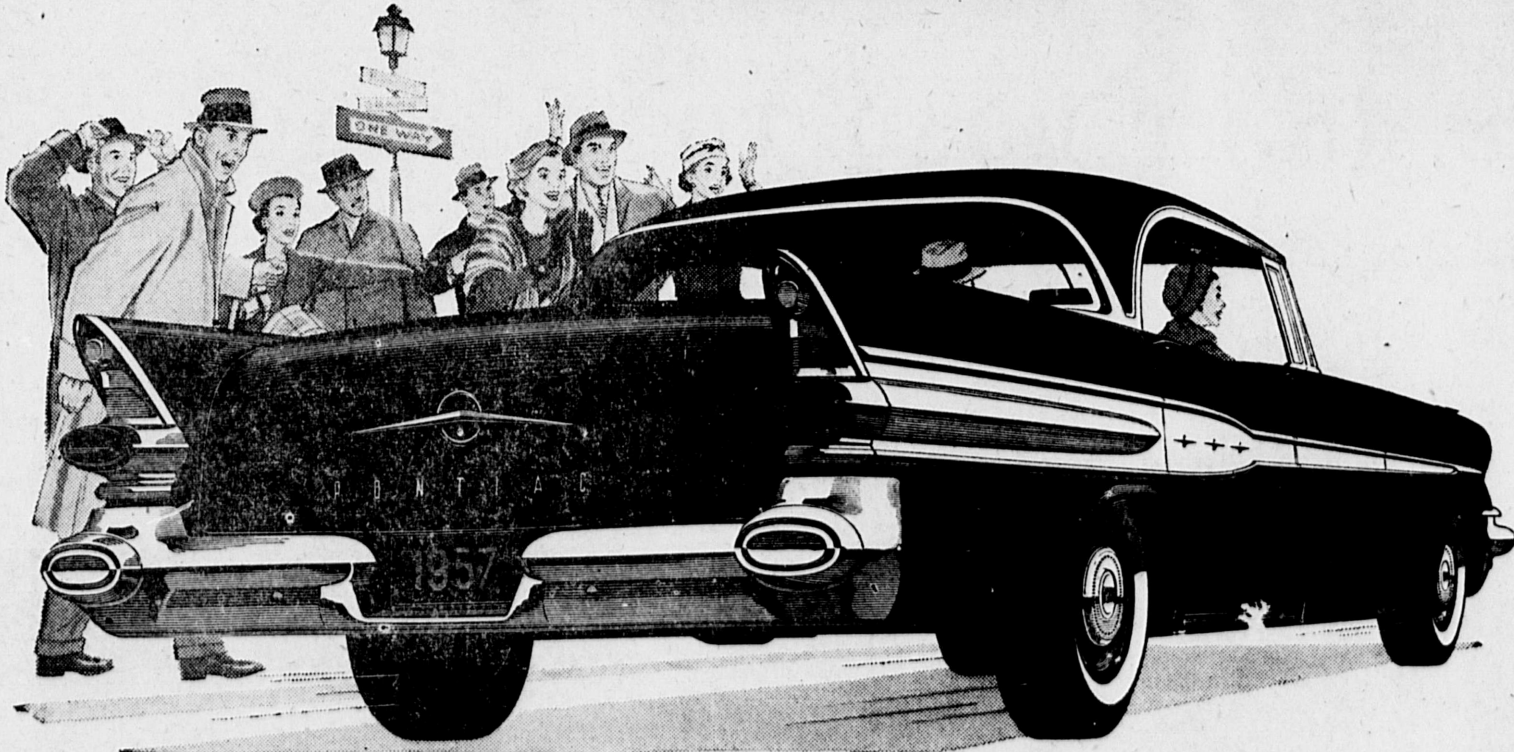

He will show how to make a piece of meat go farther to feed a family in the most economical manner.

A young woman assistant will be with him to wrap the pieces of cut meat, which will be given away to members of the audience at the school.

His demonstration will prove of great value to housewives in obtaining the best meat values.

Museum's Owl Wasn't Stuffed - Just Snoozing

Spooky, pet Great Horned Owl at Boston's Museum of Science gave at least one recent Museum visitor the wrong impression by taking time out for a short snooze.

After watching the bird, immobile except for an occasional half-lift of an eyelid, a baffled 10-year-old boy finally turned to veteran Museum guard John J. McGreevy of Medford and queried, "Is there a motor in that thing?"

"All you do is scratch the wood (around Spooky's glassed-in exhibit case) and he'll wake up," responded McGreevy.

The boy and Spooky did, just in time to prove that any connection between a stuffed owl and this talented star of stage and television is wholly erroneous.

Lower Falls—The boy scouts will hold a rummage sale on Saturday, Feb. 2 at the Methodist Church. Proceeds will be used for repairs to the scouts' cabin at Nobscot. Rummage may be left at the Lower Falls Library or at the Methodist Church.

Tips For Motorists On How To Beat Cold Days

Charge your battery yourself by fast idling the motor a half hour a week. . . . Get one of the new home battery chargers that plug into the house circuit and the car's cigarette lighter. . . . Add an anti-freeze to your gas tank. . . .

These are a few tips on easy cold weather starting from the service expert of the American Automobile Association.

Stanley Gubala, road service manager for AAA's Massachusetts Division, points out: "Sudden cold snaps catch many drivers with their batteries down and others with their carburetors on ice." During the recent cold spell thousands of Greater Boston AAA members called for emergency service. In nearly every case the complaint was the same: "Car won't start!" And, the AAA official emphasizes, winter has scarcely begun, there's plenty more cold weather ahead.

Even if you are unable to garage your car, low temperatures need not render you immobile, according to Gubala. Motorists who heed his advice will find winter can be a push-over.

"Your battery is the vital part of your car when it comes to winter starting," the AAA service expert says. "Make sure it has the power to do the job. Dead batteries cause more winter trouble than any other single item. At 32 degrees, for instance, your fully charged battery is only 65% efficient; if half charged, it's only 32% efficient. Hardly enough to turn over a cold engine."

Gubala warns motorists that winter driving when you are just creeping along or stopped in long traffic delays can weaken your battery fast, since the drain of lights, heater, defroster, radio, etc. is tremendous.

Here are some tips on keeping your battery up, right out of the AAA service expert's book:

1. If you drive only short runs in winter, give the battery a twice a week boost yourself by 15 minutes of fast idling. Best time is soon after starting the engine, because the generator has a higher charging rate then. Don't race the motor; a fast idle equals 25 mph. And don't run the radio or heater.

2. Home battery chargers about the size of a large book are now on sale for motorists who want to charge their batteries while they sleep. Just plug the device into the house current and attach the outlet to the cigarette lighter. No need to fuss with wire under the hood.

"Carburetor icing is another cause of winter stalling," the AAA service manager notes.

"On cold mornings a frosty ice forms inside the carburetor blocking air passages and causing stalls at idling speed until the carburetor warms up. Anti-icing additives or gasoline anti-freezes help this situation. Don't let gas in your tank get too low in cold weather."

Mrs. P. F. Pond Heads Women's Republican Club

Mrs. Parker F. Pond, of Newton Centre, was elected president of the Newton Women's Republican Club at a meeting held last night in Waban.

Attorney Samuel Sears was the guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Sears electrified the audience by his address before the club. His topic was "Republican Life Savers." Attorney Sears traced the roles prominent Republican men played in saving the lives of the condemned.

Giuseppe de Lellis, concert pianist, further added to the enjoyment of the evening by his splendid artistry at the piano.

Other members elected to the Board of the Club beside the president, Mrs. Parker Pond, were Mrs. Abbott Spear, Mrs. Charles F. Hovey, Mrs. Calvin W. Clayton, Mrs. Michael P. Nella, Miss Margaret Magoley, Mrs. Edward C. Becherer, Mrs. David M. Schulman, Mrs. John R. Roy, Mrs. Harold R. Keller, Mrs. George S. Hill, Mrs. Annie G. Asaff, Mrs. Denholm M. Jeffrey Cohen, Grade Nine Bigelow went down in defeat at the hands of Warren in their first basketball game of the season to the tune of 41-34. The Red and Blue never really threatened during the entire game. Warren's York scored most of the team's points. The score at the quarter was 16-8 Warren. Then for the first time Bigelow got hot with Bob Stam, Alan Copeland, and Jim Wein providing the spark. But their surge was short lived; Warren forged ahead and had no trouble from the Bigelow boys.

There were many reasons for Bigelow's slow start: they were unorganized at times; they weren't working the ball into the center and forwards; and finally they were shooting from well past the foul circle. However, Bigelow has good potential and with practice could blossom into the best team in the league.

The Junior Varsity won their game easily, 25-12.

NINTH GRADE CANTEN

Renee Breznjak, Grade Nine
Our second ninth grade canteen of the year was Jan. 4.

It was a gala event, celebrating the end of vacation and the reopening of school. Decorations, refreshments, and a wonderful master of ceremonies, our own Jack Lensed, hoped to make this dance a great success. To all the chaperones and the teachers who helped to give us a Friday night filled with fun goes our great appreciation.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Doris Axelrod, Grade Nine
The Student Council has been sponsoring buses which transport spirited Bigelowites to the basketball games. Bigelow has shown its true interest in the school teams and for this reason buses have been chartered for every game away from home.

The Council has also been sponsoring the sale of Bigelow beanies and emblems made of red and blue felt.

The Council has also formed a social program for seventh and eighth graders during the free period following lunch. Entertainment is sometimes provided by pupils and music comes to the ears of Bigelowites via the juke box.

Newton Centre — A "Mothers of Twins" Club is being formed in Newton to discuss twin-rearing and to exchange clothing and equipment. Interested Newtonites may call Mrs. C. H. Schwab, 126 Sumner street, BI 4-4362, for further information.

Countryside Cub Scouts

At a recent Cub Meeting at the Countryside School, Mr. Yale Goldman, Committee Chairman, announced that the Blue & Gold Dinner (Father and Son) will be held at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, Thursday evening, Feb. 28 at 6:30 p.m. Since Pack 27 is 50 percent larger than at this time last year, a good attendance is expected. Entertainment will be provided for the boys and their Dads. All arrangements are under the jurisdiction of Mr. Charles Dorval and Mr. Meyer Davis. A presentation from the Pack will be made to retiring Cubmaster Bob Grossman.

Cubmaster—Pack 27

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Grossman, 130 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands, Mass., are on an extended trip to Texas and Mexico. Both the Christmases and New Years' holidays were spent while away on this well earned vacation. "Bob" Grossman has been Cubmaster of Pack 27, sponsored by the Countryside Parent-Teachers Assoc.; and Irma (Mrs. Goldman) has been Chief Den Mother, since the inception of this Cub Pack. The Goldmans will be back for the March Pack Meeting.

Mr. Claude Lefever, 33 Goddard street, Newton Highlands, Mass., has been made Cubmaster of Pack 27, succeeding Mr. Robert Grossman, retired. Mr. Lefever conducted his first meeting at the Countryside School last week. Mr. Milton Geffin continues in office as Assistant Cubmaster.

The Cub Scouts of Countryside, Pack 27, plan a trip to the Ford Motor Company at Somerville, Mass., sometime in February. Fifteen Den Mothers have volunteered to provide transportation and to accompany them on a tour of inspection at the Assembly plant. Arrangements for the trip were made by Dr. Louis Anapole.

Mr. Claude Lefever, Cubmaster, officiated at the January meeting of Pack 27 at the Countryside School. The meeting was well attended. Den 10 earned the honor of carrying the flags and leading the parade at the next meeting because of having the most parents in attendance. Achievement awards were made to 22 of the boys and for the first time, Pack 27 had the honor of presenting Den Chief awards to John Flood who has been closely associated with Den 11 for the past six months. Three of the dens put on short skits, all of which were very entertaining and well received.

An inspection tour of the facilities of the Boston Herald Traveler Corp. has been made available to the cub scouts and a trip has been planned for the end of January. Sixteen of the Den Mothers have volunteered to transport the cubs and a most educational visit through the composing room, press room, etc., is eagerly anticipated by the 77 boys who plan to attend.

Community Chorus

The Newton Community Chorus will combine Tuesday night's regular rehearsal with a social hour at the home of their accompanist, Mrs. John Ogden Fisher, at 17 Somerset road, West Newton.

The chorus, open to Newton residents interested in singing choral music, will begin rehearsing for their annual spring concert next week, according to Robert Royster, president.

Director of the group is James H. Remley, music supervisor in the Newton schools. Mrs. Frank P. Pickett is membership chairman and may be reached at LA 7-5371.

Cooking School To Disclose New Look For Chicken Salad

Chicken salad, that great American invention, without which the hostess would be lost, takes on a new look next Wednesday afternoon at the Cooking School sponsored by The Graphic and the Boston Gas Co. Miss Susan Mack, home service director, will be there to greet her many friends and put on an interesting and entertaining show.

It takes imagination to dream up a new way to prepare chicken salad but the results are sure to please your family. When the ladies of Newton and surrounding communities watch this fine dish prepared step-by-step they will be able to duplicate the recipe in their own kitchens, right down to the last sprig of garnish.

Not only will appetites be whetted by the sight of this dish, but a spirit of lively competition will be aroused when time comes to award this handsome prize. There will be many other prizes, too, many of them packed in useful oven-proof Pyrex glassware. A gay pink dustpan and brush, many bags of groceries, some individual food packages, orders for milk, all will be distributed to some lucky ladies. Plenty of money-saving coupons and samples for everybody. Remember the date, Wednesday, January 30, at 1:45 p.m. at Masonic Hall, Newtonville. Doors open at 1 o'clock.

Admission free. Come, and bring your friends, too. You may all win prizes.

Race Relations Question Of Communication

The guest speaker at the Newton Rotary Club Monday, was Richard P. Lewis, Editor of the Franklin, New Hampshire, Journal-Transcript. Mr. Lewis spoke to the Rotary membership on his recent trip to Mississippi as part of a visiting delegation of New England newspaper editors.

Mr. Lewis pointed out that in his opinion the major problem involved in the race relations question was one of communication between the races. Will the Negroes and Whites sit down together and reach reasonable conclusions, Mr. Lewis asked. In his opinion, the decision as to whether such a meeting will take place rests with the White people of the State of Mississippi.

Mr. Lewis was careful to point out further that very often in his conversations with White leaders of Mississippi, the point was made that integration is unfeasible because the educational standards of the Whites are far superior to the standards which are characteristic of the Mississippi Negroes. Mr. Lewis admitted that the standards are indeed different, but he maintained that this significant fact is "a result of segregation, but hardly justification for its continuance."

The vicious cycle type of reasoning which this argument represents must be broken somewhere along the line, and Mr. Lewis made it clear that in his opinion integration can very well begin at the lower levels of education, such as kindergarten and first grade, in the hope that in the course of the next few years integration will move up into the upper elementary grades and into the high school system of the State of Mississippi. In this way the difference in educational standards will soon be overcome and that particular problem solved.

Mr. Lewis made it clear that there has been a great deal of building in the State of Mississippi. Many new educational structures have been erected for Negro education as well as for Whites. But the physical educational facilities and the quality of such facilities does not yet guarantee equality of education. Equality of education can only result from integration. "The educated Negro want integration. He wants full citizenship. He doesn't want to be treated like White people, he wants to be treated like people," Mr. Lewis explained that all that the Mississippi Negro wants is the guarantee of his fundamental rights as a human being.

Mr. Lewis is convinced, as a result of his recent stay in Mississippi, that continued segregation is an impossible situation; that integration must come and will come sooner than most White Mississippians expect. The clock cannot be turned back, and progress in this direction is certainly inevitable.

Gordon MacRae and his wife, Sheila, will co-star in the TV version of an old favorite, "One Sunday Afternoon," for Lux Video Theater the end of this month. And the producers have a problem. Since the show will be done in color, they don't know whether or not to keep in the "Strawberry Blonde" song. If they do, Sheila will have to tint her blonde tresses to match the words.

John Conte has one of the more active fan clubs in the country. They have 6,000 dues-paying members and have planned a national convention in Hollywood next April. Their idol is the host on the daily matinee show.

TV color coverage of the 1957 Pasadena Rose Parade illustrated once again that nature can't compete against man when it comes to lighting. The same TV camera produced different colors on the same subject as it panned the beautiful floats.

Singer Patricia Morrison tells friends she has hit upon the TV series format that suits her. She wants to be featured on the exploits of a roving newspaper reporter who covers everything, everywhere.

Chances are she'll even be called to set a broken arm or repair a TV set. That's all right with us... might have dramatic possibilities. But in real life, we all like to rely on a bona fide doctor to mend our bodies. And, if you value your TV set, it pays to rely on professional service people, like us.

Swept-Wing Dodge... only 4 1/2 feet low and all dynamies!

Step into the wonderful world of AUTODYNAMICS

It breaks through the vibration barrier!

Right off the bat, you'll realize there's something entirely different about driving the new Swept-Wing Dodge. You know it's the slickest piece of live action you've ever driven. The most responsive and easiest handling, too.

But the thing that really hits you is the silence! Why, all the irritating noises, all the annoying road sounds common to automobiles have vanished!

For Autodynamics has introduced a revolutionary new suspension system—Dodge Torsion-Aire—that cushions you in a "Realm of Silence." Thick cushions of "live rubber" isolate engine vibration, noise and road shock at its source.

Actually, everything is new in the Swept-Wing Dodge—from new race car torsion bars to new Push-Button TorqueFlite, from new 310 hp. V-8 engine to new Total-Contact Brakes.

This is Autodynamics in action... yours in the most exciting car that's ever come up the pike. See and drive the Swept-Wing Dodge today!

'Sun Time' Not Accurate, Science Museum Explains

What is time?

With a new year just started, John Patterson, director of the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science, points out that time itself is nothing more or less than the "distance between any two events."

Long before the first clock was invented, timekeeping was forced on man with the rising and setting of the sun, says Patterson. But on cloudy days, telling time even roughly was no easy matter.

"The first real timekeeping device probably was the pylon—a lesser version of Bunker Hill Monument," Patterson says. "The people in Charleston can tell time from the Monument on sunny days if they note where the shadow from the peak lands and then make a few allowances for the time of year. People without monuments in their back yards can get the same results with a flagpole," he maintains.

Time can't be told accurately by the sun's position alone, Patterson says, because the earth's movement in relation to the sun is not uniform. For instance, the earth moves fastest in January and slowest in July. To compensate for this, an imaginary "mean sun" which keeps perfect time was "dreamed up" hundreds of years ago. Before this, there was no such thing as accurate time.

"There are only a couple of times a year when this mean sun and the real sun coincide, and then only for a moment," says Patterson.

Although many clock watchers and reluctant risers may wish for a less time-conscious world, Patterson points out that much of man's industrial progress would have been impossible without an accurate yardstick.

"Can you imagine how far we would have come if workers checked into offices and factories whenever they thought it was the 'right' time or if there were no way to time experiments in places like chemistry laboratories?" asks Patterson.

Poisoning Poses Definite Threat To Under-5 Age

Accidental poisoning is of greatest danger to pre-school age children, according to the Health News Institute, New York.

During 1955, 340 youngsters up to five years of age died. This accounted for 32 per cent of all accidental poisonings in the home. The figure compares with only 30 deaths in the 5 to 15 year age group, according to the National Safety Council.

Doctors are prepared for such emergencies. Pediatricians recently received a new manual containing a representative list of 594 household products that might be poisonous, listing recommended treatment. A co-operative effort between doctors and industry, the manual was prepared by the American Academy of Pediatrics and made available by Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of surgical dressings, baby and allied products.

But prevention is much better than an antidote, says the Health News Institute. Here are some ways parents can avoid accidents:

Keep all drugs and chemicals out of reach of children.

Keep the medicine shelf clean. Don't save unused prescription drugs after the need for them has passed.

Don't put drugs or chemicals in food containers.

INCOME TAX FACTS No. 1

How to Save Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information written by the American Institute of Accountants, and the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Between now and April 15 over sixty million Americans must file a tax return to report their 1956 income to the federal government. On the basis of past experience about 1 out of every 4 returns filed will contain an error of $2.00 or more. Last year these errors totaled over $100,000,000.

To help you prepare a correct return and avoid mistakes that cost you tax dollars, this newspaper is printing a series of eight articles prepared with the help of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article deals with problems faced by almost anyone who has to make out a return. Later articles will give special hints on deductions you may take, particularly if you own a car, home or business. Use this series along with the official instruction book which comes free with your tax forms.

Common Mistakes

According to the results of a sampling by the Internal Revenue Service, the mistakes most often made by taxpayers fall into these four groups:

(1) Incorrect listing of income. This is the main source of error, partly because of delectable questions involving business income. Individuals make mistakes too by leaving out such items as interest on savings accounts, dividends and contest winnings, or by including items which are exempt.

(2) Errors in personal deductions. This category includes the deductions taken when the 10 per cent "standard deduction" is not used. Important deductions from income are: state and local taxes, interest paid on loans, charitable contributions, medical expenses, losses from storm, fire, flood or theft.

(3) Claiming too many or too few dependents. Exceptions are allowed for the taxpayer himself and for certain persons he supports, if they fit the definitions in the instruction book.

(4) Faulty arithmetic. This is the cause of the fewest number of errors, but approximately 30 per cent of these arithmetical mistakes are made by the taxpayer against himself, resulting in approximately $19,000,000 in overpayment of taxes.

The first thing to determine is whether you should file a return or not. Everyone whose gross income was $600 or more in 1956 must file a return by April 15, 1957. Even if your income was less than $600 you should file a return if any tax was withheld by your employer and you wish to receive a refund. In any case, if you had as much as $400 earnings from self-employment you must file a return to report those earnings for social security purposes.

Non-Taxable Income
It is important to remember that all income is not taxable. You should not include in your return any income which is listed in the official instruction book as exempt. This includes interest on state and municipal bonds, most government payments to veterans and their families, life insurance proceeds upon death, gifts and social security benefits. The tax instructions from the Internal Revenue Service contain a list of the types of income which should be omitted from your return.

If You Changed Jobs

Here is a special point to watch if you worked for more than one employer during 1956. You may have overpaid your social security tax. Each employer is required to withhold social security amounting to 2 percent of the first $4200 of your wages. If you worked for only one employer, this would amount to $84. However, if you worked for several employers, more than $84 might have been withheld. Check your W-2 withholding slips and see whether the total F.I.C.A. (Federal Insurance Contributions Act) is more than $84. If it is, you can claim credit for the excess in the "taxes withheld" column of your income tax form.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult properly qualified advisors if you decide to seek outside help.

Salvation Army Friendly Appeal Goal $600,000

A $600,000 goal has been set for the 1957 Salvation Army Friendly Annual Appeal in Greater Boston, it was announced by Col. Ralph T. Miller, New England provincial commander.

The famed Salvation Army International Staff Band from London will "kick-off" the Spring drive with a combined concert and tour leadership meeting at the Boston Opera House on May 1.

The money raised maintains 35 agencies including the Red Shield Club for Servicemen, Booth Hospital, South End Boys' Club and Day Nursery. An additional 53 Service Funds disburse money and aid to meet local needs and emergencies such as summer camp for children and disaster services.

The campaign will run the entire month of May.

"Anyone who has a legitimate need will receive help without regard to race or creed," said Col. Miller.

A Disaster That Didn't Happen

Remember when, twenty-odd years ago, it was argued that the growth of chain store merchandising menaced the very existence of the smaller retailers? Punitive federal anti-chain legislation was urged in some quarters, on the grounds that this was the only way to save the independents from swift and sure extinction.

That legislation did not pass. And it's interesting to see just how inaccurate the views were of those who anticipated the doom of the independents.

Godfrey M. Lebar, editor of Chain Store Age, writes that in 1929 the chains accounted for 22.2 percent of a total retail volume of $48 billion. In the latest year for which government figures are available, volume totaled $170 billion and the chains accounted for 23.5 percent. As Mr. Lebar puts it, "In other words, despite all the drastic changes in retailing during the past 25 years, the chains, today, account for practically the same percentage of total sales as they did in 1929."

Why were the prophets of disaster so wrong? The main reason is that they grossly underestimated the abilities and spirit of the independent merchants. These merchants successfully emulated new techniques and ideas pioneered by the chains, and added consumer-attracting innovations of their own. The result is that all kinds of merchandising has gone steadily ahead, each keeping its share of the business—the enormous benefit of the consuming public.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

Factory Orders Up

New orders received by Massachusetts manufacturers in November totaled 9.3% more than a year ago, as reported by Associated Industries. The gains over November 1955 were 54.8% in electrical machinery and equipment, 23.3% in chemicals and 3.5% in the group of miscellaneous industries. Declines were 23.4% in primary metals, 16.2% in fabricated metals, 9.1% in rubber products, 7.7% in textiles, 7.4% in paper and printing, 3.1% in leather and shoes and 2.1% in machinery excluding electrical.

Important Manufactures

Massachusetts stands first among the states in output of glue and gelatin with shipments in 1954 valued at $37,030,000; second in women's, misses' and junior dresses at unit price, shipments of $77,267,000; and from 3rd to 5th in other women's, misses' and juniors' outerwear with shipments totaling $182,745,000. Massachusetts plants shipped $68,060,000 of motor vehicles and parts, and $3,204,000 of compressed and liquefied gases, the 10th largest state in both; $3,115,000 of truck and bus bodies, 13th largest; and $10,147,000 of miscellaneous chemical products, 12th largest state; and $11,294,000 of non-ferrous rolling and drawing mill products, 2nd largest state; as reported by the 1954 Census of Manufacturers.

Anniversaries

Anniversaries of municipal establishment or incorporation in 1957 will include Plympton established as a town June 4, 1707, two and a half centuries ago; Plainfield incorporated as a town June 15, 1807, 150 years ago; Mattapoisett incorporated as a town May 20, 1857 and Chelsea incorporated as a city March 13, 1857, both 100 years ago.

Master Planning

During 1956, sixty-four small cities and towns expressed an interest in the Urban Planning Assistance Program whereby the HHA provides up to 50% of the cost of Master Plan Studies. Thirty-seven municipalities, through their planning boards, have applied for a total of $518,000 worth of Master Plan studies and new requests are coming into the Department of Commerce daily. Communities in Massachusetts under 25,000 population in 1950 may be eligible for approximately 1.5 million more under this federal program as funds are appropriated by Congress. Over 75% of the applications to date have come from the Metropolitan Boston area, which might be expected because this area has been subjected to serious growth problems as the towns develop from semi-rural and suburban size to compact urban communities.

Slight Living Increase Rise Forecast for '57

Massachusetts families can expect a slight increase in living expenses for 1957, says Verda M. Dale, Extension home management specialist at the University of Massachusetts. Living costs have been creeping up all over the nation, but have been rising somewhat faster in this state.

For the nation, the Consumer Price Index, after remaining stable for four years, rose two per cent in the past year, most of this since last spring. In Massachusetts the Department of Commerce reports the cost of consumer goods and services inched up seven per cent in November and stood four per cent above November, 1955.

In this state, the biggest increase over last year occurred in housing — up 5.4 per cent. Families recognize this in such things as higher rents, increased costs of building, and higher interest rates for mortgages. Fuel and light averaged five per cent higher. Food is 3.6 per cent higher, and apparel nearly two per cent higher. In general, these are the trends for the entire United States.

Items that have been climbing the fastest all over the nation are the so-called "service items"—medical care, rent, public transportation. It is anticipated that these service items will continue to rise as long as there is a strong demand for labor. Until recently three items have been compensating for the rises in costs: food—still much lower than the high spot in September, 1952; clothing, and house furnishings. Now these items are rising, too.

However, along with increased living costs, have come increased incomes, and indications are that incomes will continue to force ahead.

Factory workers in Massachusetts earned $2.60 more per week in 1956 than in 1955, for an average total of $73.42 per week. Farm receipts, one of the areas with increased costs and lower incomes, were up about one per cent above 1955.

Thirty-five of the bonds, worth $939 were alleged to have been stolen from Norman Ealmuth of Newton Highlands, and 32 worth $682.01 from Patrick J. Ganley of Manchester, N. H.

Police charged that Jutras forged and cashed the bonds in Boston in 1953.

Is Named Business Mgr. of College Radio Station

William G. Segal, a sophomore student at Amherst College from Newton Center, has been named Business Manager of the college radio station, WAMF, for the ensuing year. Segal takes over his duties immediately, and continues through the first semester of next year.

Immediate plans for the station call for an FM network arrangement with WMHC at Mt. Holyoke College, and a poll of the Amherst student body to determine listening tastes on the campus. WAMF broadcasts both AM and FM, but the AM programs are heard only on the campus.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Segal, 12 Morton road, Newton Center, Segal prepared for Amherst at Newton High School. He is a member of Theta Xi at Amherst. He is the only sophomore to be elected to the WAMF senior board.

Many Problems When Wife Goes Back to Work

If you are considering joining other housewives who are streaming back to work these days, here are some problems you'll have to think about, according to the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

If the main purpose is to add to the family coffers, a wife must have a job that will pay at least her expenses plus her taxes, and a net return that will make the job financially worthwhile. If she files a joint income tax return, she pays at her husband's top rate. If he's in, say, the 26% bracket, roughly 26 cents of every dollar she earns will go to taxes. And so, the more her husband earns, the more she pays for the privilege of working.

One wife, whom the editors cite as typical, took a job that paid $250 a month. After all expenses for clothes, baby-sitter, lunches, transportation and taxes had been taken out she discovered that she had $91 a month left to contribute to the family income. Even at that, she continues to work because the $91 a month makes it possible for her and her $461-a-month husband to stay out of debt.

She will have personal and family problems to cope with, too. An outside job may free her from routine household tasks, but it won't rid her of the responsibility of managing her home. Is she up to it physically as well as emotionally? Will the youngsters be okay? Whether or not a wife is depriving her child by working depends on the kind of person she is and the kind of arrangements she makes for his care.

Finally, will her husband go along with the idea wholeheartedly? Will he pitch in with the housework if he has to? Does he agree that the kids will be in good hands? Remember, that the decision about a wife taking a job is a family one.

So You Want To Be On A TV Quiz Show

What is the inside story of the TV quiz shows? Are any of them fixed? How do they select contestants? What are your chances of appearing on one of these programs? A writer for Family Circle Magazine investigated these questions and his findings are reported in the January issue.

How are contestants selected for the big quiz shows? Mert Koplin, associate producer of "The $64,000 Question," says that about 20,000 applications stream into his office every week. One out of 10 is acknowledged with a form letter that requests more facts: Do you have a special knowledge of a particular subject? What books, magazines, periodicals, and so forth have you read during the past six months? Why do you think you would make a good contestant? The letter asks also for character references and a statement of what the applicant would do with a prize were he to win one.

Fewer than half of the recipients of the form letter answer it, diluting the number to about 750. The next job is to eliminate all but 75 of these. This done, executive producer Steven R. Carlin and his staff investigate even more intensively the qualifications of each of the chosen 75.

Twenty or 30 applicants survive this shakeout and are flown to New York for personal interviews. The three or four who are finally selected may go on the program immediately, or their names may be placed in Koplin's files.

The screening that all applicants must undergo is as thorough as an F.B.I. security check-up. Not long ago a Philadelphia writer impressed the producers of "The $64,000 Challenge" with his intensive knowledge of art. Subsequent investigation, however, revealed that he was really a "ringer," a professional art critic who had deliberately taken the waiter job for a brief time so that he might qualify as a colorful character worthy of dueling with actor Vincent Price in the art category. Needless to say, the "impostor's" name was scratched off the list of challengers.

The security methods used to safeguard the secrecy of the jackpot questions on the two "$64,000" shows outlive cloak-and-dagger measures. Here are the facts:

A distinguished professor from Northwestern University, Dr. Bergen Evans, is chief question specialist. He presides over a panel of professors and scholars and assigns them to special categories—history, music, literature, science, art, and so forth. To cook up a sequence of 11 questions, the panel may take as few as two days or as many as two weeks.

The specialists who work with Dr. Evans are all men of impeccable reputation who would never lend themselves to shady deals. Even if one of them were tempted, however, he couldn't deliver the goods to a contestant. For, as an extra safety precaution, the producers of the shows have made it a rule that the pundits must submit lists of alternate questions when they choose those designed for the big-money brackets. Only the shows' producers select the list to be used on the air. The panel is never told whether its original list or one of its alternate lists has been chosen.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS—William G. Johnson has been promoted from Assistant Vice President to Vice President of the Merchants National Bank of Boston.

Mr. Johnson, a graduate of Boston University and an officer of The Merchants Bank for fifteen years, is currently Chairman of Trustees of the Educational Fund of the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking; a director of the Bank Officers' Association; and a director of Edgerton, Gernshausen and Grier, Inc.

He lives at 5 Hickory Cliff road with his wife, Edith, and three children.

Toronto — Lake Erie and Lake Ontario are almost exactly split in half by the border between the U.S. and Canada, and a remarkably one-half of each of the lakes lies in each of the two countries.

Plan Yankee Homecoming In 1958 to Draw Tourists

Yankee Homecoming, a cooperative campaign to promote an international pilgrimage to New England throughout 1958 was officially launched this week with the announcement of Massachusetts plans for participation by Commissioner Richard Preston of the Massachusetts Department of Commerce.

"Organization of Yankee Homecoming on the state, regional and local level through every possible promotional channel will strike the spark to increase the already vital vacation-travel industry in Massachusetts and the entire New England region," Commissioner Preston stated. "Throughout 1957 and 1958 the state's advertising campaign will prominently feature the homecoming theme."

He predicted current tourist business in New England could be doubled by a coordinated year-round drive to carry the attractions of the Bay State and five other New England states to the entire continent and abroad.

"New England has the finest of resorts and an unsurpassed variety of recreation," Preston said. "Here, and especially in Massachusetts, were born the seeds of American freedom. Here, too, history literally comes alive. In this northeast corner of the country American industry began, has prospered over the generations, and with in recent years been revitalized to an amazing degree."

"These are some of the things we have to show those hundreds of thousands of Americans who had their beginnings here and those others who have yet to experience our attractions."

It is planned to give widest possible publicity to every type of special activity such as sports events, historic pageants or similar observances, water festivals, historic tours, visits to industrial plants, barbecues, tournaments of all kinds and other traditional projects centering around the Yankee way of life.

A Yankee Homecoming advisory council has been formed including such prominent figures as Bishop John J. Wright, John I. Ahern, John W. Agnew, Richard I. Goodrich, Ernest Hoftyzer, Joseph W. Lund, Jr., Paul T. Rothwell, Stewart H. Holbrook, and Commissioner Preston.

Other committees on the regional and local level are in the process of formation. Mayor Hynes of Boston is heading a mayors' committee, which will plan salutes by New England cities and towns to their namesakes throughout the country. Yankee Homecoming was organized.

Farm Operators Must Report Cash Wages

Farm operators who have paid any farmhand as much as $100 in cash wages during the year 1956 must file an employer's tax return for agricultural employees, according to an announcement today by Joseph A. Gleason, district manager of the Worcester office of the Social Security Administration. This return should be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue, by January 31, 1957, along with the social security taxes on the wages reported. The return must show the name, social security number, and wages paid to each employee whose cash wages in 1956 amounted to $100 or more.

Beginning with 1957, a farm operator is required to report the wages of every farm employee to whom he pays $150 or more cash wages during 1957 or who works for him on 20 or more days during 1957 on a time basis, regardless of the total cash wages paid.

CANNED PORK OR BEEF LOAF for sandwiches or main dishes, at breakfast or dinner is ready and waiting to help you serve quick, economical meals.

Canned Meat Stacks Made with Fruit Filling for Main Dish

Such a variety of menus use canned pork and beef loaf as a base that this handy item has made a place for itself in today's market basket. Whether for sandwiches or main dishes, at breakfast or dinner this delicious meat is ready and waiting to help you serve quick, economical meals.

When picking out the cured pork and beef loaf that your family will enjoy most, be sure that it carries a well-known packer's brand. This assures you of a high quality as well as flavorful product. A can of cured pork and beef loaf as purchased from off the grocer's shelf may be stored on your kitchen shelf at home. This is a saving in precious refrigerator space. Canned meat is simple to slice or dice for easy serving. Once the can has been opened an unused portion should be covered and stored in the refrigerator.

Dried apricots and chopped apples make a delightful fruit filling between slices of pork and beef loaf. These meat stacks are baked in the oven while the table is set and the remainder of the meal organized. Halfway through the baking period a sweet sauce of lemon juice and brown sugar thickened slightly with cornstarch is spooned over the meat stacks. At serving time extra glaze sauce accompanies the platter to the table. One twelve-ounce can of cured pork and beef loaf will make four generous servings of an unusually good main dish.

CANNED MEAT STACKS WITH FRUIT FILLING

Yield: 4 servings

12 ounce can cured pork and beef loaf, cut into 8 slices
1/2 cup dried apricots, finely cut or ground
1 medium apple, finely chopped or ground
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon cornstarch
Mix apple and apricots with lemon juice. Place 4 meat slices in a baking dish. Spread fruit mixture on top of each slice. Top with remaining meat slices to make Meat Stacks. Bake in a moderate oven (325°F.) 15 minutes.

Make a glaze-sauce by combining brown sugar, water and cornstarch. Let boil 2 minutes. Spoon glaze-sauce over each Meat Stack after stacks have baked 15 minutes. Continue baking 15 minutes more. Serve with hot glaze-sauce.
Note: For a large group make 8 stacks as we did for the photograph.

ZIPPY MEAT BURGERS

Yield: 4 servings

12 ounce can cured pork and beef loaf, cubed
1/2 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped dill pickle
4 hamburger buns

Combine cubed meat, cheese, Worcestershire sauce, onion and pickle. Scoop out the center of rolls to form a shell.* Fill hamburger buns. Bake in a hot oven (400°F.) 10 to 15 minutes. *Reserve the bread for use as bread crumbs at a later time.

Kitchen Safety Hints For 1957

Believe it or not, the home kitchen can be a mighty dangerous place, especially when it is used by a busy homemaker to prepare meals.

During these periods, kitchens present real hazards to children, and a play pen or area in or near the kitchen is a good way to protect small ones. Falls, according to the Cooperative Extension Service, University of Massachusetts, are one of the major kitchen hazards for adults. You can protect yourself and others by immediately cleaning up slippery substances—spilled water, grease or foods. A safe stool will eliminate another kitchen danger—that of climbing chairs, boxes and other makeshifts when reaching for high shelves.

Cuts can be easily avoided if safe practices in the care, use and storage of knives are observed. Storing sharp knives separately will protect both the user and the knives. Wash them individually, and never leave them in the dishwasher. Put them away immediately after using. Remember, too, that sharp knives are actually safer than dull ones when properly used.

Burns are still another cause of serious injuries. Keep pot-holders conveniently near the range, and use them when needed. Tongs are both handy and safe for handling hot foods. Warn your children of the dangers of a hot stove, and explain to them why they must not touch hot things. Hurry produces a host of kitchen accidents, too. Hurry can lead to carelessness and carelessness to mishap. Don't wait until the last moment to begin meal preparations. Planning pays off in safety, better meals and a happier family.

WABAN — Newton Tenney Peck, Jr., son of Mrs. Newton T. Peck, 181 Windsor Road, has been elected associate editor of the Haverford College student paper, the Haverford News.

Tenney, a sophomore, is a graduate of Newton High School where he was vice-president of the National Honor Society, president of the Mathematics Club, and received the Harvard Book Prize.

Census Gain

Washington — From 1800 to 1900 the population of the United States increased from 5,308,383 to 75,994,575, a gain of 1,834.1 percent, probably the greatest in the nation's history.

Watertown Federal Savings Selected for TV Presentation

Chiefly because of the recent statements by Treasury Secretary Humphrey indicating his concern over the slowing up of gross savings of the people of the Nation, and his evident concern regarding the rapidly with which both the Series H and G Bonds are being redeemed, together with his statement that he would seek legislation to up the current rate of Series E and H obligations of the United States Government, the officials of CBS TV and Broadcasting Corporation, have decided to make a study of the problem and feature it in a TV News Cast.

There are in the Nation today, approximately 5000 Savings and Loan Associations and over 1000 Savings Banks. The Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association, has been picked by the officials of CBS out of all these thrift institutions and on Thursday, January 24, CBS is sending to Watertown, their camera, TV and sound equipment to photograph the Watertown Federal in operation. Shots will be taken during the February 3.

day and particularly through the rush hours Thursday evening 6 to 8.

The program carrying the pictures of the operation of the Watertown Federal Savings is known as CBS World News Round-Up with Eric Sevareid. It is the present intention of CBS to show approximately five minutes of the interior and exterior of the Watertown Federal and then switch the program to Washington where officials of the Treasury Department will be interviewed regarding the subject of thrift in the nation.

Plans indicate that the showing will be Coast to Coast, 3:30 Eastern Standard Time, Sunday, January 27, and in the Boston area on Channel 12. There is, however, a very remote chance that CBS will be unable to get the film ready by this Sunday, that section of the news cast pertaining to the Watertown Federal and the Treasury Department will be shown on Mr. Sevareid's program on Sunday, February 3.

"A Task of Tremendous Size"

As everyone who follows the news knows, the most crucial economic problem faced by England and many Western European countries is the oil shortage caused by stoppage of the flow through the Suez Canal and the Iraq-Mediterranean pipeline. The fruits of the shortage are found in strict gasoline rationing, cold homes, and diminished industrial production.

To help alleviate this dangerous situation, American oil companies and oil men—at the request of the United States government—have moved with all dispatch. The industry, as the head of one of our leading companies puts it, "... is applying itself to the task with determination and vigor." And, as he shows, it is "a task of tremendous size."

What the task involves is rearrangement of the world pattern of oil flow. And since most of the additional oil going to Europe from the Western Hemisphere must originate within this country, our own long established oil flow patterns must be altered, in some cases drastically. As a specific example, one company has a pipeline which was built to carry refined oil products inland from the Gulf Coast. Now the flow has been reversed completely, and the pipeline is bringing crude oil down the coast for shipment abroad.

These and other such arrangements do not complete the task. Ocean transportation of the oil to Europe must then be provided—and there are only so many tankers available.

This is a big and costly job—and a job in which Western military security as well as Western economic welfare is heavily involved. America and the free world can take pride in what our oil industry is doing in a time of grave crisis.

Not An Issue of Magnitude

Rumors persist that the Administration will abandon, in some major instances at least, its "partnership" concept of electric power development—a concept which calls for the full cooperation of local government and local private enterprise, with the federal government participating where there is a need. Reason for this rumored abandonment is that partnership was given a big play as a political issue in the last election, particularly in the Pacific Northwest, and that a number of candidates who were opposed to it and in favor of centralized federal power development instead won high office.

Whether there is any basis in fact to these rumors remains to be seen. But the idea that the public at large is opposed to partnership, and that the successful candidates who urged all-out federal power development won primarily because of their position on that issue, makes no sense.

Several public opinion surveys have been made on partnership. A typical one, taken in the Puget Sound-Cascade area of Washington by a member of the Roper Survey found that sentiment ran three to one in favor of partnership, and two to one against federal power.

The well-known columnist, Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, quotes the taker of this survey as stating in a letter: "It was apparent well into the campaign that the power issue in the Pacific Northwest was not an issue of magnitude with the voters. Whatever else was effecting the vast ticket-splitting pattern, the power issue was not. In fact, to the contrary, people want to see public and private power live side by side, working together for positive expansion and growth."

It is also reasonable to assume that the people, carrying so heavy a tax burden as they do, wish to see tax-paying private enterprise undertake power projects—instead of tax-free, tax-subsidized enterprise. The partnership idea is designed to hold federal spending for power to a minimum figure, and to encourage local people to take care of local needs to the maximum extent. What sound argument can be made against that?

Baby Owes $1,939 To Government

"The tax bite on earnings is only the annual story of what government seems to be costing," writes Sam M. Jones in National Review. "Behind it lies a debt so large today that every baby is born owing the government $1,939 before he lets out his first howl. If he is a member of a family of four, his papa will represent a government debt of $7,738."

This, of course, is in a large measure the sad fruit of wars and depressions and other calamities. But it is also in considerable part, the fruit of waste and duplication in government activities—and, more important, of a philosophy of super-government that ignores the eternal principle that government should not do for people what people can do for themselves. It is to that principle that we need to return, and to start repairing the incredibly costly damage that has been done in terms of depreciating value of money and weakening of representative government.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

In the recent snow storms I have noticed an inefficiency in the plowing of the streets. For instance, Wednesday evening of the 10th of January I followed a two city snow plows riding along a main highway, one behind the other. These two vehicles were not doing any good, for the snow had already been cleared away from this particular street.

After leaving the trucks, I began to think of the amount of money it cost the city to run a large plow. The way I figured it, the cost would be quite high.

I believe that the inefficiency of the removal of the snow lies where the routes for the plows are planned. As I drove along I noticed many small streets had not been touched, and there could be no excuse about there being cars parked in the roads, for most of them were in driveways or garages.

The people who make out the routes do a fine job, I am sure, but I believe they can plan them a little more efficiently.

Living With Your Heart

"Living With Your Heart" by the Massachusetts Heart Association.

Every year, researchers find proof of increasing hope for human hearts.

A dramatic case in point is the story of digitalis, which began before the American Revolution in an old Shropshire "wisewoman's" cottage in Britain, and which today continues to be refined in immaculate laboratories.

Our forefathers called one kind of heart disease "dropsy." Actually, it was a congestive heart failure which brought huge accumulations of fluids into the system between the body cells because the heart couldn't pump efficiently enough to let the circulation carry them off to the kidneys.

Digitalis is a powerful whip for the flagging heart. It improves circulation through the heart's chambers, relieves congestion and restores blood output to normal. Even today it is the most efficient drug in common use to strengthen the heart.

The digitalis story began when William Withering, an English doctor, found that the Shropshirewoman, Old Mother

Hutton was having spectacular success with dropsy cases with her herb tea. In those days, doctors simply drained off the excess fluid and it swiftly returned—but not with Mother Hutton's patients. He won the old woman's confidence—and her formula, compounded of about 20 herbs.

This was in 1775. A decade later, he had isolated the common plant, purple foxglove, as the active ingredient in Mother Hutton's tea. Later, others isolated digitalis from foxglove.

Over the years, digitalis has served mankind faithfully and well. Today it is often used in combination with still other drugs—notably Indian snake-root—to help keep failing hearts at work.

But it has had one major drawback: digitalis is powerful, and the proper dosage for every individual has had to be established through trial-and-error. In some cases, the results have been unhappy.

Early this year, the Massachusetts Heart Association announced a new test to determine the proper dosage without the dangers of trial-and-error administration. Lives have been saved through this Boston-developed test.

And the future? Digitalis is hard at work already in research laboratories, being made radioactive so its course through the human body can be accurately traced and its body's tissues understood even role in the body's tissues understood even more fully.

Digitalis—yesterday, today and tomorrow—has been and will be one of the most useful and exciting tools of medical research to help you live longer with your heart.

Think of this when you see the beautiful blue spikes of the foxglove in your garden.

Medical history is full of fascinating coincidences, but none more fascinating—or important to the human heart—than a miracle which began in a haystack.

Heart attacks occur when the arteries narrow and the blood clots, cutting off the flow of blood to parts of the heart. After a heart attack, when the victim is in bed, the lack of activity causes the blood to flow even more slowly, and its susceptibility to more clotting—and consequently, a second heart attack—is even higher.

One of the most important tools to recovery is an anticoagulating agent—something to thin the blood so it flows more easily through the sick arteries and the struggling heart. Without such agents, thousands of persons now in good health would have been dead long ago.

In the late 1920's, midwestern farmers were losing hundreds of cattle to a mysterious malady they knew as sweet-clover disease. The cows ate rotted sweet clover hay and promptly hemorrhaged and bled to death at the slightest wound—even a routine de-horning.

In February, 1933, farmer Ed Carlson of Wisconsin lost five cows. Angriely, he took a carcass to the University of Wisconsin, demanding to know why. Dr. Karl Paul Link, an agricultural chemist, tried without success to make the dead animal's blood clot. It wouldn't.

That started a chemical search which lasted for years, with mountains of rotted sweet-clover littering his laboratory basement and experiment after experiment failing. Finally in June, 1939, he found a few tiny crystals. It took him 18 months

Would You Like To Teach Abroad?

Do you want a year of adventure in a country overseas? With your transportation there of experimenting to get one teaspoonful of this crystal material. He and his associates found it was dicoumarin, made of a chemical agent which thins blood by inhibiting the formation of prothrombin in the liver.

This was what killed the midwestern cows. It proved to be easy to manufacture from coal tar derivatives, but it was not until 1941 that it came out of the laboratory and into your doctor's kit.

Today dicoumarol is a major medical weapon in preventing recurrence of heart attacks. It stops anginal pain. It is a life-saver unknown a generation ago.

Coincidence and chemistry—the hand of man and the hand, perhaps, of God. Now and then, they work to keep you living with your heart.

and back provided, and your living quarters furnished at little or no cost to you, plus a salary! It sounds like a dream, doesn't it . . . and for teachers selected by the Department of the Army to teach in dependent schools established for American Children living abroad, it will be a "dream come true."

Over 800 jobs will be available in Okinawa, Japan, France, Germany and northern Italy. You can designate the hemisphere of your choice but the exact location of the school to which a teacher is assigned depends upon the needs of the school system. A foreign post differential is paid, at the present time, to personnel assigned to Okinawa and to some locations in France.

Minimum qualifications required at time of application are a Bachelor's degree, 18 semester hours credit in education courses, two years experience teaching the grades or subject matter for which you apply, and possession of a valid teaching certificate. The minimum age is 25; the maximum, 55. You must be teaching now, or, if not, attending school to further your professional background. Women teachers must be single and without dependents.

Elementary teachers experienced in teaching several grades are in greatest demand, for many situations require not only the teaching of multiple grades but also music, art and physical education. For the majority of positions, high school teachers must be prepared in two major subject fields. In addition to their classroom work, secondary teachers are also expected to conduct one or more extra-curricular activities.

Representatives of the Overseas Affairs Division, Department of the Army will interview qualified candidates by appointment only, on February 1 and 2. Details of application procedure, types of positions available, qualifications required for each and other information about such employment may be obtained from the Division of Employment Security, 6 Somerset street, Boston 8, Mass.

Franklin N. Flaschner Newton's Young Man of Year

Franklin N. Flaschner, "Newton's Young Man of the Year 1956," was awarded the Distinguished Service Award Citation and Key by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. for the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce at their annual banquet held Tuesday evening at the Pillar House.

In making the award Mayor Whitmore said, "Franklin N. Flaschner by his abilities and accomplishments has dedicated his every effort to the welfare of his community and has been a recognized leader in our city by all who know him."

A distinguished panel of judges selected Mr. Flaschner from nominations made from all over the city. Serving on the panel were George Hicks, Major General Daniel Needham, Dr. Harold Gores and Rev. Louis Ford.

Mr. Flaschner is 35, married and lives in Newton Center with his wife, and three children at 104 Osborne path. He is a partner in the law firm of Singer, Stoneman and Kurland in Boston.

He received his B.A. degree from Yale University and spent two years at the Littner School, Harvard University, on a fellowship. He was awarded a certificate of public administration prior to entering the United States Navy where he served as a lieutenant (j. g.).

Following the war, he received his LL.B. degree from Yale in 1948 where he was editor of the Yale Law Journal. That same year he was admitted to the state and federal bars and took up residence in the city of Newton with his family.

This year he was Chairman of Newton's Community Fund drive and is a past President of Oak Hill Park Association and the Oak Hill District Improvement Association as well as past President of the Memorial School P.T.A. He is a past board member of Newton Chapter, American Red Cross. He has also served as a board member of Temple Shalom since it was founded and the Newton Tax Payers Association and the Newton Civic Association. He has been active in penal and mental health work and is a member of the Massachusetts Association for Mental Health.

Guests of the Newton Chamber of Commerce included the "bosses" of many of the members as well as State President Melvin Slaven of Beverly. Included as a Head Table Guest was Millard Harmon, a Chapter member and picked as one of the Ten Outstanding Young Men of the Year for 1956 by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

President Edward V. Garland welcomed all and thanked the panel of judges as well as the citizens of Newton who sent in the nominations to the committee, which was headed by last year's DSA recipient, Carlton P. Merrill.

50 Hungarians To Come Here

Attempting to reunite several separated children in this country will be an important part of the Newton Council of Churches hosting of about 50 Hungarian Refugees.

Emergency action was started at the Mid-Winter Meeting of the 24-member Church Council Jan. 21 when word was received that under new governmental methods of allocating refugees, they are apportioned for community acceptance in bus load or plane load groups, rather than individually or in small family groups as heretofore. Each member church was asked to designate a member of its Social Relations Committee to a meeting at Second Church (Congregational) in West Newton last Friday evening to explore the housing available within the Council membership.

A Core Social Relations Committee appointed by the Council president, Ernst O. Seyfarth, included Arthur T. Gregorian of Second Church, past President of the Council, Chairman; Windsor Hunter, Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale; C. E. Churchill, Newton Highlands Congregational Church; Arthur Barnes, Second Church; Mrs.

John H. Scammon, First Baptist Church in Newton, Newton Centre; and Rev. Eugene Myer, pastor of Auburndale Congregational Church. Rev. Myer's function being to represent the Council in New York and transact negotiations there. Also reporting, and now on the Committee, were Rev. Henry Beukelman, pastor of First Methodist Church in Newton, and Edward H. Gittines, Newton Upper Falls; Dr. James S. Mansfield, Central Congregational Church in Newtonville; Fred Dutton and Mrs. Willard Rice, First Church in Newton, Congregational in Newton Centre; Mrs. Edward Wiswall, Jr., St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Newton Lower Falls; Rev. and Mrs. Alfred Bloom, First Baptist Church in Newton, Newton Centre; L. ## Current College Picture Reviewed

At a recent P.T.A. meeting at the Warren Junior High School, parents met with principals and guidance counselors of the Newton schools for a presentation of the current college picture, schools of specialized training, and trade school training.

In summarizing discussion of these groups of inquiring parents and counselors, the following statements will surely interest those parents of junior high school pupils who were unable to attend the meeting.

In junior high school, tests of general ability of the pupils are given to guide them in their choice of Curriculum I or Curriculum II, the two college preparatory curricula, in high school. Curriculum I is more comprehensive and intensive than Curriculum II.

In general, Curriculum I prepares the pupil for those colleges which require College Entrance Examination Boards, and Curriculum II prepares pupils for other colleges, universities, and certain specialized schools. A pupil may be better off if he can compile a good academic record in Curriculum II than to compile a very poor record in Curriculum I.

The prestige factor of the better known colleges should not be the primary basis for consideration. A college should be chosen in the light of the pupil's abilities and interests, and in terms of how the school record relates to admissions procedures in the respective colleges.

Reading skills are of high importance throughout school life, and English is a required subject each year at high school as it is our means of communication for almost all study. It may be easier for pupils from New England to gain ad-

Hamilton School Plans Approved

Preliminary plans for the addition to the Hamilton School were approved by the School Board at its Monday night meeting.

Hugh Stubbins, architect, presented plans that include four classrooms, additional lavatories, a principal's office, a health unit, and a multi-purpose room to be used mainly as a gymnasium. The school's present basement will be renovated for use as an auditorium, and as a boys' and girls' library.

Supt. Harold B. Gores reported to the Board on the status of the single session in the elementary schools, now going into its third week. He said existing weather conditions indicate the emergency measure will continue until further notice.

Dr. Gores read to the Board a resolution received from the Cincinnati City Council relative to the appointment of Har-

Students Win Prize With Pair of Fan-tail Pigeons

Members of Miss Charlotte Yoffa's third grade at the Stearns School attended the Boston Poultry Show last week and saw their pair of black, fan-tail pigeons win a trophy.

The class of 16 has cared for the pigeons during the school year, and the eight boys in the room have formed a 4-H Pigeon Club with Ray Costa, Newton school custodian, as their leader.

Miss Yoffa, who was honored as "Teacher of the Week" on television early in January, says she uses the pet pigeons as an integral part of her 3-R teaching program. The children learn new words relative to their care, and weigh and measure their food.

Miss Yoffa became a pigeon fancier during World War II.

Major Prize Is Awarded to Mrs. Hammond

Mrs. Hazel Hammond of 234 Upland road, Newtonville, was awarded the beautiful 12 piece Revere Ware Homemaker set at the Newton Graphic - Boston Gas Company Cooking School held yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon in Masonic Hall.

The school, which started promptly at 1:45 p.m. was directed by Mrs. Jean Ambutter, and the capacity crowd in attendance was most enthusiastic and attentive throughout the entire program.

A meat cutting demonstration and lecture on the various grades of meat put on by the Star Market Company, proved most enlightening and instructive and many questions were

Taxpayers' Feel Decay Is Evident

According to the Newton Taxpayers' Association, unless the city can rapidly bring new capital into some of the older sections, these areas are headed for the historic role of classical decay.

Pointing out that the association called for volunteers to serve on a land use committee, emphasizing current problems in the residential uses of land in the city today and the need for new and renewed investment in older residential sections, an approach to the problem is recommended. The association want a diverse group of skills represented yet a committee which is not too large and cumbersome to undertake the survey. The membership of the present committee is composed of Bartlett Harwood, Jr., chairman; Alexander S. Beal, Thomas V. Cleveland, Herbert W. Cole, Bernard Roberts, Dr. Augustus Thorndike, and the president and executive director of the association.

At the present time this group is considering the question of whether or not to recommend an Urban Renewal or Redevelopment Board for the city.

Another change, the association states, is a revision of the city's budgetary, accounting and reporting procedures. "During the years various improvements have been made,"

Miss Albright Heads Mass. Easter Seal Fund Campaign

Twenty-year-old Tenley Albright of Newton Centre, who hung up her sparkling skates this month to concentrate on her pre-medical studies, today was named Massachusetts chairman of the 1957 Easter Seal campaign conducted by the Bay State Society for the Crippled and Handicapped.

The annual appeal of the Bay State Society is scheduled to begin March 15th, and will continue ... as is traditional ... through Easter Sunday, April 21st.

In accepting the chairmanship, the young figure skating champion said, "It is a wonderful honor to head the annual appeal for crippled children and adults in Massachusetts."

"Crippled children have the same hopes and dreams as the rest of us. All they ask is the chance to be like other children. I am sure the generous people of Massachusetts who opened the door of opportunity for nearly 2000 physically disabled men, women, and children served by Easter Seals last year will want to give a chance to twice as many this year. We must never be content as long as a crippled child of adult needs help and we can help him.

"The future hopes of crippled children," she said, "lie in the specialized services which the Easter Seal society can give."

Among the services which the Easter Seal campaign provides are rehabilitation centers in Boston, Springfield, and Worcester; physical, occupational, and speech therapy; a J.O.B. (Just One Break) Program, which places physically disabled adults in competitive employment; rehabilitation coun-

Legislators to Check Opinion Of Voters on Sales Tax Issue

No Massachusetts Governor in the modern history of the State has been in the position in which Foster Furcolo found himself after advocating the enactment of a limited 3 percent sales tax.

On the most important issue which will be debated on Beacon Hill this year he is at odds with his own party's top leaders in the State Legislature.

He is being attacked and condemned for proposing to do what a plank in the platform adopted at the Democratic State convention in Worcester last June promised would not be done.

Spokesmen for the ADA and the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, who supported him for election, have directed ringing blasts against him.

People, who opposed him in the campaign, have come to his support and his defense.

To complete the political paradox, the man who delivered the most telling blows against him last autumn—former Governor Christian A. Herter—was the first to step forward and figuratively shake his hand and commend him for advocating a sales tax.

TENLEY ALBRIGHT

Dr. and Mrs. Hollis L. Albright and a pre-medical student at Radcliffe College, began competitive skating at the age of 11 when she won the Eastern United States ladies' juvenile championship four months after suffering from non-paralytic polio.
Miss Albright, youngest person ever to head a Massachusetts

ette's Easter Seal campaign, received a commendation from President Eisenhower in 1955-1956; received the Silver Duff award as one of the "Six Most Successful Women of 1955," and was cited the "Best Dressed in Sports, 1956" by the Associated Press.

She won the North American Figure skating championship twice and has been the United States ladies' figure skating champion five times. She was an Olympic Medalist in 1952, and last year won the Olympic Gold Medal at Cortina, Italy. In 1953, she made a skating tour of Japan under the sponsorship of the National Skating Union of Japan and was invited by the U.S. Department of State to make a good-will tour of foreign countries. Miss Albright will enter Harvard Medical School in the fall.

the association states, and points out that "the really basic start was made in 1955. However, in 1956 it got bogged down for reasons which had nothing to do with the merits of the project."

Continuing on this subject the association states that "early this year the mayor will receive a report prepared by a consultant setting forth an improved system of coded, classified account. It may be available in time for some of it to be incorporated into this year's budget operation. This report represents at least a first step required to be taken on the long, dull but beneficial road toward providing the basic tools an administrator needs to do his best work in directing any large corporate enterprise."

The association concludes its report by commending the present administration for taking the first step toward setting up the mechanics by which it can better see, control and select the uses of the funds it has at its disposal.

mission to colleges outside of this area. The geographical distribution of pupils is considered in the admissions practices of many colleges.

On requirements for college, the high school academic record is of primary importance; extra-curricula work in that it shows a well rounded personality is considered favorably; and the personal interview with a representative of the college and the impression gained is a factor in determining acceptance.

For college admission, some schools give Aptitude and Achievement Tests, and many require College Board Examinations.

The School Library and the Public Library contain information on colleges. Write for college catalogues and study requirements of schools preferred. Many schools no longer require Latin. Some schools prefer a 3-year modern language study before admittance; some require no language at all. Colleges welcome interviews with students and parents.

The Junior College has a 3-fold purpose. It is of special benefit for the immature student who will find adjustment easier, and can then go on to a Business, Technical, Secretarial Nursing or other Vocational School. It offers a general program that terminates in 2 years. It prepares a student who can then transfer with additional credits to a 4-year college. The Junior College is also less costly.

There is great opportunity for trades in specialized areas. Training for girls is equivalent to what is offered boys. Curriculum IIIA is recommended for Trade; Curriculum IIIB for General course; Curriculum IV for Business.

Each child is unique. He has his own aptitudes and abilities which must be considered realistically. In planning his education, base your decisions on when she served in the Signal Corps and became interested in the homing pigeons used for messages. When she was at the Angier School in 1951, her class had a pet dove, and they wrote to a Wisconsin feed manufacturer for some seed. He was so impressed with the "Thank You" note he received he sent the class a pair of mated black, fantail pigeons. Miss Yoffa's class named the birds Adam and Eve, and succeeding classes at the Stearns School have cared for them for six years.

Mid-Season Dance Held at the Hamilton School

The Hamilton School held their mid-season dance party Jan. 24. The fourth, fifth, and sixth grade class had an opportunity to demonstrate to their parents, to Miss Rose Pilibian, head teacher, and to the faculty what they had accomplished during the first semester.

The fox-trot, family waltz, grand march, patti cake polka, and novelty dances were danced by the children.

A committee from the dance group, headed by Janice Brindley, chose the novelty dances and games to be played.

Another semester will start on February 1st and continue through April. Along with basic dance foundation, these classes help the children attain poise, social manners, and group integration.

The dance instructor is Mrs. Laura Karobis and the pianist is Mrs. Alberta Morrison.

This activity is under the auspices of the Recreation department, headed by C. Evan Johnson, Recreation Commissioner.

Mexican Boys and Girls Live Here For 3 Days

For the second year, members of the Newton Community opened their homes to Mexican boys and girls for three days. On Jan. 13 ten Newton families participated in this program under the sponsorship of the Experiment in International Living. The Mexicans had just completed a month-long stay with families in Kennebunkport, Maine. By having a foreign student live with them through the experiment, these American families gain an appreciation and understanding of another way of life, as well as an awareness of values in their own pattern of living not recognized before.

The Newton hosts were Dr. and Mrs. James H. Currens, 222 Prince street, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Arbetter, 105 Fair Oaks avenue, Newtonville; Mr. and Mrs. William Ginsburg, 46 Alderwood road, Newton Centre; Dr. and Mrs. William Schwartz, 40 Orchard avenue, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cantor, 276 Dorset road, Waban; Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Taymore, 44 Fairfax street, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Simon Scheff, 40 Orchard avenue, West Newton; Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Green, 1935 Beacon street, Waban; Mr. and Mrs. Myron K. Stone, 73 Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill; and Dr. and Mrs. Harry H. Miller, 119 Waban avenue, Waban. The four days were filled with visits to Cambridge, Wellesley, Boston, and many other points of interest.

The evenings activities were highlighted by a lovely dinner party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cantor, 276 Dorset road, Waban. After dinner Jorge Unikel played the guitar while the Mexican group sang some of their folk songs, after which Maria Louisa Garcia, Maria Cecilia Hernandez, and Gabriel Ocampo demonstrated some of the Mexican dances. This was followed by an entertaining exchange between the Americans and Mexicans in their respective interpretations of the Cha-Cha-Cha!

The experiment, a private non-profit educational institution, has no political or religious affiliations. Its aim is to build up in all countries groups of people who are interested in working for better international understanding on an informal personal basis.

Next summer there will be many "Experimenters here from various European countries. For those families in Newton who are eager to share with them our wonderful community, contact Mrs. Simon Scheff, 40 Orchard avenue, West Newton, secretary of the Boston Chapter of the experiment.

the mathematics department at Newton High School, appeared before the board to outline a re-alignment of mathematics classes scheduled for next year at the high school. He stated that about 1760 students will be taking some math course next year. The proposed changes will help prepare more students for college boards.

A communication from the Mass. Division of Vocational Education was read, approving a course in lampshade making to be given at the adult evening school at Newton High School. The state will bear half of the cost.

School Board members present included Mrs. Grace Whitmore, Mrs. Genevieve Oncely, Haskell Freedman, Manuel Beckwith, and John P. Cochran. Also attending were Dr. Charles O. ## Rotary Hears Israeli Consul

Esther Herlitz, Consul General of Israel to the United States, addressed the Newton Rotary Club last Monday. Her topic was "Israel and the Middle East."

In evaluating the present conflict, she said it must be recalled that very little progress was made by the peoples of the Middle East between the 10th and 20th century. Israel has its goal nation-building; complete independence, and a higher standard of living for its people.

In contrast, Miss Herlitz stated, Nasser is promoting nationalism on a militaristic basis aided by communist influence, arms and supplies. His goal is to surround, boycott and plague Israel as to wipe out the state.

While Israel has withdrawn its forces from most of the territory it gained in the recent conflict, it cannot afford to risk further advances of the opposing forces by withdrawing from such important areas as surround the Akaba waterway and the Gaza strip, she declared.

The best solution, according to the Israeli Consul, lies with a negotiated peace through the United Nations that might be guaranteed through establishing U.N. troops to protect Israel's borders from invasion and keep open the waterways for international trade.

The Public's Business

A hearing will be held before the Legislative Committee on Administration next Wednesday morning at the State House on a bill which should be of real concern to every citizen in Massachusetts.

It will mark the start of a move to strip away the veil of secrecy which now surrounds the deliberations and actions of many public bodies both at the state and local level.

In very simplified terms, what the bill in effect specifies is that the public is entitled to attend and know what goes on at meetings, conferences and hearings where public business is transacted or discussed.

Under the terms of the measure, all meetings of state, city, town and county boards and commissions would be open to the public and the press except in cases where the deliberating body by a two-thirds vote decided that the public interest would be adversely affected or personal reputations damaged by holding the discussions in the open.

It seems almost incredible that it is necessary to enact a bill in order to spell out in the laws of the Commonwealth that the public is entitled to know about public business and that the people have a basic right to attend meetings of public bodies.

Yet, there are elected officials throughout Massachusetts—far too many, in fact—who either do not recognize that principle or, if they do recognize it, disregard and flaunt it.

Our government, both state and local, is supposed to be conducted in a democratic way. All too often, however, it is conducted by autocratic officials who feel they are a law unto themselves and that the precepts and principles of a true democracy don't apply to them.

We believe that the Act Relative to Public Records and Proceedings, which will be considered next Wednesday by the Legislative Committee on State Administration, should be passed.

We commend it to our readers and to the legislators from this area because we believe—and believe strongly—that the public is entitled to know about the public's business.

Another Birthday

During February, America observes the birthdays of several of its illustrious sons—Washington, Lincoln, and Thomas Edison. Another birthday celebration of national proportions in which all America can properly join is that of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting in the United States reaches its 47th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 6 to 12. It is difficult to recall when our nation did not have this character-building, leisure time program for its boys and young men.

Since February 8, 1910, more than 26,000,000 American boys and men have been influenced by the Scout Oath and Law. They have had the benefits of training, fellowship, handicraft skills, and high adventure.

America is all the richer for it. Many men in high places in American affairs today proudly credit Scouting's influence in their lives.

Today, over 4,500,000 boys and men are actively enrolled in 540 local councils with a membership of 110,000 units. Fortunate, indeed, are communities where Scouting flourishes.

American adults of good character give generously of their time in giving leadership. Others help by raising funds, or in serving as members of local Boy Scout councils which in turn provide: training for leaders, camp facilities, worthwhile year-round activities, personal advancement, and opportunities for Scouts to render community service.

This summer there will be a "mountain peak" experience for more than 50,000 Boy Scouts, Explorers, and their leaders when they gather at historic Valley Forge in Pennsylvania for their Fourth National Jamboree. We earnestly hope our community will be well represented when Scouts from all over the nation camp together.

It will be a gathering of youth who will be among the nation's top leaders a few decades hence.

Thinking Out Loud

A compliment a day keeps the quarrels away.

Nothing is drudgery to one who is interested and happy in the work at hand.

The average student takes too long to learn too little.

Letters to the editor are welcomed. Sign your name for identification, and, if you want 'em published, be brief.

When a man asks you for your opinion, just be quiet for a few minutes and he will supply you with all the answers.

Unselfish service is about the best contribution that a man or woman can make to his or her day and generation.

The prime cause of war is selfishness, and the same human trait is responsible for much of the trouble that occurs between human beings.

Perhaps some of our readers will be gratified to know that Congressman Patrick J. Hillings of California is sending a free copy of the U. S. government pamphlet, "Infant Care," to Princess Grace of Monaco. Our own reaction, however, is that it is a typical waste of public funds for the purpose of getting the Congressman's name in the paper. The taxpayers, of course, have to pay the bill for the so-called free pamphlet.

IN HOMETOWN AMERICA

- Political Overtones -

Herter's statement in all probability prevented many Republicans from trying to make political capital of Furcolo's action.

It is too early yet to tell which way the sales tax battle will turn or how it will end. When Furcolo first made the recommendation that startled and stunned members of his own party, it was believed that his recommendation ultimately would be rejected. Now, eight days later, there is a feeling that the Governor may win his fight.

Whatever Furcolo's opponents and critics may be saying publicly about him, they are conceding privately that there is nothing wrong with his political courage.

In proposing a limited 3 percent sales tax, Furcolo walked in boldly where most Democratic Governors before him have feared to tread.

For years experts on state and local government have been asserting that what Massachusetts needed to overcome its fiscal problems and to lighten the tax burden on real estate in its cities and towns, was a sales tax. But most Governors and a big majority of legislators have been fearful of the political consequences of placing a sales tax on the statute books of the Commonwealth.

Furcolo met the tax issue head-on and placed it before the members of the Legislature, posing quite a problem for Democrats and Republicans alike.

Whether Furcolo is as popular today as he was when he assumed office four weeks ago may be debatable. One thing about which there is little dispute, however, is that his stature has increased in the eyes of most people as a result of the courage he has displayed.

All the evidence indicates that Furcolo and Furcolo alone made the decision to seek a sales tax. He wasn't talked or argued into it. Indeed, most of his advisers probably argued against it. The decision was his, and in making it he showed some disregard for his own political future.

What the fate of the Governor's sales tax recommendation will be is fraught with uncertainty. Whether it will survive the opposition it is almost certain to meet in the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives is a very big question.

The Democratic legislators are torn between the desire to support anything Governor Furcolo undertakes and the ever-present wish to protect their own political futures. The last consideration is likely to weigh the more heavily of the two.

Furcolo actually broke with his own party and with the views of most Democratic leaders in advocating a sales tax. About the only Massachusetts Democrat who has come out squarely and solidly in favor of a sales tax is Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes who does not plan to run for public office in the future.

Democratic leaders in the Legislature were surprised and shocked when they learned that Furcolo intended to recommend a sales tax. Some of them heard it from the Governor himself before he delivered his budget message. That didn't lighten the blow.

The reaction of most of them to the pronouncement was one of silence. An exception was Democratic Senate Leader John E. Powers. One thing that can be said for Powers is that he never lacks the courage of his convictions. When he disagrees with the top man in his own party, he says so—bluntly and so that there is no misunderstanding as to what he means.

There have been published reports that Furcolo asked Powers not to fight him on the sales tax question. They are not quite true. What Furcolo did do at a conference he held with Democratic legislative leaders on the eve of his budget message was to urge Powers to refrain from making any comment at all on the sales tax measure.

Powers, however, refused to make any such agreement. The fact, of course, is that Powers headed and dominated the committee which drafted the platform at the Democratic State convention last June. For all practical purposes he put the platform together. After including a plank in that platform forcefully opposing a sales tax, it would have been rather difficult for Powers to reverse himself and vote for one.

So far, the Republican politicians have been rather guarded in their statements concerning the sales tax proposal. They have intimated that they are not willing to have the measure go through the two branches of the Legislature on GOP votes. They want the Democrats to assume equal responsibility with them if the bill is to be enacted.

In other words, they are not willing to save the day for Furcolo if a majority of the Democratic Senators and Representatives vote against a sales tax.

If Furcolo can line up a bare majority of Democrats behind the bill, the Republicans probably will swing enough votes to carry it along, but they are unwilling to accept the onus of passing it while most of the Democrats sit back and vote against it.

What will shape the votes of a great many legislators is the sentiment they find among their constituents back in their districts. Some of them will even try to canvass the voters who placed them in office to determine how they stand on the matter.

This is one political battle which the people themselves can settle if they will take the time to drop a postcard or a note to their Senators or Representatives telling them whether they believe the sales tax should be passed or rejected.

--- the informed citizen ---

— Newton: A Guide To Its Government —

From 1888, when Newton's petition for an independent town was granted, until 1897, when the original 7 wards were mapped out, Newton has grown with tremendous rapidity. The area, consisting of 18 square miles lies 8 miles west of Boston. The population of more than 85,000 earns an income well over the national median. There are over 200 social, civic, service and fraternal organizations here, as well as 25 PTA groups and 46 church organizations. We are served by one daily newspaper, two weekly newspapers and radio station WCRB.

Primarily a city of homes (18,000, plus), Newton has 100 acres of parks and 37 acres of playgrounds. Despite its rapid growth, Newton still maintains the unique flavor of a small suburban town, because of its 14 individual villages.

Although we still operate under the original charter of 1897, a revision was published in 1952. (A copy of this may be obtained at City Hall.)

Under the charter, the Mayor is the Chief Executive Officer with an annual salary of $9000. (There is no requirement that this be a full-time job.)

The Board of Aldermen are the Legislative Body, and serve without pay. The charter provides for biennial elections for Mayor, 21 Aldermen, and 7 School Committee members. The office of the City Clerk is responsible for the management of all election machinery. Members of the School Committee also serve without pay. They usually meet monthly, with the exception of July and August.

The City Clerk and the City Solicitor both assist the Executive and Legislative branches of our city government. The Solicitor is the legal advisor to the city, and is required to be a member of the Bar in Massachusetts.

The property tax is the principal source of Newton's income. Additional income comes from the motor vehicles, poll, excise, personal income and state taxes. The largest portion of the local budget, 29%, is spent on schools. Money spent on the protection of properties accounts for 14% of the budget, highways, 13%. We have 300 miles of streets in Newton.

With the exception of school teachers, librarians, and elected officials, most municipal employees are under the Civil Service system. A law is now pending in Massachusetts to upgrade the standards of Civil Service. It is hoped that this will subsequently make for more efficient local government.

The League of Women Voters has published, as a public service, a booklet entitled "Newton — A Guide to its Government." This book provides a general background as well as information about the structure and functions of Newton's government. Copies of this book (at 25¢ per copy) may be obtained by calling the chairman of the Local Affairs Committee, Mrs. Milton Cohen, DE-catur 2-4970.

Window on Washington

by Your Congressman LAURENCE CURTIS • 10th District, Mass.

WASHINGTON, January 30—Last week's Window on Washington pointed out that Senate filibusters could be controlled only by a change in the Senate rules to provide a more effective method of closing debate. The word "filibuster" was used in about 1850 to describe pirates in the West Indies, and came to be used as a term of reproach for flagrant legislative obstruction.

Filibusters by Southern senators have in the past blocked civil rights legislation. This is the real issue behind the fight on Senate rules changes. This issue has been agitated for years. It is time for action! Action is now pending, and the public should be kept fully informed—although the subject is technical.

It is hard to change the Senate rules. The present Senate rules have been surrounded by barriers which make them almost unchangeable. One barrier is the present rule providing for no limitation of debate on motions to take up consideration of changes in the rules. Any effort to change the rules to control filibusters would itself be filibustered! This might tie up business in the Senate for weeks on end.

Another barrier is that there has been no opportunity to adopt new Senate rules at the start of each Congress, as is done in the House. It has been the practice to regard Senate rules as continuing from one Congress to the next, justified by the fact that only one-third of the senators are newly elected to each Congress.

A courageous opinion by Vice President Nixon has now shown a way in which these barriers may be breached! At the start of the recent Congress, the practice of regarding the old Senate rules as binding on the new Congress was challenged by a motion that the Senate proceed to the adoption of new rules.

Although this motion was defeated, the Vice President, as presiding officer, rendered his opinion: 1) that at the start of a new Congress the Senate could, by a majority vote, adopt new rules, but that unless it then did so, it acquiesced in continuing under the old rules; 2) that if at that time a majority voted to proceed to the adoption of rules, the Senate would do so "under whatever procedures the majority of the Senate approve."

He based his opinion on the provision in Article I, Section 5 of the Constitution that "each House may determine the rules of its proceedings."

Since then, Senate leaders of both parties who had opposed the motion for the Senate to proceed to the adoption of new rules have seen fit to retreat. They have agreed to support the passage of moderate civil rights legislation, even if this necessitates breaking a filibuster under the present Senate rules.

They have also agreed to support changes in the present Senate rules: 1) to make closing of debate possible by a vote of two-thirds of the members present and voting, rather than by a two-thirds of the entire Senate membership as now required; 2) to strike out the provision of the present rules prohibiting any limitation of debate on motions to take up the consideration of rules changes.

Vice President Nixon's opinion was not a binding precedent, but it indicates how he will rule in the future. A crucial question is this: If that ruling should in the future be challenged on the floor of the Senate, will Senators vote to "sustain the ruling of the chair?"

Perhaps the present retreat by senators who had opposed rules changes was made in order to side-step that issue. The situation bears careful watching. Let the public understand the issues, know of action taken, and keep up the pressure!

SINGLE SESSIONS

Editor, Newton Graphic:

As a mother who has lived in several Massachusetts cities with varying school schedules, may I say that the past week of the single session in Newton has been the most successful that I or the children have ever experienced, for the following reasons:

1. The children were dry all day.
2. They ate a nutritious lunch and they were not idle or bored or watching television for one hour after finishing that lunch.
3. They were through school and out of doors during the best part of the afternoon.

Perhaps other mothers who feel as I do will write their sentiments to the Graphic.

Eleanor D. Boylan

DISAGREES

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I must take issue with the person who wrote in last week about the inefficient plowing he had observed in Newton. Wherever I traveled during the snowy period I was impressed with the job Newton's street dept. (or whoever is responsible for the plowing) was doing. They even managed to plow our tennis-court skating rink almost as soon as the last flake fell.

As for the two plows he observed following each other on the highway — they have to get back to their garage some way!

CITY PRIDE

RISKING LIFE

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Before many days pass the blinking red light at the corner of Concord St. and Washington St. in Lower Falls will cause a tragic accident. It is impossible to emerge on to Rte. 16 at this junction without risking life, limb and $2000 worth of automobile.

FRONT SEAT DRIVER

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association wishes to express its heartfelt thanks to the Newton Graphic for the splendid support it has received consistently throughout the year.

Each year from January through December the Newton Graphic is playing a vital role in our health education work, bringing many important facts about tuberculosis to the attention of the public. In addition, the paper's coverage of our other activities and services makes them known to those who need them or wish to take part in them.

Preventing the spread of tuberculosis from the sick to the well is not the responsibility of the medical profession and the official agencies alone; in this part of the job of tuberculosis control, every citizen must

Paper Drive Date Has Been Changed

The Newton High School exchange groups are carrying on with plans to raise funds for their trips. The Advisory Committee is working on final preparations for the March 2 rummage sale and the paper drive. The earlier dates for the paper drive have been changed to March 9 and 30.

Members of the Advisory Committee are as follows: Director, Mr. George Nielson; faculty members, Mr. Edward West, Mrs. Fred Hiss, Mr. Lloyd Schultz, and Miss Frances Smith; parent members, Mrs. Nathan Angoff, Dr. Roger Hamilton, Mrs. Robert Ingham, and Mr. Martin Beckwith; student members, Karen Rak, Reinier Beeuwkes, Ruth Butterfield, and Kenneth Hahlow.

participate. The Graphic does a great deal to help us make known the facts each person has to have in order to help protect himself and his family from tuberculosis. In this way, we are all helping to make our community that much safer from TB, which is still the number one killer among infectious diseases in this country.

In supporting our Christmas Seal Sale, the Graphic and all its readers help to pay for everything the tuberculosis association does, for the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association derives its entire budget from the one annual, traditional Christmas Seal Sale. This year for the first time in the Association's history we are far behind the returns of the preceding year, and we are facing a considerable decrease in our next annual budget.

We are still hopeful, however, that with the continued support of the Newton Graphic we can reach those people to whom we sent Christmas Seals but from whom we have had no reply, as well as all other Newton residents who might want to help us out this year.

The loss which the local association has suffered is quite certainly due to the regrettable complication which developed this year when our former Boston affiliate sent out its own seal to Newton residents. We hope this situation will resolve itself in time and that the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association will regain the full support of our Newton residents and businessmen.

Certainly the Newton Graphic has helped us to clarify the duplicate appeal to many of our steady supporters and has helped us to reduce what could have been a much greater loss. In the meantime, we hope all readers of the Graphic realize that it is still not too late to send contributions to the Association, at 1357 Washington street, West Newton, for the support of our programs for the next fiscal year. All donations received within the next few weeks will still be in time to be included with the returns of this Seal Sale campaign.

We sincerely appreciate the constant assistance of the Newton Graphic. The Graphic's support throughout the year is extremely important to the success of all of our efforts to aid in the prevention and control of tuberculosis in Newton. ## West Newton Women's Educ. Club Friday

Friday, February 8, will be vice president's day at the West Newton Women's Educational Club. Mrs. Thomas F. Ford, first vice-president, will preside at the business meeting at 2 p.m. in the Second Church Parish House in West Newton. The second vice president, Miss Theresa Cram, will report on the mid-winter meeting of the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs Jan. 24. The program will be put on through the courtesy of the Pan American Airways, "Round South American," a travel film with commentary.

Preceding the business meeting there will be a dessert and social hour at 1 p.m. The hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Earl A. Curran and Mrs. Willis L. Gray. ## Response To Relief Fund Is Applauded

Newton Chapter, American Red Cross received the acclaim from National Red Cross for its magnificent response. Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Chairman of the special appeal, announced at the conclusion of the drive that Newton had more than adequately met the minimum requirement.

Originally required to raise $5,111.00 the generosity of Newton people again demonstrated the reliability of the community to genuine and worthwhile appeals. While the Chapter reports receipts in excess of $7500, it is currently authorized to accept volunteer contributions for the continuing program in Hungary, Austria and Camp Kilmer, N.J.

All funds specifically marked for Hungarian Relief are used for that purpose exclusively, and are forwarded to National Headquarters for transmittal to International Red Cross. Philip K. Brown, local Chapter Chairman, expressed extreme satisfaction and hoped all would show the same confidence in the local program during the annual March Fund Drive.

Ward PTA Has 5th In Music Series

The performance of the Harp Trio in the Ward School Auditorium on Tuesday morning, Jan. 22, marked the fifth concert in the music education series given at school by the PTA starting last year. Each concert has presented a new combination of instruments performed by young concert artists playing the great composers who are also able to talk to the children in an informal way about the music and their instruments. This unique program actually provides education in music on two different levels: first, the serious study of instruments and their special tonal effects, and the different forms of music; and second, the pure enjoyment of listening to fine music played by experts.

The Harp Trio, with Cynthia Otis at the harp, Madeline Foley at the cello, and Claude Montoux at the flute presented music by Bach, Debussy, San Saens, and Salzedo. Each instrument was featured in turn with music using its special tonal effects. Some of the children were invited to the stage to try out a few techniques on the harp. Others were asked to tell their own visual images in response to some impressionist music.

The splendid continuity of this series, always adding something new to the children's musical knowledge and experience in listening is provided for by the thoughtful advance planning of Young Audiences, Inc., which arranges the series.

Beckwith Sets High Jump Mark In League Track Meet

MARTIN BECKWITH, Tiger track star, is shown clearing bar for new record in Division I and Met League high jump.

Newton Downs Rindge Tech In Met Track League Competition

Led by sensational Marty Beckwith's record-shattering high jump of 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches, a strong Newton High School track squad squelched Rindge Tech by a convincing 45 to 32 margin at the Metropolitan Track League competition Saturday afternoon to remain the only undefeated team in Division I.

Beckwith, who has yet to lose in high jump competition this season, made his successful assault on the schoolboy record established by Phil Reavis in 1954, after eliminating all competition at six feet.

The high-flying Newton junior cleared the bar at 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches and then soared an inch higher to better his own division mark. He then clinaxed the meet's outstanding single performance by gracefully arching six inches above his own height to shatter all high jump records in Metropolitan Track League competition.

There were numerous other praiseworthy performances by Orange and Black trackmen during the afternoon's rigorous competition. Peter Nelson, Newton's outstanding 600 yard runner, led the field from the opening gun and went on to win his specialty in 1:22.2.

The Newton Relay team, consisting of Louis Farrugia, John Connerney, Alan Huberman and Paul Joyce, won easily over their Rindge Tech rival in the commendable time of 2:08.1.

Distance star Brian Hovey of Newton staved off the determined bid of two Rindge Tech runners to win honors in the mile run in the excellent time of 4:52.4.

Big Jim King of Newton also made it look easy as he hurled the shot put 49 feet, seven inches and emerged victorious in this event.

In the 300 yard run, the Orange and Black duo of John Head and John Connerney gave Newton a high a spectacular 1-2 winning punch.

Speedy John McCree brought winning laurels to Newton once again in the fifty yard dash with the time of 45.8 seconds. Newton's Louis Farrugia also ran a fine race and finished in show position.

Ed Bocard and Phil Johnson of Newton finished second and third respectively, in the 1000 yard race. Both boys turned in outstanding performances, only to be beaten by Rindge Tech's middle distance star Eldridge Jackson.

Newton hurdler Ed Morrison and 600 yard runner Scott Brent both finished third in their respective events, helping Newton High School pile up a total of 45 points to only 32 for Rindge Tech.

The combined efforts of all these Orange and Black trackmen enabled Newton to prevail over Tech for the second consecutive week. Newton nipped their rivals a week ago in the B.A.A. Scholastic games by an 18 to 16 margin.

Newton 45, Rindge Tech 32.

Lloyd Bennett Wins Table Tennis Title

Sixteen-year-old Lloyd Bennett of Newton won the New England Junior Singles Table Tennis Championship from Bill Dean of Newton 21-17, 21-5, 19-21, 21-12 at the New England Closed Table Tennis Tournament held January 27 in Springfield, Mass. Dean upset Springfield junior champion George Torrey in a tight five game match, 26-24 in the fifth, in the semi-finals, while Bennett outthit Boston's Frank Corb in four hotly contested games.

In the Men's "B" division Bennett lost, in the semi-finals to Arthur Hartung of Boston, while Dean, after dropping his first round match, came back to win the Consolation division from Chester Webb of Springfield.

Dean and Bennett are playing in all the major table tennis tournaments in the East this season.

By CARL J. WURZEL

There was a hushed silence as the capacity crowd at the 101st Army in breathless expectations looked toward the slim figure of Newton High School's high jump wizard, Martin Beckwith. The diminutive spaceman shuffled nervously about the cross-bar suspended six feet, three and one-half inches above his whiffled head. Oblivious to the thousands of eyes which were focused upon him, Marty walked to the take-off mark and then paced twenty feet to the left. He turned and peered deliberately at the bar over which he was destined to hurl his slight frame. Marty Beckwith was making his move.

All activity in the huge Army stopped. The multitude of track fans were open-mouthed. Could this high-flying Newton junior break the supposedly untouchable high jump record of six feet, three and one-quarter inches recorded by the great Phil Reavis in 1954?

Taking his stance . . . then holding for a moment, Marty began his slow deliberate approach to the bar. He picked up speed rapidly, and by the time he neared his take off mark, the flying Newtonite was at full speed. He left the ground . . . his thin body arching gracefully into the electrified air of the great drill shed. Arms outstretched, legs cradled closely together . . . he soared upward. For a moment it appeared as if "Miraculous Marty" might force himself over the crossbar. The youngster's right thigh struck the wavering stick. The bar fell. There was a hollow groan from the many hopeful fans.

The athlete got up quickly from the pile of mats strewn haphazardly behind the cross-bar. He shuffled awkwardly, but grimly back to the chalk mark. He slouched momentarily as he stared in supreme concentration at the obstacle which stood between him and fame.

Once again Marty took his stance, and proceeded rapidly to the take-off mark. At the mark Marty was moving swiftly and surely in a smooth, rhythmic stride. His powerfully built legs obeyed the call to supreme effort. They bent slightly, and then with the spring of a jackrabbit they launched his slight frame upward. His face was transfixed in a determined expression as he soared up and over the suspended bar. The athlete, fell to the mat with a loud thud.

There was a hush for several seconds as the stunned multitude gazed in astonishment at the wavering cross-bar . . . still secure on its stands. The dam of enthusiasm burst. With a zeal seldom witnessed in Metropolitan Track League history, the fans gave the young track star a prolonged standing ovation.

Pandemonium was breaking loose. Flash bulbs were popping. Reporters were yelling. Fans were streaming from the stands. Track officials were attempting to verify the record-smashing height. It was impossible for them to get through the milling throng, however, so they had to be content to wait until the excitement subsided.

Newton's own Martin Beckwith had achieved the impossible. He had shattered Phil Reavis' supposedly untouchable high jump record by leaping six feet, three and one-half inches at the Metropolitan Track League.

Tigers Belt Medford All Over Ice By 6 to 1 Margin

The hard-skating, hard-fighting, and high-flying Newton Hockey team belted Medford all over the ice in romping to a 6-1 verdict, and moved into a second place tie with Melrose. Most of the attention was focused on the big encounter between Belmont and Arlington, and with Kenny Gardner slapping in the lone goal, Belmont won 1 to 0. Cambridge Latin pulled an upset, playing Melrose to a 4-4 stalemate. In the other GBI game, Stoneham bombed Rindge 7-0.

Dave Crosby led the Newton attack with two flashy goals, and the Orange and Black captain continued his great center play for Jack Hall's team. Sandy Boardman, Jimmy Leonard, Ronny O'Laughlin and Pete Fitzgerald were the other lamp-lighters for Newton, as they completely outplayed the Blue and White team.

The day's action left Belmont in sole possession of first place, with Newton and Melrose deadlocked for second. Arlington slipped all the way down to third place with their loss, whereas last week they were tied for first. This marked one of the finest seasons of league play in the GBI circuit, and expectations for the playoffs are high.

These play-offs are run much as the NHL operates, with the first and third place teams battling it out, and the second and fourth place teams locking horns. Belmont's opponent was Newton and Melrose were tied, and Newton lost the toss, thereby forcing them into a play-off game with Belmont. Melrose will battle a revenge-seeking Arlington squad, who in this writer's opinion will be the dark horse in this play-off series.

The post season activities get underway this Friday night at Boston Arena at 7 p.m. The second round will be held Saturday, Feb. 9, and one week later the finale.

The outlook for the Orange and Black is anything but bright. They got off to a slow start this season but bounced back with some impressive victories. They are definitely capable of handling this powerful Belmont team, but the Orange and Black can't afford any mistakes. Jack Hall is known for his clutch ballgame, and may be they will rise to the occasion. As mentioned before, we think it will be either Arlington or Belmont for the title, but our hearts are with the fighting Tigers.

Tuberculosis will strike about 100,000 Americans this year. The TB associations fight spread of the disease through education, case finding, research and rehabilitation.

Tiger Five Drops Fifth In Row To Rindge Tech, 57 to 52

The Newton High basketball squad seems to have run into the trouble predicted by this paper at season's start, as they dropped their fifth in a row to Rindge Tech, 57-52, at the Newton gym last Friday afternoon.

Led by 6-ft. 6 1/2-in. all-scholastic candidate Kenny Washington, the Tech boys pulled out to an early lead and turned back several Tiger uprisings. Washington had 22 points and a pile of rebounds as he completely dominated both boards. Washington, who has come into his own after two disappointing years, is quite agile for his size and showed some flashy passing and defensive work, as well as his ability as a scorer.

Rindge won the game from the foul line as they were outscored by eight points from the floor by the Orange and Black. A pair of juniors, Dave Louis and Bobby Calvert, scored 12 and 11 points respectively to lead the Tiger scoring, but to no avail as the Tigers were outplayed from the start.

The Tigers seem to run out of gas in the second half, and have been very disappointing off the boards. Injuries to Beggs and Louis at different stages of the season have hurt, but Newton has not been playing good ball. The outlook for the rest of the season appears to hold a steady diet of defeats for the Newton hoopers unless the unforeseen and improbable occurs.

Newton lacks that one big scorer who will consistently tally in double figures, and when their sophomore star Vern Rollins is on the bench, they are helpless in the rebounding department. Looks like we'll have to wait for next season.

LOWER FALLS — Fourth, fifth and sixth graders at the Hamilton School participated in a dance party last week, and demonstrated fox-trots, polkas, waltzes and novelty dances to their parents and the faculty. Their instructor is Mrs. Laura Karobis and the pianist is Mrs. Alberta Morrison.

The outlook for the Orange and Black is anything but bright. They got off to a slow start this season but bounced back with some impressive victories. They are definitely capable of handling this powerful Belmont team, but the Orange and Black can't afford any mistakes. Jack Hall is known for his clutch ballgame, and may be they will rise to the occasion. As mentioned before, we think it will be either Arlington or Belmont for the title, but our hearts are with the fighting Tigers.

Watertown Federal Chosen As TV Site

Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association was picked recently by the officials of CBS out of all these thrift institutions throughout the nation because of its progressive promotional activities for savings as the scene for a television presentation. The television program originating there was in connection with Savings Bonds.

There are approximately 5,000 Savings and Loan Associations and over 500 Savings Banks in the country and the selection of the Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association for the televising of the Savings Bonds appeal was a distinct honor.

Chiefly because of the recent statements by Treasury Secretary Humphrey indicating his concern over the slowing up of gross savings of the people of the Nation, and his evident concern regarding the rapidly with which both the Series H and G Bonds are being redeemed, together with his statement that there is a possibility he would seek legislation to up the current rate of Series E and H obligations of the United States Government, the officials of CBS-TV and Broadcasting Corporation, decided to make a study of the problem and feature it in a TV News Cast.

Last Thursday, CBS sent to Watertown their camera, TV and Sound equipment to photograph the Watertown Federal in operation. Shots were taken during the day and particularly through the rush hours last Thursday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

The program carrying the pictures of the operation of the Watertown Federal Savings is known as "CBS World News Round-Up" with Eric Sevareid. It is the intention of CBS to show approximately five minutes of the interior and exterior of the Watertown Federal and then switch the program to Washington where officials of the Treasury Department will be interviewed regarding the subject of thrift in the nation. The program was presented, coast to coast, last Sunday afternoon.

Here's Your Chance To Cast Vote On Sales Tax

In an effort to obtain an accurate sampling of public sentiment on the most important issue which will come before the Massachusetts Legislature this year, The Graphic is inviting its readers to write in and tell us whether they favor or oppose the enactment of the three per cent sales tax which has been recommended by Governor Foster Furcolo.

The results will be tabulated and published in The Graphic and will be turned over to the State Senator and Representatives from this city to assist them in determining how they will vote on this vital matter when it comes before them later this year.

If you believe that the sales tax should be enacted, this is an opportunity to make your opinion felt. That is equally true if you feel that the sales tax bill should be defeated.

A great many legislators want to vote on this matter in accordance with the wishes of their constituents. That is the truly democratic way. The Graphic is taking this means of letting them know where you stand and how you feel about a sales tax.

You may clip out, fill in and mail the blank printed in this edition of The Graphic for your use. Or you may send us a postcard stating whether you favor or oppose the sales tax. In either event, mail it to The Graphic, P. O. Box 102, Newtonville, Mass.

Every person over 21 years of age in your home may participate in this poll and cast his or her vote. It is necessary that each person voting sign his or her name and address.

Your name will be kept CONFIDENTIAL. It will not be used in any news story or given out to anyone. However, in order to conduct the poll fairly and accurately it will be necessary to limit each person to one vote and to require that they sign their name and address.

Two or more persons in a family may mail their votes in the same envelope, but they must both sign their names in order to have their votes counted.

THE PURPOSE OF THIS STRAW VOTE IS TO MAKE IT POSSIBLE FOR YOU TO RECORD YOUR VOTE ON THE MOST IMPORTANT SINGLE MATTER WHICH WILL COME BEFORE THIS SESSION OF THE LEGISLATURE.

CAST YOUR VOTE TODAY AND MAIL IT TO: NEWTON GRAPHIC SALES TAX POLL, P. O. BOX 102, NEWTONVILLE, MASS.

College of Sacred Heart and Georgetown Univ. Glee Clubs Present Joint Concert Feb. 3

Paul Hume, Washington music critic and author, will conduct the Georgetown University Glee Club in a concert with the Glee Club of Newton College of the Sacred Heart Sunday, Feb. 3, in Cambridge. Thomas A. Sokol, who resides at 45 Court St., Newtonville, will conduct the Newton Glee Club.

The concert, sponsored jointly by the Newton College Alumnae and the Boston Alumni of Georgetown, will be held at St. Paul's Church in Harvard Sq. It will feature sacred choral music including Faure's Requiem, sung by the combined Glee Clubs. Before the requiem, the Newton Glee Club will sing "Grant Me True Courage, Lord" by Bach; "O Dulcis, O Pie, O Jesu" by Desprez; "Concerto Eccelesiasticus" by Viadana; and "Let Us Now Praise Famous Men" by Vaughan Williams.

Mr. Sokol, who last summer toured Europe as assistant conductor with the Harvard University Glee Club, received his training at St. Vincent College in Pennsylvania, Virginia Military Institute, Emory and Henry College in Virginia, and George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. He has also studied at Harvard and served as assistant choirmaster there. A director of church choirs for ten years in Pennsylvania, Virginia and Tennessee, he directed the Emory and Henry College Male Chorus and conducted the College Choral Society in Nashville and the Nashville General Hospital Nurses' chorus.

Teacher-Pupil Contact At Newton High School Impresses Swedish Miss

Bodil—who has already been tagged with the American nickname of BooBoo—is making her home with the Nathan Bugbees and their two teenage daughters at 14 Exeter street.

Her year in the United States is being made possible by the American Field Service, which is sponsoring over 600 such visitors this year to further understanding and good will among the peoples of the world.

Bodil, whose ash blonde hair and dark eyes make her the loveliest of ambassadors, found the language barrier quite a problem when she arrived in August. Despite four years of English at her own school, she was confused by the speed and accent of the Americans. Thanks to close contact with Jane and the rest of the Bugbee family, this problem is disappearing and her English is now excellent, with just a hint of an accent and an occasional pause to absorb the swift flow of American conversation.

Born in Lycksele, a small town in Lapland, Bodil hopes that her younger brother may have an opportunity to spend a year here as she has. She is taking Curriculum I at high school, and expects to graduate in June. However, she faces three more years of schooling under the Swedish system, before being admitted to the four-year university course.

She hopes to go to the University of Upsala, the largest in Sweden, and to major in languages.

A comparison of her Swedish school with her American school revealed that while she was carrying a total of 15 subjects at home, she has only four now—English, Spanish, Music, and Problems of Democracy. "The latter is a real challenge, as she must learn many facts of our government that U. S. citizens know from childhood."

At home, Bodil says, the school day begins with a "long sermon" and each day includes a class in religion. There are no elective courses, and the entire day is spent with the same class of 30 pupils.

She finds Americans "easy to be friendly with" and is impressed with the freedom of inquiry in the classroom. "The contact between teacher and student is better here," she says.

In 1953 he became acting choir director for the New England Conservatory of Music. Mr. Sokol has conducted the Newton College Glee Club since 1954.

Mary Van Vleck Kenney, former student at the Pius XII Institute in Florence, Italy, will be organist for the concert. Mrs. Kenney, an instructor at Newton College School of Liturgical Music, has performed on television many times, most recently for a Mass this summer, sung by the Pius XII Schola for Laymen, a newly organized Archdiocesan group specializing in church music.

Officers of the Newton Glee Club are Catherine A. Connolly of Newton, president; Josephine Medart of St. Louis, vice president; Michelle McGarty of Boston, treasurer; Judith A. Scannell of Worcester, business manager; Constance M. Hanley, of New York city, secretary, and Frances M. Beane of Cranston, R. I., librarian.

Newton residents who will sing with the Newton Glee Club include:

Teacher-Pupil Contact At Newton High School Impresses Swedish Miss

West Newton boasts a charming addition to its population this winter—Miss Bodil Westergren, a 17-year-old from Sweden who is spending this school year as a senior at Newton High School.

Bodil—who has already been tagged with the American nickname of BooBoo—is making her home with the Nathan Bugbees and their two teenage daughters at 14 Exeter street.

Her year in the United States is being made possible by the American Field Service, which is sponsoring over 600 such visitors this year to further understanding and good will among the peoples of the world.

Bodil, whose ash blonde hair and dark eyes make her the loveliest of ambassadors, found the language barrier quite a problem when she arrived in August. Despite four years of English at her own school, she was confused by the speed and accent of the Americans. Thanks to close contact with Jane and the rest of the Bugbee family, this problem is disappearing and her English is now excellent, with just a hint of an accent and an occasional pause to absorb the swift flow of American conversation.

Born in Lycksele, a small town in Lapland, Bodil hopes that her younger brother may have an opportunity to spend a year here as she has. She is taking Curriculum I at high school, and expects to graduate in June. However, she faces three more years of schooling under the Swedish system, before being admitted to the four-year university course.

She hopes to go to the University of Upsala, the largest in Sweden, and to major in languages.

A comparison of her Swedish school with her American school revealed that while she was carrying a total of 15 subjects at home, she has only four now—English, Spanish, Music, and Problems of Democracy. "The latter is a real challenge, as she must learn many facts of our government that U. S. citizens know from childhood."

At home, Bodil says, the school day begins with a "long sermon" and each day includes a class in religion. There are no elective courses, and the entire day is spent with the same class of 30 pupils.

She finds Americans "easy to be friendly with" and is impressed with the freedom of inquiry in the classroom. "The contact between teacher and student is better here," she says.

nantium; Rev. Paul Uhlinger, representing both Newton Corner Methodist and Elliot Congregational Churches; A. Bela Sziklos and Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., representing the Unitarian Church.

Upon assurance and advice of the above Committee that the churches represented would offer housing to 50 refugees, the Executive Board of the Newton Council of Churches, at a meeting held on the evening of January 28th, voted to accept up to 50 refugees. Authorization has been telephoned to Rev. Meyer in New York by Rev. Sydney Adams, pastor of Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale, and Executive Secretary of the Council, to request immediate embarkation of the refugees for Newton.

Special effort is being made toward reuniting a 16-year-old boy refugee, now living in Waban under the sponsorship of Centenary Methodist Church of Auburndale, with his 18-year-old sister Eva and his two nieces Rozsi Miskovics 15, and Julia Laszlo, 16. The three girls are understood to have arrived at Camp Kilmer. Homes for them are assured and special request for them has been made by the Council through Rev. Meyer.

The Newton School Department has offered its full co-operation and will hold special English language classes for the newcomers. The Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company has offered co-operation for transportation in connection with such schooling.

Household goods, furnishings, kitchenware, housing and jobs are urgently needed. Offers of these items will be welcome by any member of the Social Relations Committee of the Newton Council of Churches.
